Bringing Up Father

Step out into the SUNSHINE

How many days of your life are lost in fogginess under per? How many hours which might be bright are dull and spiritless?

Half-hearted days are frequently due to common constipation. It clouds your waking hours, takes the sunshine out of living. Yet it can be overcome so easily by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's All-Bran provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid elimination. All-Bran is also a fine source of iron.

The "bulk" in All-Bran is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this "cereal" valueless than risking patent medicines?

Two tablespoons daily are sufficient with each meal, in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve All-Bran as a cereal or use in muffins, breads, omelets, etc. In the red-and-green packages. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Electricity And Scouts in Kashmir

A defective electric wire in a house in Kashmir set the place on fire. Neighbors ineffectively threw buckets of water on the building, but a Boy Scout of the Trysdale Briscoe School saw that the only thing to do was to cut the live wire. The best insulation he could find was a pair of wooden clogs, and with these on he cut the wire. His insulation was not too successful, for a severe shock knocked him unconscious for some minutes, but the house was saved.

Lord Willington Rewards Indian

Lord Willington, Viceroy and also Chief Scout for India, and former Governor-General and Chief Scout for Canada, presented the Bronze Cross, the highest Scouting award for gallantry at grave personal risk, to Assistant Scoutmaster Anantram, and the Silver Cross, for gallantry at less risk, to Scoutmaster Jagannath. At the great Hindu religious fair during last summer's solar eclipse Anantram had himself lowered with turban into a dry well, in which were dangerous gases, to rescue a blind man. Jagannath made fourteen diving attempts to rescue a young man stuck in the mud and weeds during the rush of the pilgrims to bathe in the waters during the eclipse.

Mr. William Warren, Provincial Commissioner of the Boy Scouts Association has been advised by Rev. John A. Stiles, B. A. Sc., M. E. I. C. Kensington, Chief Executive Commissioner that the Chief Scout, Earl of Beesborough, Governor-General of Canada, will be unable to visit the Canadian centres by the autumn, as arranged, as his doctors insist on a complete rest for six months. The plan now is for the Chief Scout to call for Australia in November and to arrive in British Columbia in April 1935. He will thus have had time and voyaged to set him up completely for a good tour from West to East across the Dominion.

Divided Kingdoms Sermon Subject

The subject of the sermon preached yesterday morning by Rev. Father Murray at St. Dunstan's Basilica was "Divided Kingdoms." His Excellency Bishop O'Sullivan preached at the 8 o'clock and 1:30 Masses, continuing his series of sermons on the responsibility of parents to children.

Solemn High Mass was celebrated by Rev. M. E. Francis, with Rev. Louis Dougan as deacon and Rev. Leonard MacDonald as sub-deacon. The sermon was preached by Rev. Father Murray.

At 3 p. m. service for children was held. At the evening service Father Murray again preached, Exposition of the Faith. His Excellency Bishop O'Sullivan was present at the throne in the sanctuary, assisted by Rev. Dr. Gillis and Rev. Leonard MacDonald.

At Saint Dunstan's Basilica yesterday morning at the High Mass Father Murray spoke on "Divided Kingdoms." He said in part: "Every kingdom divided against itself shall be brought to desolation. So true is this statement of Christ Our Lord that He goes on to say that the kingdom of Satan could not stand if it were divided against itself. Now, the only kingdom which you and I know very intimately is the kingdom that is our own home. There, mothers are queens and fathers are kings; and the four walls are boundaries of a little kingdom of their own. Whatsoever be the cause thereof, home life is not what it used to be; certainly it is not what it ought to be. Mass of travel outside the home to all parts of town, a multiplicity of cheap amusements, housing conditions, are a few of the reasons why young folks hurry outside to get their recreation which they should seek, or at least make some effort to seek, in the company of the family circle. If citizens of a country are continually visiting abroad, they lose the advantages of their own homeland. But to travel too much beyond the confines of the little kingdom of home, not only makes us a poor citizen of that kingdom, but it makes him, too, a much poorer specimen of man. He abandons the nursery of character, the shelter of virtue. Home becomes to him a "boarding house." In tender years when, like a growing tree, he needs pruning and tending, the wandering boy grows wild. Just in so much as he lives outside of his little kingdom lives outside of himself. His body may develop, but his spirit stays dwarfed and wayward, fickle and shallow. The Prodigal Son, told by Christ, did not leave his home until he had reached the age of manhood. Prodigal boys and girls today leave theirs before they are fourteen. You know, one does not have to travel into a far country to become a prodigal. One can still eat and sleep at home and be a prodigal. Thank heaven the Prodigal of the Gospel story had a real home and a real father to come back to, all of which means to say that the fault of homes divided is not to be placed merely upon present-day conditions. The first and last ones to be judged for this falling are the father and the mother, the king and the queen. Theirs is more to provide than food and clothing and shelter, and to send the little ones off to school.

Speaking on the division between parent and child Father Murray said: "You hear a good deal today about the 'Revolt of Youth' and the suggestion comes as something new. It is as old as the hills. There has always been a revolt of youth against parental authority. I am utterly sure that Cain and Abel revolted against the authority of Adam and Eve and it has been going on ever since. Every child at some time or other revolts against the authority of the parent. The difference comes, that in years past the parents put down the revolt but now the children seem to be carrying the day. Unless parents have the courage and the strength of character to step in and keep control of their own house and home we will always have a rather unmanageable generation. In these days when so much freedom has been given to the child it is quite evident that it has not been for the child's good. What is sadly needed is a revolt of parents who simply refuse to countenance the madness of their children."

Religion is the one unifying principle of family life. It is the one great life interest for which there can be no substitute. The same beliefs, the same Sacraments, the same Church, the same pew, the same prayers for the dead members of the family, all are the Catholic influences which in all lands have made Catholic home life the model home life of the world, the staunch bulwark of patriotism and citizenship—the slight hint of happiness we all hope to have in Heaven, Our Father's Home.

In the evening Father Murray spoke to another large congregation on the subject of "The Humanitarian." He will continue his broadcasts from CPOY speaking Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings at 8:45.

Many false notions regarding a widely known economist, are being given currency. Oath, we wish we could get to be a false notion.

TIRED all the Time —she thought it was "NERVES" Losing interest—losing friends—she never went out any more—always too tired. "Nerves", she thought—but it was her kidneys, the filters that needed attention. Delay meant danger. She took Dodd's Kidney Pills at once. Restored to health, normal action, her kidneys soon cleared away blood impurities. Energy returned. Fatigue, headache, backache, and all signs of faulty kidneys disappeared. Again life seemed worth while. Now Feeling Well—Thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills —By George McManus
