also present.

On the Canadian front the Nova Scotia exhibit, as expected, features her new automobile industry — the Swedish Volvo, now assembled in the Halifax-Dartmouth area. However, the exhibit also displays a long list of other products from many Nova Scotia centres. Some of them, with their home towns, are:

Batteries, Springhill; toys, Yarmouth; cordage and underclothing, Truro; textiles, Windsor, truro and Yarmouth; insulation materials, Amherst; paint, Trenton; fishing and hunting lores, New Glasgow; knitwear and other clothing, Stellarton; salt, Pugwash; biscuits and fishing and hunting knives, Pictou; heating equipment, Amherst canoe paddles, Rockhouse; luggage, Amherst; furniture, Bass River and Weymouth; ship models, Mahone Bay, Shelburne and Bridgewater; pulp, Port Hawkesbury; fish products and apple juice from various centres; and the many products of Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

AUSTRALIA SURPRISES

From the Pacific area the variety of Australia's products surprises many visitors. One feature is carpeting woven from goat hair, hard-wearing for offices, which a dropped cigarette won't burn; lounge furniture already finding a market in Canada; costume jewelry; wines; and various products from the kangaroo, including fur coats and golf bags. The Australian exhibit also has a large food bar, distributing samples and recipes.

Japan, this year as last, contents herself at the CNE with "showing the flag," and her exhibit, along with a tourist booth, consists largely of a tall globe-shaped fixture, with samples or miniatures of Japanese products attached to it.

From across the Atlantic, Britain's display features motion pictures on a variety of topics and a exhibits including china, textiles, knitwear, leather goods and confectionery.

At the Swedish stand one may cautiously step into an electrically - heated Sauna bath where, he is told, he can be comfortable in 175-degree temperature because of the lack of humidity. There are also scientific instruments, guns and sewing machines.

Strong Trade Bid Made By Exhibitors At CNE

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP)—F. F. Stockinger, Austrian trade delegate in Canada, pointed to a small engine at the Canadian Ntional Exhibition and commented:

"There's an example of how trade is created. That engine was developed in Austria for motor bikes; it is imported into Canada for use in small Canadian vehicles such as those developed here for snow travel; and then it is re-exported back to Austria as part of the Canadian vehicle."

Mr. Stockinger is one of the veterans of the many-country displays that feature the CNE's international and governments buildings, and which provide a whiff of travel for stay-at-homes.

Mixed in are a few whiffs of Canada too—notably the Nova Scotia display and Quebec's tourist stand, consisting of a large replica of the Chateau Frontenac, the terrace, the Citadel. and the town below.

Mr. Stockinger, a former Austrian trade minister of the 1930s and a long-time Canadian resident, has headed the large Austrian exhibit for the last five years, and says:

"We try to emphasize goods of a luxury class either not made in Canada or not made in equivalent quality."

VARIED ITEMS

His exhibit includes laces, embroideries, smart women's wear, broadcasting equipment, motion picture cameras, model electric railways, skis, guns, carved wood replicas of ancient works of art, cigars and meerschaum pipes, woodworking machines, grape juice and scores of other things.

Among countries exhibiting are Sweden, Yugoslavia, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary; while Switzerland is represented by a clock display. Britain is at her usual stand and Australia is another Commonwealth exhibitor. Japan is also present.

Opening lead — Jack of diamonds.

You don't have to see all 52 cards to be able to play a hand to the best advantage. There are any number of deals where the unseen cards are, in effect, exposed, and where the solution of a particular problem can be worked out on a double-dummy basis.

Here is a simple case. South is in three no trump and West leads a diamond. Declarer starts with only six sure tricks, but is a decided favorite to be able to build up three more by establishing the club suit.

Accordingly, he wins the diamond with the queen and leads a club. West plays the queen, dummy the king, and East, very alert, the deuce.

Note that if East plays the ace instead of the deuce, South makes the contract. Regardless of which suit East returns, South can crash the J-10 of clubs, play another club, and thus establish the fifth one in dummy for his ninth trick.

But if East ducks the king of clubs, and also the jack on the next lead, South cannot make more than two club tricks and eventually must go down one.

It is not really difficult for East to find this line of defense because he should know that West's queen of clubs is a singleton and that by ducking twice he can destroy part of the value of the club suit.

However, just as East can read West's queen as a singleton, so can South, and if South pays attention to his knitting, he makes the contract despite the 4-1 club break.

All he has to do to make the hand is let West win the first club lead with the queen. Once he does this, he can be sure of winning three club tricks eventually and thus making the contract.

The idea of ducking the queen of clubs is sound enough, but what is difficult about the play is that the declarer is apt to instinctively cover the queen and continue with the jack without realizing the danger he faces.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation
