Canada's Railways Brace For Grain Transportation

By KEN SMITH

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's railways are bracing themselves for a major—but they hope not impossible — job in moving to the ports the 228,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour purchased by Russia.

Planning the giant shipping operation has not yet advanced to the stage where the railways can start allocating box cars and locomotives, but its magnitude makes it clear the CNR and the CPR will have to throw all their resources into the job.

Says CPR vice-president R. A. Emerson: "It obviously is a big job, but in terms of what has been done in the past I certainly wouldn't say it is insuperable."

The publicly owned CNR says it is figuring on having to go all out. "But we feel we can handle it, although there may be a strain sometimes," says a spokesman.

NO OFFICIAL ESTIMATE

There has been no official estimate yet as to how much of the total shipment will go through the Lakehead, the eastern Maritime ports or possibly the west coast.

The railways are expecting, however, the most of the shipments will go through the Lakehead—either picked up by ocean vessels using the St Lawrence Seaway, or carried down the system by lake vessels and trans-shipped at Montreal.

Once the seaway is closed by winter—the official closing is set for Nov. 30—the railways figure they will have to start carrying the wheat and flour to Saint John or Halifax.

The shipment is to be completed by July 31, 1964.

The CNR and the CPR have a total of about 106,000 box cars available. More can be used if they are not needed for other commodities.

The biggest grain-moving job fulfilled by the two railways since the end of the Second World War came in the 1952-53 crop year.

MAY MEAN JOBS

The CPR then moved a total of 193,000 carloads of grain off the Prairies and the CNR 175,000. A boxcar carries between 1,800 and 2,000 bushels of grain.

One unofficial and conditional estimate is that to meet the demands of the Russian deal the CPR will have to move about 180,000 carloads before the deadline and the CNR slightly less.

Both railways report their equipment is in good shape and no difficulties are expected in keeping it rolling. The big task likely will mean extra jobs, especially in the shops.

The possibility of the seaway being kept open for a week or more, if weather permits, would mean considerably less hauling for the railways since ships could take over the job at the Lakehead.

Seaway President R. J. Rankin has said that he expects the water route will be kept open as long as is feasible.

EXERCISE PIG FOR LEAN MEAT

LONDON (AP) — How do you get more lean meat out of a pig? Maybe by making him exercise. British researchers reported here.

They announced a project to get pigs off their lazy hoofs and make themselves more profitable.

"Making pigs use their muscles," said Dr. David Bellis, "should increase the amount of lean meat."

Dr. Bellis and his team have started experiments at Colworth House in nearby Bedford.

The name of the experiment is "pig stretching."

The pigs are first fed at elevated troughs, which force the pigs to stand on their hind legs in order to get something to eat.

As the pigs grow older, the researchers will hike the feeding troughs still higher.

Bellis said comparisons will be made between the stretched pigs and pigs that are allowed to eat at lower level troughs—where no exercise is needed other than swallowing.

Top prices are paid here for ham, and the stretching for the trough is hoped to add an extra five per cent of lean meat to the first group of pigs.

French Firm Has Interest In Arctic Oil

OTTAWA (CP)—Interest in Canadian Arctic-island oil exploration is being shown by the French firm Petropar, whose participants include the French government.

This is one of the more important indications in the pending reshuffle of exploration permit holders this month.

Petropar has filed applications for permits on some Arctic island territory and has spread the word that it is interested in more, informants here say. Geological evidence so far holds hope that the islands may cover a major world oil pool.

The three-year life of many island exploration permits expired in June but a 90-day period of grace can be invoked. This now is at an end for a sizeable number of permits.

Federal officials say they expect that a fair number of permits will be surrendered because the holders failed to find enough interesting data to warrant continued exploration on their parcels.

But they say this is a normal process. Some will be retained and others acquired by new interests.

Hong Kong Prisoners Celebrate

LONDON (CP) — Tales at the Naval and Military Club on Piccadilly were weighed down Friday night with Canadian turkeys and Winnipeg goldeye.

The food was flown from Canada by Brig. John B. Price of Montreal for a reunion dinner of the Hong Kong Prisoners of War Association.

Besides the main dishes the feast includes soup, butter, cheese, fruit and Canadian champagne, sherry, rum, whisky and brandy.

In addition the 84 British members of the association will receive a surprise take-home parcel of wine, spirits, six miniature liqueurs and a bundle of toothpicks.

The association was formed after Hong Kong fell to the Japanese in 1942. The Royal Rifles of Canada and the Winnipeg Grenadiers, who had just arrived, were imprisoned with the British garrison in Hong Kong's Argyle Street jail for 3½ years.

Brig. Price was the only Canadian member able to attend the dinner but all the food was paid for by the Canadian veterans.

Kennedy Posts Export Target

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has posted a new growth target for American business—a 10 per cent increase in exports which, he said, would wipe out the balance of payments deficit.

The president also urged 400 industry executives and others, opening the two - day White House conference on export expansion, to press for restoration of what he termed disastrous House of Representatives cuts in foreign aid funds.

Mrs. Edgar Lannon left fast week on return to her home in Needham, Mass., after spending the summer at the Douglas family home in Georgetown.

Mr. and Mrs. Esmond Kelly of Toronto, Ont., were recent guests of Mrs. Kelly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Blackett.

Const. Ray Murphy of the RCMP left recently on return to Stephenville, Newfoundland, after spending his leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy.

O-S Danny MacLean, RN, and crew member of HMCS Cape Scott, is spending his leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. MacLean.

LEAVES FOR ATHENS

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, the sister-in-law of President Ngo Dinh Diem, left Friday for Athens and Rome on her international mission of goodwill for South Viet Nam. The controversial "first lady" of South Viet Nam arrived here nine days ago to attend the interparliamentary union conference, and attempt to clear up what she called misunderstandings about her country.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
3 NT	Pass	4 ♣	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	6 ♥

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

This deal occurred in a pair championship played in California in 1955. At the table where the bidding went as shown, North-South contracted for six hearts. The four club bid was artificial and requested South to bid a four-card major suit if he had one.

West (Meyer Schleifer) West Coast star) opened the queen of diamonds. Declarer won it with the king and led the ace of spades.

On the ace of spades Schleifer played the king.

As a result of this play, South went down one. He had to lose a spade and a club regardless of how he played thereafter.

But suppose Schleifer had played low on the ace even as you and I, instead of dropping the king. In that case, South would have made the slam by drawing three rounds of trumps, cashing the ace of diamonds, and then leading a spade. West would win with the king, but would now have no safe exit card.

A club return would go right into declarer's A-Q, while a diamond return would permit declarer to discard a club from dummy as he ruffed the diamond in his hand.

The declarer played well by putting Schleifer to the test at trick two. Against a lesser opponent he undoubtedly would have succeeded, and to that extent South was unlucky.

The projected endplay was also attempted at several other tables, but in most cases the declarer gave the show away by drawing three rounds of trumps and cashing the ace of diamonds before playing the ace of spades. It was much easier at these tables for West to drop the king on the ace after South had openly telegraphed his intent.

It was not difficult for these Wests to deduce that East had the jack of spades. Presumably, if declarer had the A-J of spades, he would have taken a finesse, and his failure to do so clearly indicated that East had the jack.
