TORONTO

TORONTO (CP) — Gunnar Mining held the stock market spotlight Tuesday, reacting with a steep downward swoop to news the company will purchase McNamara Corporation, a Toronto-based construction firm.

Gunnar climbed briskly in morning action, touching a days high of $0.70. Following announcement of the deal, however, the stock sold down to $8.50, off $1.05.

Near the close of trading, the Toronto stock exchange revealed it had deferred approval of issuance by Gunnar of 800,000 treasury shares as part of their offer to acquire McNamara.

An exchange official said the Board of Governors felt that transactions of this size should be subject to shareholders' approval, and hoped this could be arranged.

Industrials, meanwhile, pulled ahead in spirited mid-day action, but eased modestly near the close.

Banks were a major weakening influence, with Nova Scotia down 1¾, Toronto - Dominion down 1¼, Royal and Montreal both down ⅝ and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce down 1/4.

Massey-Ferguson, on a volume topping 20,000 shares, climbed ⅝ to 12¼. Shell of Canada rose ⅝ to 13¼ — highest price since its recent listing.

Other gainers included Imperial Oil, Trans-Canada Pipeline, and Aluminium, all up in a ½ to ⅝ range

International Nickel packed base metals, climbing 1¼. Hudson Bay Mining rose ⅞, Labrador ¼ and Consolidated Mining and Smelting ⅝.

Final volume was 2,435,000 shares compared with 2,403,000 Monday.
