New York Stocks

NEW YORK, (AP) — Railroads did their best to get the stock market to advance Wednesday, but at the close prices were mixed and leaning lower.

Strength in the carriers usually is taken as a bullish sign in Wall Street. Wednesday, however, there weren't enough followers of that theory to get things moving ahead.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 10 cents at $124.20. The railroad component of the average stepped up 40 cents and closed at a new high of $91.30. Industrials, however, declined 60 cents while utilities remained unchanged.

There were 103 highs and seven lows touched.

Volume came to 2,170,000 shares.

North American Aviation, reported to be developing an atomic aircraft engine, was the day's most active issue up 1-2 at 29¾.

The steel section of the market held steady as negotiations with the CIO United Steelworkers progressed in what was described as a friendly fashion. U.S. Steel lost 1-8 at 48.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, (CP) — Western oils gained on the stock market Wednesday in a reversal of the trends of the last week.

Golds and base metals had a weak session.

Western oil gains were mostly pennies, but they gave the group's index a .26-point gain—its first increase since last Friday. A prominent increase went to Consolidated Mic Mac, up 44 cents to $2.90 after touching a $2.95 high during the session.

Golds were particularly low in seniors, but Kerr-Addison gained 62½ cents. Other gold groups were steady or weaker in light trading. Manitouwadge issues were down pennies, as were uraniums. Bathurst issues had some minor gains.
