IN MEMORIAM

QUILTY—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. John Quilty who departed this life Nov. 8, 1956.
In our hearts your memory lingers
Sweetly tender, fond and true
There is not a day dear mother, That we do not think of you.
Ever loved, ever remembered by her sons John and William Quilty.

MacCORMACK— In fond and loving memory of a dear husband and daddy, Joseph J. MacCormack who passed away Nov. 8, 1954
Often a lonely heartache, Many a silent tear,
But always a beautiful memory Of one we loved so dear.
Lovingly remembered by his wife and family.

MacKINNON—In loving memory of our father, John C. MacKinnon, who passed away Nov. 8, 1949, also mother, Mrs. John C. MacKinnon who passed away Nov. 8, 1951.
Sadly missed but always remembered by family.

MacKINNON—In loving memory of our father John C. MacKinnon who passed away Nov. 8, 1949 and mother, Mrs. John C. MacKinnon who passed away, Nov. 8, 1951.
Sadly missed but always remembered by Family.

ORR—In loving memory of Stanley B. Orr who died November 8th, 1953.
Those whom we love go out of sight
But never out of mind,
They are cherished in the heart Of those they leave behind.
Always remembered by his father and mother.

TAYLOR — In loving memory of Wm. Taylor, died Nov. 8, 1956.
His cheery smile and kindly way Are pleasant to recall,
But hard a smile for everyone, And died beloved by all
Inserted by wife and daughter Ruby.

Only 3 Strange Objects Studied

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The North American Air Defence Command reported Wednesday it received 46 reports of unidentified objects from throughout the U.S. Tuesday night but only three, including one from Kearney, Neb., "deserved further study."

Capt. Andy Beasley, public information officer, said two air force investigators were sent to Kearney after a Californian, R. D. Schmidt, told of sighting a cigar - shaped object on a Nebraska prairie and chatting with four men and two women in it.

Beasley said it had not been decided whether to assign inspectors to the two other reported sightings. He did not say where those reports came from.

Whenever such a story is carried by major news networks, Beasley added, "we get a flood of reports", on unidentified objects.

IN MEMORIAM

MARY JANE COOPER

The death of Mrs. Mary Jane Cooper occurred in Boston on October 9, 1957. Her sudden passing was a great shock and a feeling of greater loss to her relatives in Summerside and in Boston, McAskill River and vicinity.

The deceased complained of severe pain early in the morning of Oct. 9 and was rushed to the General Hospital, where she died a few hours later after all medical assistance failed. Fortified by the last rites of Holy Mother, the Church, she passed to Him, who endowed her with friendliness and the sterling qualities of a good Christian. Her charitableness and readiness was shown by her active membership in the St. Peter's Club and the Trinity Mission Club.

Jane, as she was familiarly known, was born at McAskill River seventy-nine years ago and was the daughter of the late Joseph MacKinnon and the late Theresa MacKinnon. As a young girl she went to the U.S.A., where she later married the late Samuel H. Cooper, Dedham.

She is survived by her two daughters, Mrs. Evelyn C. Belanger, with whom she lived and Mrs. Mary V. O'Neil, Orlando, Florida, six grand-children and nine great-grandchildren. Besides her sorriwing daughters, she leaves to mourn three sisters and one brother, Mrs. Wilfred MacKinnon, McAskill River, Mrs. Angus MacIntyre, Beverly, Mass., Mrs. Veronica Golden, New Jersey and James on the old homestead.

Her remains were transferred from the Hugh Cannon Funeral Home to St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, where the funeral services were conducted by the Rt. Rev. Leonard Burke, who also conducted the services at the grave. Interment was in Brookdale Cemetery, Dedham, Mass.

The many flowers, mass cards, spiritual bouquets and messages of sympathy gave testimony to the esteem of her friends.

The following are the masses and Spiritual bouquets.

IN MEMORIAM

JOHN ARNOLD DOUGLAS

"In the midst of life we are in death," was exemplified in a startling manner, when the Norboro neighborhood was shocked to hear of the death of the late John Arnold Douglas on Oct. 7.

Mr. Douglas was visiting his sons home on the evening of Oct. 6th, when the fatal stroke come upon him. He was rushed to the Prince County Hospital, but his spirit passed to the Great Beyond the next day, notwithstanding the administrations of the doctors in attendance.

The late Mr. Douglas was 72 years of age, and had farmed in Norboro practically all his life. He was of robust physique and most genial and friendly disposition. He had all virtues and attributes of a good neighbor and friend, to which the respectful comportment of the very large funeral concourse.

Floral tributes, and messages of sympathy amply attested.

He was the son of Alexander and Euphemia (Nicholson) Douglas. He leaves to mourn his memory, his wife the former Alfuretta Clark, daughter, Elma (Mrs. Albany Palmer Lancaster, N. B. and Ethel in Toronto, Ont., Mrs. Albany Palmer Lancaster, five sons namely, Alex, George and Thane of Norboro, Ray and Keith in Stanley Bridge; also two sisters, namely: Mrs. Bertha Walker, Kelvin and Mrs. Alonza M. Webster, Norboro.

Funeral services were conducted at the hous, by Rev. E. H. Bean of Kensington, assisted by Rev. L. M. Murray of Kensington. Mr. Bean gave a most fitting panegyric on Life and death, elaborating in the venerable Biblical quotation "O death where is thy sting, O grave where is thy victory?" Hymns sung were "The Lord is my Shepherd" "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Asleep in Jesus".

The pall bearers were: Andrew Hughes, Joseph Reeves, James Lawless, Stanford Glover, Harry Bowness and Wilbert Lawless.

Flower bearers (all nephews) Arnold Walker, Ellwood Clark, Nelson Cassely, Douglas Webster, Ivan Waite, Roy Clark.

Interment took place in Floral Hills Memorial Gardens, Bassett Valley, P.E.I.

IN MEMORIAM

CATHERINE MONTGOMERY

The death occurred at Bellingham, Wash., U.S.A. of Miss Catherine Montgomery at the age of 92 years.

Born at Valleyfield, P.E.I. she was a daughter of the late Wm. Montgomery and his wife the late MacPherson. At the age of 4 years, she, with her parents moved to Schuyler, Nebraska, where she was educated and embarked on a teaching career. After teaching at Chehalis and Seattle, she became a member of the First Faculty of Western Washington College, and was on the teaching staff for nearly 30 years, where she helped to train many hundreds of young men and women for the teaching profession.

Well educated and widely read she was one of Bellingham's outstanding women. She was active in the Presbyterian Church, the P.L.P. Club, the Women's Club and in Civic Affairs. She had an extensive library and was as interested in people and affairs as in books, and had no hesitancy in going before governing groups to speak her views, for or against public undertakings whether on local or state level.

She was interested in libraries and founded a children's library in her birth place in memory of her grandfather, the late Malcolm Montgomery of Valleyfield, P.E.I. She made several trips to Europe and on one of them visited the Isle of Skye where her parents were born.

Funeral services were held in the Jones' Harlow - Hollingsworth funeral home, and were conducted by her cousin the Rev. John Murdock, Minister of Knox Presbyterian Church, Waterloo, Ont., who flew to Bellingham to conduct the service.

Two brothers and a sister predeceased her, surviving are many relatives in the U.S.A. and several on P.E.I. among whom are John MacPherson of Montague and Mrs. L.W. McKinnon of Kilmuir.

Interment was in the family plot in Schuyler, Nebraska.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. P. GALLANT

There slept peacefully away at the homestead in Howlan (which she and her husband cleared from the wilderness) on Friday morning, October 25th, Mrs. Prosper L. Arsenault as nearly as can be ascertained in her 90th year.

The late Mrs. Arsenault was born in Rustico, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gelas Pitre, who later removed to Dixon where they lived until their death.

Mrs. Arsenault had been bedfast for the past number of years when about a year ago she lost her speech. Making it very hard for her only daughter Mrs. Fred Arsenault who resided with her to care for her. However, she was well and tenderly cared for until the end.

She leaves to cherish her memory her daughter, Mrs. Fred Arsenault and the following sons Jerry and Robert at Howlan and Denis in Detroit (who was unable to come) one sister (Belli) Mrs. Emmanuel Arsenault, Berlin, N. H., and one brother Oliver Peters of Duvar and several grandchildren whom she dearly loved.

Her mortal remains were waked at her home from where the funeral and burial took place at St. Anthonys Church on Sunday morning at 9.45. Interment was in the church cemetery beside her husband and 2 sons Felix and John who predeceased her.

Asks Stand On 3-Mile Limit

OTTAWA (CP) — Hon. Jean Lesage, former resources minister, is expected to determine the Progressive Conservative government's stand on territorial waters.

He gave notice Wednesday in the Commons order paper of a series of questions on the subject.

The Dominion government now has before the Senate a bill authorizing it to grant mineral and oil rights on submerged lands within its jurisdiction. However, the extent of territorial waters involved still is a subject of international negotiation.

It is believed that the former Liberal government planned to seek world recognition of a 12-mile limit. The limit of Canadian jurisdiction now is considered to be three miles from the sea coasts.

Mr. Lesage wants to know:

If the government considers North Pole and Canadian waters: Artic Ocean waters north of the Queen Elizabeth Islands to the

If the gulf of St. Lawrence is considered Canadian territory and, if so, are its seabed and the federal government or the subsoil under the jurisdiction of provinces concerned — Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

Mr. Lesage puts similar questions about jurisdiction in Hudson Bay. Hudson Strait and the B.C. coast.

Nations Must Divide Space

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker Wednesday suggested the nations of the world should get together and decide the extent to which a country's sovereignty extends into outer space.

Replying in the Commons to a question by Alistair Stewart (CCF—Winnipeg North), he said he made the suggestion as a result of Russia's successful launching of two satellites. They now are circling the earth at altitudes of 560 and 1,056 miles.

Mr. Stewart asked whether the Soviet satellites had been fired in accordance with an agreement reached during the International Geophysical Year.

Mr. Diefenbaker said there was no formal international agreement in connection with IGY for Russia to launch satellites. He noted that Russia had already stated that the launching had no relation to IGY.

Mr. Stewart also wanted to know whether the satellites infringe on air space above Canada and they are within the sovereignty of Canada extends.

The prime minister said that under the present, generally accepted rule of international law a country extends sovereignty over air space to the upper limits of the atmosphere.

However, he said Russia was not a party to an International Civil Aviation Association convention in 1944 which took the position that all states have sovereignty over the air space above their territory.

Until recently it had been recognized under International law that air space extended between 60 and 80 miles above the surface of the earth. However there had been some discussion among those versed in international law including Prof. John Cooper of McGill University that this should be 300 miles.

Mr. Diefenbaker said no decisions have been made on the proposal. Recent scientific events in outer space pointed to the need for an early review of international law applicable to the sovereignty a country may claim in the air space above its territory.
