Drama Festival Ticket Prices Are Announced

At a meeting of the Dominion Drama Festival's ticket committee it was announced that there will be 947 seats available with prices ranging from $1 to $2.50 for each of the eight performances being staged next May in the Confederation Memorial Building.

The first six rows of the orchestra and the loges will be sold at the top prices of $2.50. The centre of the house, the next seven rows, will be $2 and the next four rows $1.50. The remaining rows in the orchestra will be $1. In the balcony, the rows behind the loges will be $1.50 and the remaining three rows $1. Matinee seats will, in each area, cost 50 cents less than evening prices. Students' rates will lower the prices of each seat by 25 cents. Provincial tax has not been included in these prices.

The seats in the theatre are arranged in the "European plan" Mayor Moore told the meeting, with broad aisles on either side of the mass grouping. Between each row there is space wide enough for seat-seekers to pass without disturbing those already seated. This plan eliminates the centre aisle. Altogether there will be 22 rows on the orchestra floor, and 6 rows in the balcony where the first two rows have specially designed seats to be known as the Loges.

Vouchers are available from members of the ticket committee at the office on Great George Street formerly occupied by the Centennial Committee. The offices will be open on Thursday and Friday afternoons between 3 and 5 p.m. during the remaining weeks of November. Through December the office will be open three or four days a week and for two hours on Friday evenings. These vouchers will entitle the holders to choose their seats at the play of their choice when the box office opens for mail orders through March and April.

B.H. Cook, treasurer for the final festival, suggested that substantial savings could be made by buying a series ticket. These tickets are good for the same seat for all eight performances. A series ticket for a seat in the front orchestra would be $15 for eight plays, a saving of $4. The same kind of ticket would purchase a seat in the $1 section for $7.

from London, then flew directly to the Tweed-New Haven Airport in a chartered plane.

He landed at Tweed - New Haven at 2:17 p.m. EST and was driven into the city for a reunion with his 80 - year - old mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Barghoorn. Her apartment is next to his in a modern building near the Yale campus.

The expert on the Soviet Union was released from a detention cell in Moscow Saturday and expelled.

In London, New York and New Haven, he muttered only a few sentences. He did say he found his treatment "correct" by Soviet standards.

BROTHER ON FLIGHT

The 52-year-old bachelor was accompanied on the flight to New Haven by his brother, Paul, a Harvard botanist; an aunt, Mrs. Edgar F. Hazelton, and several Yale officials.

He smiled wanly as he entered his apartment building. He was clutching an umbrella he has carried with him all the way. He looked drawn and nervous.

As an expert on Russia, Barghoorn was well equipped to assess the meaning of his arrest and its implications for Soviet-United States relations. Yet he seemed almost unable to accept the idea that he had become a celebrity.

He seemed amused by the suggestion that he would be a top attraction at Yale because of his arrest.

"Never mind that," he smilingly told a fellow passenger on the flight from London.

"I'm on a year's leave of absence now and have no time for lecturing. I'm busy on a Book I started a few months ago. It's a study of the Soviets' political system."

WRITING FOURTH BOOK

It will be his fourth book on Russia. His latest trip to the Soviet Union was for the purpose of gathering materials for the new volume.

Barghoorn, reticent in public about his experiences, made it clear he was willing to co-operate completely with the U.S. government and to consult with President Kennedy.

"I think it all came out for the best," he remarked on the New York - bound plane. "I greatly appreciate what President Kennedy has done in my behalf, and I definitely do not intend to reveal details. . . ."

The Soviet announcement of Barghoorn's release said the action was taken because of the president's "intense personal concern."

Matheson Blasts Prov. Government

The lateness of the provincial government in preparing a submission for the federal-provincial fiscal conference, which opens in Ottawa Nov. 25, drew criticism from Liberal leader A.W. Matheson, Saturday.

He said "it appears that preparations have been left too late. Work in preparing for such an important meeting should have begun long ago as I have found, from past experience, that a submission for such a conference takes considerable time for careful preparation."

Miscouche H & S Hears Talk On Remedial Reading Class

MISCOUCHE — Miscouche Regional High School held its first home and school meeting chaired by B.W. DesRoches. There were 70 parents in attendance. Mrs. Felix Gaudet was appointed recording secretary for the meeting. After the usual business part of the meeting, Rev. Sister St. Mary Eugenia, principal of the high school, introduced the members of the teaching staff. As president of the school life committee, she reported on the guest speakers who have already addressed the pupils this year; also, three pupils were privileged in attending leadership courses given during the summer.

Two of these, Bonita Poirier and Preston Allen gave a brief account of the course to the interested parents.

The guest speaker for the evening was Miss Etta MacDonald, who has been doing guidance work in the school for over a month. She gave a general report of her work especially in the remedial class. She complimented the school board and staff for establishing this remedial class.

As reading seems to be the problem for most students, Miss MacDonald suggested a concentrated course in reading. She feels confident that this year's remedial work will prepare the pupils for further education in whatever field they choose.

The following slate of officers was duly elected: president, Phil LeClair; vice-president, Elmer Gaudet; secretary, Sister Yvonne; treasurer, Mrs. Herbert McQuaid.

After the adjournment of the meeting, coffee and doughnuts were served.

Alberton UCW Holds Service

ALBERTON — Alberton United Church Women held their autumn thankoffering service last evening.

Rev. Keith Whitney, guest speaker, held the rapt attention of the congregation as he described the deplorable conditions in East Harlem, New York, with its dense population which is largely Negro and Puerto Rican.

He told something of the work being done in the area by the Christian church and how after coming to know Jesus of Nazareth, men's lives can never be the same again.

In conducting the service, Mrs. Fred Leard was assisted by Mrs. Wendell Weeks who read the scripture.

A solo, "Angels Ever Bright and Fair" was rendered by Mrs. Ruth Sommers.

The offering was received by Mrs. Reginald Travers and Mrs. Wesley Hardy.

Aid Company Is Bankrupt

MONTREAL (CP) — La Societe Nationale de Gestion, a Quebec corporation set up in 1958 to raise capital for small French-language family firms, has gone bankrupt.

Shareholders were informed at a meeting Friday that the corporation once had capital of $1,250,000, but now is without funds. A debt of some $50,000 was owed the Provincial Bank of Canada.

The meeting also was told that all three companies backed by the corporation have gone into bankruptcy. Ideal Concrete Products of Hull was the last to file a bankruptcy petition.

It was announced last Sept. 27 that bankruptcy petitions had been filed by La MacInnerie Etchemin Incorporee of St. Romuald, Que., and La Compagnie Radiateurs Plessis of Plessisville.

SEIZE PLATES

MONTREAL (CP) — Police said Tuesday they had seized $100,000 worth of counterfeit bank money orders and printing plates in a locker in the downtown CPR Windsor Station. The money orders purported to be those of the Royal Bank. Det.-Capt. P.E.I.'s First Woman Druggist Dies In Alberton At Age 84

ALBERTON — The death of Miss Maud Dyer occurred at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. Willard Waugh, Alberton, Friday afternoon.

Miss Dyer, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dyer was born in Alberto, 84 years ago, and has lived most of her life in the town.

After graduating from the Prince Edward Island Hospital in 1909 she went to Calgary where she practiced her profession for about a year. Then she returned to her native province.

In 1912 she entered the drug store in Alberton as an assistant to her brother-in-law, Mr. Waugh, thinking of the position as a tempory one.

When it became evident that she was likely to continue this work she studied pharmacy. In June, 1928, she received the diploma which made her the first registered woman pharmacist in this province.

In January, 1952 she retired after almost 40 years of efficient and courteous service to the public.

Miss Dyer was a lifelong member of St. Peter's Anglican Church of which her grandfather, Rev. Robert Dyer, was the pioneer rector. She was active in all spheres of parish work, particularly in the Sunday school and in the WA.

For a number of years she was president of the local branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

She was a charter member of Regalette Rebekah Lodge and served in many of its offices.

Besides her sister, Mrs. Waugh, she is survived by a brother, Dr. W.B. Dyer, in Florida, and by two nieces, Mrs. Kenneth Quigley of Alberton and Miss Elizabeth Dyer in Florida.

The funeral will be held this (Monday) afternoon from St. Peter's Church. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Aid Planned For Technical School Bldg.

Commons approval of a preliminary resolution introducing an amendment to the government bill to extend the 75 per cent federal share for new technical and vocational training schools until 1967, was hailed Saturday by Premier Walter R. Shaw.

With a considerable amount of construction relative to technical and vocational training going on in this province, the premier said "much of the money would be very well received by my government, particularly in cases where construction may be proceeding slower than planned."

Premier Shaw said that representatives of the department of education are now in Ottawa "discussing this very matter with federal officials."

Oil Companies Start Talks In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Foreign oil company representatives started talks Sunday with officials of Argentina's state oil agency seeking possible new arrangements for operating in Argentina.

The government Friday annulled contracts with 13 foreign oil firms, eight of them American. Despite this, oil production continued and there were unconfirmed reports that the oil agency had offered the foreign firms adequate fees to keep the fields running.

President Arturo Illia carried out an election campaign promise by voiding the contracts. But during his campaign he also said foreign capital was welcome in Argentina on what he called a legal basis and under state direction.
