Steel Business Shows Increase

NEW YORK (AP)— Steel companies in the United States have more business now than they've had at any time in the last two or three months, The Iron Age, national metal-working weekly, said today.

"The steel market gives no hint that the nation's economy is going to fall flat on its face," said the publication. "Quite the contrary, it lends solid support to the 'rolling adjustment' theory of the Eisenhower administration."

However, steel makers are not counting on any great increase in business this spring from their No. 1 customer, the auto industry, Iron Age added, as "they feel that some of the recent upturn in auto steel buying is a strike hedge, and not geared to production."

Steel operations, which have been hovering between 74 and 76 per cent of rated capacity since the first of the year, are expected to hold that pace and possibly even gain slightly during the next few months, the publication said.

But steel scrap prices "took another shellacking this week," with the Iron Age steel scrap composite price falling $1 a ton to $24.33.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
