"RED POINT NOTES—The farmers are busily engaged in gathering a bountiful harvest. Mr. J. C. Campbell always at the front, has gathered his crops and thrashed a hundred stooks of mixed grain which yielded ninety seven bushels. Beat that, who can.—The fishermen have taken advantage of the good weather to dry their fish. A large number of teams may be seen every fine day, hauling fish to Souris, for which they are getting the highest prices ever paid along these shores.—The enterprising store keeper, Mr. Alex Robertson is doing a larger business this summer than ever.—His numerous customers are loud in their praise of the good roads in this section due to the careful supervision of our genial road master, Mr. A. W. Bruce.—Red Point School is flourishing under the careful management of our painstaking teacher, Miss Katherine Morris, who has already eighty per cent of the scholars in the district.—Red Point cheese factory is taking on new life. The manager is doing everything possible to please the patrons and make the factory a success. New patrons are coming on every week. Cheese is selling at top price.

Inventor Of The British Tanks
(Canadian Press Despatch.)
LONDON, September 19.—While friends are claiming for Winston Churchill, former First Lord of the Admiralty, and Colonel Swinton, the credit for the discovery of the "tanks" which played such an important part in the recent advance on the Somme and the original inventor remains undisclosed, but The Associated Press is informed by a reliable authority that the new war machine is an adaptation of the caterpillar tractor. According to this authority the invention was brought to the attention of the War Office early in the war. Great Britain declined to finance the project, unless the machines were manufactured in England.
These armored ships on land are mounted on four caterpillar tractors, which not only make the machine in it to cross ditches. The idea of using a caterpillar tractor has been worked on for the last ten years, and the problem was solved finally by equipping the machine with engines of such tremendous horsepower that they are able to pull the heaviest harvesting machinery and gang plows over extremely rough ground.
The man who brought the plans to England declines to permit the use of his name, declaring that for business reasons he does not desire to dim the glory of those claiming the credit. He says he has plans for a tractor which will probably be more effective than the tanks.

S. S. Harland

And "Quality" Is Their Name!

NO man or woman denies the absolute quality of British woven wools, the result of centuries of experience that make Britons the world's weavers. Nowhere else is there made such high-grade, adaptable Suit and Overcoat materials as come to us direct from the looms of England.

The quality of these materials is, to cloths of this continent, as different as wine is to water. There is no comparison. Come in today and convince yourself that this unvarying, incomparable quality of British wools goes into every

Made-To-Measure

"A PERSONAL visit to the great English mills that supply us our cloths, was a revelation to me. There I found a gigantic, supermodern building, perfectly equipped with row after row of clean, shining machinery. Thousands upon thousands of yards of the world's best wools revolved upon a multitude of huge looms in the process of making. Never before had I realized, so clearly and strongly, the immensity and character of the work of the English and Scotch Woolen Company."
