

Thousands Cheer Maritimers To Victory

Truro Bearcats Turn McGill Back And Win Round

Montrealers Beaten 4 To 2 At Moncton Last Night In Memorable Struggle—Truro Quebec-Maritime Champions.

(By Charles Bruce, Canadian Press Staff Writer).

STADIUM, Moncton, N. B., March 23.—The crooked hickory of Truro's thin, blue line wrote hockey history into the glassy ice of the Moncton Stadium tonight. For the first time since the inauguration of systematic Allen Cup play-downs, a Maritime team met the champions of Quebec and won, and perhaps for the first time also, the thin win of a moral victory has combined with the rich satisfaction of a physical one. The Bearcats, in plain terms, defeated McGill University by a score of 4 to 2, and won the Quebec-Maritime round by a count of 3 to 4. The Bearcats will now continue their crusade for the supreme emblem of Canada's National amateur game and the right to represent the Dominion at the Olympic games in 1932.

LAVIGNE GETS WINNER

The goal that gave the Atlantic provinces their first entry to the advanced stages of competition for National supremacy in amateur hockey came in the early minutes of the third period of tonight's game. When Frankie Lavigne went down left wing from defence to beat the Montreal goalie from close in, Truro's aggressive forwards had balanced accounts for their 2 to 1 defeat by McGill at Halifax, early in the game, but up until Lavigne's perfect shot, had been unable to mark up the necessary margin on a 2-0 round.

Credit for Truro's victory must go to Owen Lennon, Sammy Murdock and their followers on the sniping line and the defence, but back between the posts was Earl Wright, a veteran goalie, who filled the breach when Leo Sargent was disqualified by the C.A.H.A. along with forwards Jemmett and Shields. Wright, never rated a first class goal tender, stopped the final thrust of McGill tonight. The stops were: Powers, McGill, 34; Wright, Truro, 29.

GAME BY PERIODS

First Period
Truro 1 McGill 0. McGill started off with their second line and pressed, but Murdock, Lennon and Ryan blazed down the ice in combination, Murdock shooting wild. Wright saved from McGillavray and Truro went up on the game, and tied the series when Owen Lennon, left wing, took a pass from Murdock on the blue line and beat Powers for a clean high score. Later Owen missed an almost perfect chance when the Bearcat forwards had McGill beaten, but overshot the rubber. Wright made several spectacular saves for Truro as the period drew toward a close. Murdock, Lennon and Proulx were blasting at Powers, Ward, of McGill, was penalized for hooking Lavigne as the Truro defenceman took a shot at Powers. A minute later Lavigne was also sent to the box for tripping McTeer. End first period.

Second Period
Truro 3 McGill 2. The second was a wild one. Murdock and Lennon were combining in great fashion with Russell, Ward and Farquharson carrying the McGill attack. Powers, in the collegians net, was called on to make some great saves, and made them. But he missed one, when Sammy Murdock grabbed a loose puck at center and blazed it past the Montreal goalie and put Truro one up the series, two ahead on the game. McGill came back fighting mad and shortly afterward Nelson Crutchfield battled through and put the rubber, past Wright from a scramble in front of the goal. Truro snails never saw

ALL HAIL BEARCATS!

The Truro Bearcats in their magnificent victory over McGill and incidentally the winning of the Quebec-Maritime Hockey Championship, have hurdled the long jump for the first time in the history of the great National game in the provinces by the sea. The entire Maritime Province hockey world joins with Truro today in acclaiming the fighting Bearcats who have at last triumphed against every break imaginable. By sheer dint of courage, good hockey, coupled with every determination, the Truroites have achieved sweet victory and a prominent place in the Allen Cup play-downs.

Considered a dangerous threat to Upper Canada hopes, the Maritime Champions were given a set-back by the powers that be when they barred Jemmett, Shields and goalie Sargent. However, the Bearcats carried on—and the rest is history. There will be a few yards of crepe hung out in Montreal this morning. Truro will now meet the Ontario Champions, the winners of the round playing off with the western Champions in Winnipeg for the Dominion title and the right to represent Canada at Lake Placid, New York next season for the world's championship.

ALLEN CUP AND THE OLYMPIAD

The calibre of the team which will ultimately win the Allen Cup is a matter of more than usual concern to the Canadian public. That team if it is, in the opinion of the gentlemen who control the game in Canada, worthy to represent this fair Dominion, will travel to Lake Placid to joust for world's honors in the 1932 Olympiad. If in their judgment it is not sufficiently strong, then players from other clubs will be selected to strengthen it.

Therefore a two-fold ambition fires the contending squads as they journey the rocky road which leads to Winnipeg, where the Dominion finals will commence on March 31. The immediate one of gaining possession of the Allen Cup, that historic old trophy which has found homes and been cherished by clubs from Regina to Montreal. The ultimate end of being chosen to be the Canadian hockey ambassador to the New York State mountain resort next year. No greater inducement in hockeydom could be offered to players to exercise their best efforts. Only once in four years is the dual prize at stake.

gentler attitudes of the Victorian age. Today in almost every mentionable sport they are to be found competing on terms which become increasingly more arduous.

The pat-pat game in tennis has been scorned by them long ago. Suzanne Lenglen led the way when she stepped up to hit the ball with all the force and direction of the male. How many of the trousered tribe could defeat Helen Wills on the courts is problematical. Certain it is that if their sisters of the gay nineties could see the young Amazons of today in action they would fall into one of those old-time swoons that all the smelling salts in Christendom would not revive them from.

CONGRATULATIONS!

The Levin Fur Company hockey team are to be heartily commended in their annexation last night of the Junior Hockey Championship by defeating the fast little Queen Hotel team 4 to 2 in a hard fought game from bell to bell. The Queen boys too are to be congratulated on their magnificent hockey throughout the season which brought them into the finals. The Gyroscopes also come in for every praise. They handed out excellent puck work, so much so that they made the aforementioned aggregations step all the way to get into the sun.

All in all the Junior League has been a decided success this season from every standpoint. The best of feelings and true sportsmanship prevailed throughout each and every game played—and again the three teams are to be congratulated. To the sponsors of the different lineups and respective coaches only the highest praise is forthcoming. They did every thing possible to make the going smooth and the successful conclusion is an indication of the interest and enthusiasm manifested in the boys during the winter.

The excellent material brought out among the Juniors surely justifies the permanent existence of this splendid organization. Next season even greater things are predicted, and it is a safe bet that before 1933, Charlottetown will have ample timber to choose from instead of going outside the Province.

POWER ORDERED REST

Hockey fans throughout the Province will regret to learn that Bill "Pat" Power, rangy defenceman of the Abegweits has been ordered to take a complete rest by his doctor. Bill went through one of the hardest seasons of hockey ever experienced by a local defenceman and his courage and stamina in each and every game played was a by-word in the city. It is hoped that his retirement will be of short duration and in a very short while he will be back in his usual good condition.

Y.M.C.A. 1—CORNWALL 0

Tuesday night at the Forum the Cornwall Community Club Hockey team played a return game with the 'Y' men. The first game played at Cornwall early in the winter resulted in a win for the Y's men, with a score of 4-2 after 10 minutes of overtime, so that Tuesday's game created quite an interest as the teams were very evenly matched. The teams were called to the centre of the ice at 7.30 by referee Jack McNair and given the necessary instructions with the result the game was exceptionally clean, only one penalty being meted out in the entire game. After 10 minutes play in the first period Bunny Moore grabbed a loose puck from a mix-up directly in front of the Cornwall net and the puck found a resting place in the draperies for the first and only time during the game. For the first and half the second period the Y's Men forced the play, then the tide changed, and for the balance of the game, Cornwall were the aggressors, especially during the last ten minutes of the game when they hemmed the Charlottetown boys behind their blue line and only over-anxiousness on their part, kept them making the red light flicker, with the result the game was over and the cheering had died down the score-board read Y's Men 1—Cornwall 0.

Directly after the game the visiting players were taken to the Y where a bevy of Y's Mennettes, under the direction of Ray Pendleton served delicious refreshments to the both teams and their followers. After full justice had been done the inner man, James MacFadyen the President of the local club called the gathering to order and said what a delightful privilege it was to have the Cornwall boys with us this evening and trusted that they would enjoy themselves to the fullest? He then called on Mr. Walter Shaw who, on behalf of the Cornwall team thanked the local team and their club for the very splendid manner in which all arrangements had been carried which were very much appreciated by this team, he was followed by Jack McNair who spoke briefly on the work the Y's Men Club were doing and of what an assistance and help they were to the Y.M.C.A., he stressed the fact that it wasn't the winning of the game that counted, that was only a secondary consideration, it was the winning of good will and friendship between the two that really counted. George Craig Capt. of the local club and Ray Pendleton also spoke on the pleasure of having the Cornwall team with them. This was followed by the National Anthem after which bowling badminton and other games were indulged in. A most enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

Even with the snowdrifts like the miniature mountains, we are cheered by signs of spring. One of these is the reappearance of the egg-wagon or rather sleigh. Mr. Herbert Profit, our genial representative of the Elmsdale Egg Circle, is again on the route and is always a welcome caller especially to the ladies.

A reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Metherall was held at their home on the evening of March 11th, when about seventy five guests assembled to offer congratulations to the happy couple. Many beautiful and useful gifts were presented as a tangible expressions of esteem and the evening passed very pleasantly in games and conversation. Mrs. Metherall Sr. and her assistant hostesses served the guests with a generous supply of ice cream and cake which was much enjoyed by all. After singing "For they are jolly good fellows," the crowd dispersed to their homes with the parting wish that Mr. and Mrs. Metherall might enjoy many years of happiness and pros-

COMMITTEE TO STUDY PROBLEMS IN INDUSTRY

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 23.—Human problems in industry will be studied by a committee of engineers, doctors, psychologists, psychiatrists, economists and sociologists just appointed by President James Rowland Angell of Yale.

The first problem will be the effect of introduction of the multiple loom or "stretch-out" system in the textile industry. Methods developed in this investigation will be applied to other problems, although no panacea for ills or abuses will be suggested, President Angell said.

THE PERSONAL FACTOR

The personal factor is one of the most important in the successful feeding of pigs, writes R. M. Hopper, Animal Husbandry expert of the Brandon Experimental Farm. The successful hog feeder realizes that feeding is not merely a mechanical operation, but one requiring skill and close observation of his animals, to obtain the maximum development and greatest returns for the feed consumed.

UNIFORMS ARE NIGHTGOWNS

RENO, Nev., March 23.—Something new in the matter of light weight basketball uniforms was tried out here recently, when, at a charity game between the Sparks Lions Club and the Volunteer Firemen, one team appeared in lingerie, the other in nightgowns.

Miss Glensy Burse who has been employed at the Capitol Theatre for the past year, left yesterday morning for her home in Fredericton, N. B. While in the city Miss Burse made a host of friends who regret her departure.

Levinites Win Junior Hockey Championship

Defeated Queen Hotel Last Night 4 to 2 In a Great Hockey Battle.

Playing an excellent brand of hockey the Levin Fur Co.'s Silver Foxes downed the Queen Hotel Brownies and copped the Kelly and MacInnis Trophy at the Forum last night, 4 goals to 2.

After the game Mr. Alf Kelly presented the championship cup, gaily decorated with black and white ribbons to Capt. Whitlock. He congratulated the Foxes on their win and commended both teams for the fine sportsmanship displayed.

Arrangements are being made to send the winners to Moncton to play Jack Ingraham's Moncton Athletics for the Junior Hockey Title of the Maritimes.

Both teams showed evidence of splendid coaching. The defence players checked and marked their men well while the front lines passed the disc in an unselfish manner. The forwards also looked after their men well. Many of the plays were finely executed and all six goals were the result of heady playing by the mouliders.

The early get-away of the Levinites in the first period when they scored three of their four goals proved enough to win the game. The forwards playing a fast and clever passing game breezed through and around the Queen's defence time after time and only the stellar work of a Reardon kept the score down to a respectable figure.

The Queens came back strong in the second period and forced the winners to play careful and close hockey while in the third they registered their two scores but not before the Levinites had added a fourth via that now famous Whitlock-Stewart combination.

First Period

Three minutes from the face-off Currie scored on a nice pass from Stewart. Four minutes later Ferguson picked up the puck behind his own net and in a fast canter down centre carried the rubber in for a close shot. Stewart took it from the mixup which followed and made the count two-nil. Nine minutes more and Whitlock scored unassisted.

Second Period

Both teams played "heads-up" hockey but there was no score.

Third Period

With only two minutes gone Stewart scored on a pass from Whitlock after eight minutes of fine work. Lund broke the goose-egg for the Queen when he poked the disc past Mills. This was followed six minutes later by Johnson's shot from the blue line which had Mills baffled.

Following are the lineups:

Levin Fur Co.	Queen Hotel
Goal	Reardon
Defence	F. Acorn Davies B. Mahar
Forwards	Lund Johnson (Capt.) K. Acorn McInnis Barbour Smith
Referee	Melvin Diamond.
