ADAMS-BERRIGAN WEDDING On Wednesday morning, June 17th there took place in Alberton Church an event of more than usual interest when Rev. Father Campbell united in marriage Mamie Adams daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Adams, of Elmbridge and John F. Berrigan of Morell, a valued employee of the Canadian National Express Co. The bride was becomingly attired in brown satin and was attended by Miss Helen Lannette of Sackville while Mr. Ernest Farly of Charlottetown supported the groom. After the wedding at which a large number of friends were present, the bridal party motored to the home of the bride where a dainty breakfast was served. In the evening about 200 guests gathered at the home and after refreshments had been served, proceeded to the Elmbridge Hall which had been prepared for the occasion. There dancing was indulged in till far into the night. Many beautiful presents were received including cut-glass, silverware and a number of checks from friends of both bride and groom, all of which indicates the popularity of the young couple. There was a capacity congregation, and the singing was unusually good, the choir being augmented from Mount Stewart. Mr. Tupper contributed a solo, "Whispering Hope" which was much appreciated. The Rev. gentleman then preached one of the best sermons he has delivered since coming to the circuit eight months ago, and at the close took farewell of the congregation. The old Methodists are extremely sorry to lose Mr. Tupper as he had endeared himself to them by his sterling worth and faithful ministrations.

IN MEMORIAM

ALVIN GLOVER

Alvin Glover, a highly respected and successfully progressive farmer of Kensington, died there suddenly on June 12. On May 31, he suffered a slight attack of angina pectoris, but this did not develop serious proportions and no alarming symptoms followed the attack. On the afternoon of June 12, he was in the field in company with his son, Horace, who was repairing a fence. He was walking in the direction of home and only a few steps removed from Horace. When the latter had reached the post to which he would attach the wire that he had in hand, he turned and was horror-stricken to see his father lying prostrate upon the ground, face downward. He sprang to his side, but found that he was already dead. Mrs. Glover was instantly called and Dr. Gillis was summoned, but before the doctor could reach the scene, Mr. Glover had expired. This dreadful and untimely death, of a beloved husband and devoted father, was an appalling shock to the wife and family.

The funeral was held on June 14, Rev. A. W. Robertson conducting the service at the home, the church and at the grave. He took for his text Eccl. 12 "Then shall the dust be as it was, and the spirit shall return to the God who gave it."

Through life, he emphasized, we must realize that we are immortal creatures dwelling within these mortal bounds, and though the outward man be renewed day by day, that while we cannot prevent the decay of the body we may have the triumph of eternal life in the soul. The Reverend speaker attaches prime importance to the necessity of so living that we shall always be prepared to die.

The pallbearers were W. A. Pidgeon, Gordon Glover, M. L. Cotton, W. C. McLeod, Heath Bonness, and Bruce Bernard.

Wreaths were placed upon the coffin by the widow and family and by G. E. Walker, Summerside, R. L. Glover, Mrs. Margaret A. Glover, Calgary, Pillow, J. A. McLeod, Toronto, Crescent; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McLeod, and Mr. and Mrs. Everard McLeod, Park Corner, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pidgeon, Kensington, his widow, nee Margaret L. McLeod, daughter, Cecelia, and son Horace, are left bereaved.

The surviving members of his fraternal family are mother, Robert L. Calgary, and three sisters, Mrs. Eva Crozier, Calgary, Mrs. Samuel Bernard, St. Eleanor's, Miss Fannie and Miss Jessie, Lynn, Mass., not one of whom was able to be present at the funeral. Interment took place in the Kensington Cemetery.

Mr. Glover was a splendid type of manhood, realizing the development of the whole man, subordinating material importance to intellectual and spiritual superiority. He saw in worldly effects only means of attaining the object of the moral man, religious perfection.

He made home a miniature paradise, a home of rest where he would retire at eve, leaving the burden of today's worries and the cares of tomorrow on the threshold. But he has gone to enjoy his reward, and his happiness will only be complete when he will be joined by his loved ones, who so deeply mourn his unexpected death.

Mr. Glover was an ideal husband, a most kind and obliging neighbor and the example that he has set will remain a shining mark to guide those who remain in the path of genuine christianity. X

The farmers have now practically completed their work for the season. The fields present a splendid appearance in their rich mantle of green, and the recent rain of more than average duration has given added vitality to herb, cultivated field and meadow. There is much encouragement for the farmer in the present outlook, and his careful cultivation coupled with the favorable weather conditions, gives promise of excellent results.

The lobster industry now nearing completion for this season has been in general very good in eastern and Southern Kings.

Mr. John L. Macdonald, meat dealer is again on duty. His territory is large and winding and extends from the kept strewn lands of Murray Harbor North, "where generous nature scatters plenty o'er a smiling land" past historic Glen William, to the native fastnesses of Caledonia "stern and wild". He is invariably a welcome visitor.

The annual school meeting of Peters Road was well attended. Total amount voted $193. Supplement $100. New trustee Mr. George A. Macdonald, Teacher Mr. M. A. Beaton will likely remain. Extensive repairs to the school building are anticipated this summer during vacation. The necessary funds were raised by holding two socials last winter, and were highly successful.

An important feature in connection with the school meeting was the petition issued by the department of Agriculture making Prince Edward Island, in respect to cattle "a disease free area". This is most commendable, and was endorsed by all the ratepayers present.

Mr. Clare Johnston having been awarded the contract of hauling the milk on the Peters Road route to the cheese factory at Sturgeon is now busy on the job, and anticipates a large development in this very important industry.

Mr. George A. Macdonald, having completed the drilling and fitting of a pump here, which works very satisfactorily at a depth of 130 feet (the work occupied only eight days) is now moving his equipment to Montague where he will be engaged in similar work with the Imperial Ranch Co.

Mr. Edward Munn is now engaged in making renovations on the residence of Mr. J. L. McKinnon. The work is now on cement basis after which the superstructure in wood will begin.

Several outings are planned for July 1st, as all stores in the town will be closed for the holiday. Beginning on June 22nd, the stores also close each evening at 6.30 p. m. giving all alike an opportunity of enjoying the evenings of the all too short summer months.

The two Ice Cream parlors are under the management of Mr. B. W. Taylor, proprietor of The Globe Hotel, the other in connection with the General Store of Messrs. P. J. Noye & Co., have re-opened.

Mr. N. F. Rockwall, representing the Filmore Nurseries, Amherst, N. S., was here on business this week. Many of the older orchards in this community are grown from trees ordered through Mr. Rockwall this same nursery. He claims the low average yield of fruit on P. E. I., is through lack of knowing how to spray, prune and care for fruit trees in general. The yield on one tree alone last year that had been planted by the early Acadian settlers in the Annapolis Valley, was 37 barrels. The tree stands 50 ft. high, and 150 ft. from edge to edge across. The fruit from the top part of the tree is a perfect Graysonite through grafting. Naturally Mr. Rockwall sees many changes and improvements since his first trip here some thirty years ago.

Corran Bann At Hope River

On Wednesday evening June 17th, an audience too great for the seating capacity of the spacious Hope River Hall greeted the Corran Bann Dramatic Club who came to present their play "The Dust of the Earth." Perfect order, artistic specialties and the display of more than ordinary dramatic ability, made the evening an enjoyable and memorable one for those present. There is no doubt that when this cast returns to Hope River, as large an audience or even greater, will be here to receive them. The excellent distinctive portrayal of the various characters, coupled with the fine enunciation makes it very difficult to select any one of the parts for special mention. Possibly an exception might be made in the case of Miss Peggy Doyle as "The Dust of the Earth" who, by her sweet winsomeness touched many a heart.

One Friend Tells Another

The frame of a successful remedy is often spread far and wide by women telling one another of its merits, as is evidenced by a letter written by Mrs. Delbert Bush of Masena, N. Y. She writes: "I was in such a bad condition I could hardly walk, a friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with excellent results advised me to try it. It has given me back my health and I cannot praise it enough." There are women everywhere who have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and gladly tell their friends and neighbors about it.
