*L. O. L. PARADE.—On Sunday Sept. 30th, Star of the East L. O. L. Georgetown, held their annual Decoration Day. In this they were assisted by large numbers of the brethren from the Montague and Charlottetown Lodges, including the Grand Master of the Province, Mr. G. Dudley Wright. At 2.30 p. m. the brethren paraded from their Hall to the Presbyterian Cemetery where they decorated the graves of their departed brother the late Herbert Parker. The services were conducted by the Rev. F. M. Clay and the W. M. of Star of the East Lodge Mr. S. M. Johnston. They then proceeded to the Baptist Church, where they were addressed by the Rev. Mr. Clay and Mr. G. D. Wright who made an eloquent appeal on behalf of the P. E. Island Orphanage. The collection, which went to the support of the Orphanage, exceeded all expectations. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The parade was marshalled by Mr. Glen Jenkins and by Mr. C. A. Conrad who wore the King's uniform.—G.

HUNS LOSE IMPORTANT POSITIONS.

The line of the present battle is between points to the east of St. Julien and southwest of Gheruvelt. The Germans already have been pushed out of many important positions. The British appear to have been extremely successful throughout the northern half of the line of attack. No news is available from the sector of Polygon wood and the region south of that forest. The most important points involved in today's fighting are the strongly held elevations between the Ypres-Roulers railway and the Ypres-Menin highway. Australian, Scotch and English troops were today pushing out into forbidden country over ground sodden from rains, among concrete and steel redoubts, over excavations, through bits of woods choked with quick-firers. They might fall of their object and yet cover themselves with glory.

WANT SENATOR LAFOLLETTE EXPELLED

ATLANTIC City, N. J., Sept. 30.—Members of the American Bankers' Association launched into vehement expressions of approval when Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, addressing them today on The Changing World demanded that the congress exercise its constitutional right to expel United States Senator LaFollette.

"We are repelling attacks upon American people and institutions of two kinds," Dr. Butler said. "We are fighting across the sea and we are fighting evil-minded suspicion, cowardice and treason, which have raised their hands at home. Our soldiers can fight the soldiers of the enemy. You and I have got to fight sedition and treason here."

"Have the American people lost their capacity for corporate indignation?" he asked.

"There is a provision in the constitution, providing that congress may expel a member by a two-thirds vote. What are they thinking of to sit there and permit themselves to be contaminated by Senator Robert M. LaFollette?"

Cries for approval came from every side as Dr. Butler proceeded.

"Gentlemen, you might just as well put poison into the food of every boy that goes to his transport as to permit this man to make war upon the nation in the halls of congress."

"I am a native son of New Jersey, which has two patriotic sons in the senate. I call upon them to take the lead."

"I am a citizen of New York. New York has two patriotic sons in the senate. I call upon them to take up the challenge. No single act would go so far to shorten the war."

Again the audience applauded. "Hundreds of millions of dollars are being expended and thousands of lives are being lost because we sit by indignant and sapine," Dr. Butler declared.

Speaking of peace, Dr. Butler said: "Do you see the significance of the cooings of peace which comes from Berlin? They are intended to weaken our efforts before the new world, of which we are in search, has been discovered—a world for which the free nations have armed themselves for a contest that will not cease until this world has been found."

"Any human being who asks for peace or any other terms than unconditional surrender is asking another and still greater war. Peace will only come when the supreme confidence the Germans have in the instrument of war and their world-dominating aims are brought to defeat. That is the only road to peace."

Peter Nash was a big favorite to capture first money in the Arch City

2.10 pace, but Ben Ali was a master farmed renown which the fighting of the good field and dashed away ahead from wire to wire.

General Yorke, won the 2.11 event in straight heats. Jeannette Speed challenged strongly the third mile and the result was a first half in 1.02 1/2.

FROM SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE.

Mrs. Ross A. Devereaux, R. R. No. 2, North Wiltshire has received the following letter from her son Cecil now in France.

(Aug. 28, 1917.)
Somewhere in France:—
My Dear Mother:—
Just a few lines to let you know that I have arrived safely in France and that I'm enjoying every comfort which the conditions of this country will allow.

After crossing the channel we came to our part of embarkation (which owing to censor I'm unable to mention), from there we had to march twenty miles to our training base, and during that journey I'm rained on us continually. I can assure you mother we were some tired boys when we came to the end of that "Long Long Trail."

We had a nice supper of hot coffee, jam, cheese and biscuits awaiting us and after participating of its luxuries we felt quite refreshed and I do believe if the officers in charge had asked us to go another twenty miles we would have been right on the job.

We'll Dear Mother the draft I left England with reinforced the 26th New Brunswick battalion, and by its splendid achievements in the past this battalion has earned a name second to none on the battle field of Europe. I'm very proud to be with it mother, and I'm going to do my duty as every good soldier ought in order that I may help to uphold the 26th has already won.

In the course of ten or twelve days I expect to be in close contact with old Fritz, (a choice name for the Germans) then it will be the best man have it, however mother I'm quite happy and I'm trusting in God to meet you all again after the war is over. Don't worry about me, and you must remember mother that a lot of the talk concerning the hardships of the boys in France is greatly exaggerated. Good and bad times are in abundance here, the one counteracts the other so that on the whole the boys have it fairly decent. I will mail you a field post card every day to let you know I'm alive and well, as long as you get those you will know I'm O. K.

Well Dear Mother as this is all the news I have now I will bring my letter to a close. Give my love to my three dear little brothers, especially Harold, tell them always to pray for me and for yourself you have the fondest love of,

Your affectionate son

The Most Profitable Fixture in Our Stores

By C. H. Routliffe, Manager of the Lyndroute Groceries, of Toronto, Ontario

YOU can't gauge your bank balance by increases in sales. You've got to get profits on those sales.

"A clerk sells a dollar's worth of groceries and makes an error of ten cents in adding the slip. If it's an undercharge your profit's gone. If it's an overcharge your customer's confidence is gone. You lose either way."

"Our experience showed that getting every cent of profit depended on stopping the leaks—error leaks—insignificant in themselves, but decidedly prominent when multiplied by days, weeks, and months."

"So to plug up these holes we bought a Burroughs Figuring Machine. And right here let us emphasize one fact. We are convinced the Burroughs is the most profitable fixture in our stores."

"The first job we used it for was checking up sales slips; and here we caught errors enough to show where some of the profits were going. Rest assured the Burroughs soon plugged up a dangerous leak."

"But this is trivial compared with the valuable information we are able to obtain through its use."

"Once a day we get a summary of business transacted in each of our three stores. This summary shows the number of customers handled, amount of cash deposited in register, amount paid out, amount received on account, balance of customers' accounts; sales analyzed by cash and charge, retail and wholesale, and by clerks.

"It is information like this that enables us to learn whether or not we are getting all the profit. And if we're not it's easy to find the leaks, for Burroughs figuring is absolutely accurate."

"Every day we get a double check on the cash. All register tickets are added on the Burroughs and the total is checked against the amount of cash in the drawer."

"Every ninety days we take inventory. It would be impossible to do this without the Burroughs. Here again the machine has more than paid for itself."

"Every day we check delivery boys' accounts on the Burroughs. In addition to accuracy we know what percentage of purchases are delivered every season of the year. This information is valuable in estimating overhead."

"All invoices are checked on the Burroughs. In fact there is an unwritten law in our business prohibiting an O. K. until the transaction has been treated on the machine."

"We would as soon think of doing business without a telephone as without our little Burroughs Figuring Machine."

The Lyndroute Groceries is one of many enthusiastic Burroughs users in Toronto. In all parts of Canada thousands of users find the Burroughs of invaluable service.

Russ Parliament To Have 150 Members

PETROGRAD, Sept. 28.—The Cabinet today, in the absence of Premier Kerensky, considered the reorganization of the supreme Government by the formation of a war Cabinet of five members politically responsible to the workmen's and soldiers' deputies, who should be non-political and not liable to dismissal. For legislation there would be found a Parliament of 170 members, representing all parties. The new system of Government would remain until a regular constitution was framed by the constituent assembly.

This plan will be referred for elaboration to the judicial council, which since the revolution has advised the Government on all important laws.

Kerensky is Gaining.

The controversy over the Korniloff conspiracy had diminished in its intensity today, and the Bolshevik assaults on Kerensky were weaker, but the evening papers state that the Premier, as a result of the Bolshevik conquest of the Petrograd workmen's and soldiers' group, intends to resign from the presidential council, as "Fehelide and other moderate Socialists have already done."

The dancer and former favorite of the ex-Premier, Ballerina Kshesinska, has begun suit against the staff of the Petrograd military district, alleging that soldiers, who in the spring occupied part of her palace, damaged the property to the extent of 250,000 rubles.

Cossacks Stick to Chief.

The military Government of Don Cossacks decided upon immediate reappointment to office of General Kaledines, the ademan of the Cossacks, who offered his resignation a week ago in view of differences with Premier Kerensky. A resolution adopted by the Cossacks Congress points out to the Government the necessity of making known the truth of the entire affair in order to refute all rumors of a rebellion of the Don Cossacks.
