Canada entered the picture of Trans-Atlantic Air Mail development when on June 24 Pan-American Airways inaugurated its Northern route, from Port Washington, N. Y., to Southampton, England, and chose Shezac, N. B., as its Canadian port of call.

Air Mail statistics show that in 1938-39 mileage flown was 3,711,987 and the poundage of Air Mail carried in Canada was 1,822,399; compared to 1,474,041 miles flown and 1,367,972 pounds carried in 1937-38; and 977,864 miles and 1,200,831 pounds in 1936-37.

On March 1, coinciding with the opening of Trans-Canada Air Mail, the fee on Special Delivery letters was cut in half, being reduced from 20 cents to 10 cents. Postage was reduced on April 29 on books circulating to and from recognized public libraries. On June 3 the Department permitted, under certain specific conditions, use of the Business Reply Label— which might be clipped from an advertisement and mailed back to the advertiser without cost to either party. Just as the 4-cent Business Reply Envelopes are. On August 15 the rate on Business Reply Cards for delivery within Canada was cut to three cents from four cents.

These men are the men who will patrol the skies above the first division, Canada's initial contribution of manpower to the Empire cause. A.C.F. it is their job to watch for enemy concentrations, to photograph enemy territory, or to direct the fire of Canadian artillery batteries. On occasions they may be called on to battle opposing ground troops themselves. Then it is their duty to dive on enemy formations, sweep them with machine gun fire. Or at another time, this squadron might be detailed to drop a bomb or two where they would do the most good or—harm, to be more correct.

Eighteen Westland-Lysander planes form the squadron—three flights of six planes each—with a complete ground organization to keep the aircraft and equipment in order. It has been estimated 10 ground men are needed to keep one plane in the air.

The co-operation unit consists of No. 110 (A. C.) Squadron, of Toronto, and No. 112 Squadron, of Ottawa and Winnipeg (No. 112), and Ottawa Squadrons (No. 2). After the formal training is completed the squadron will continue practising its job until it is time to join the C. A. S. F. first division overseas.

Squadron Leader W. D. Vilet, officer commanding, showed newspapermen the unit's equipment recently and explained its work.

It was maintenance day at the air station and a dozen Lysander planes were being overhauled. Mechanics checked the powerful motors and experts worked on the machine gun—two firing forward from the wings and another from a swivel back of the pilot.

The air gunner and the pilot are the only two occupants of the plane. A squadron pilot gunned a Lysander onto the snow-covered air-drome. Camouflaged in elusive brown and green, the plane scurried down the runway for about 100 yards and hurtled into the air. After this remarkable short take-off it climbed at about a 45-degree angle.

The plane snarled upward to about 3,000 feet and cut down in a power dive, thundering past the hangar at about 250 miles an hour. The pilot circled the field again. This time he loitered past at 90 miles an hour to show the versatility of the plane.

BRITISH An armed trawler drove off a Heinkel plane which dropped bombs near it. The flashes of fire from the trawler's light guns were mistaken for the shore for distress signals and a boat was sent to investigate. Another ship was attacked with bombs near it but was not hit.

The sinking of the 1,706-ton British steamship Keynes by German bombers Thursday in the North Sea was disclosed when the vessel's 17 crew members were landed at a British port. They said Nazi planes attacked their ship twice, scoring five direct hits. The radio operator, who was injured, was the sole casualty.

The mate of the Keynes said he saw another ship apparently bombed, with a third standing by. The 185-ton British trawler Croxton also was sunk and her crew of nine landed today in Britain.

Another bombing yesterday involved the 932-ton British steamship Pitwines. She did not sink and was taken in town after her crew was rescued.

Three other vessels went down off England in the past 24 hours, all mine victims. They were the Granfa, 2,719 tons, British; the Tanker El Oso, 7,267 tons, British; and the Traviata, 5,123 tons, Italian.

Rev. Mr. Webster Brings Message At Prayer Service

Last night in the Trinity United Church the fifth service of the week of prayer was held. A large congregation worshipped. The service was led by the Rev. Hugh Miller, assisted by the various city ministers.

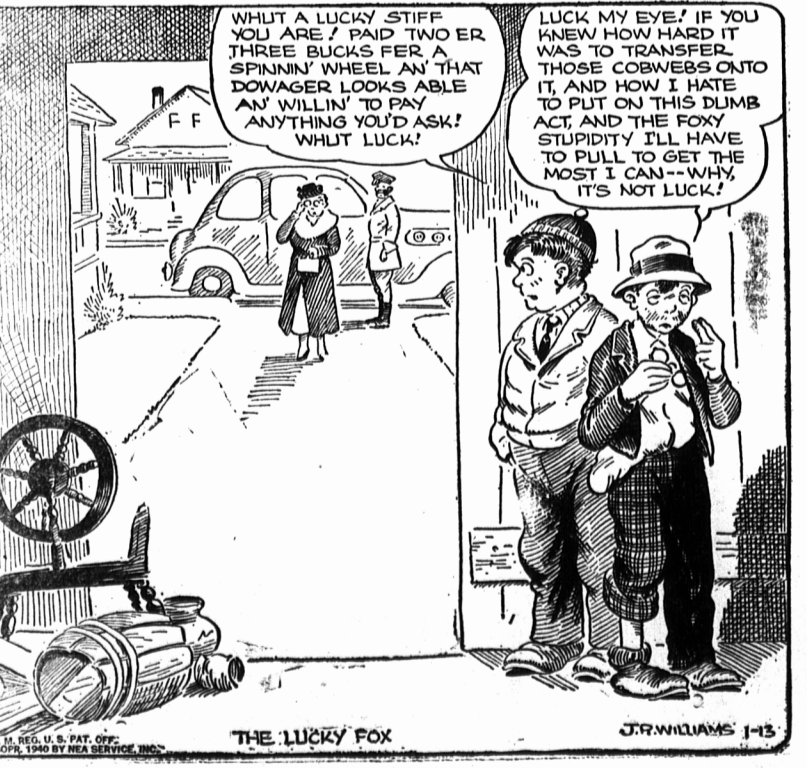

The choir led the worship as they sang the anthem, "O God Who Hast Prepared," by A. R. Gaul. The Rev. G. Carlyle Webster brought the message on the theme, "The Christian's Responsibility," Text St. Mark 3:13. The speaker treated his theme under the following heads: 1st. Our high calling, 2nd, involves responsibility and 3rd, Universal need — and how God through us seeks to meet that need.

Ours is a high and lofty heritage. Through the redeeming grace of Jesus Christ, we have entered into the fellowship of God as His children. We have entered into the inheritance of prayer, God's Holy word and the assurance of His grace. We are saved by grace — it is the gift of God. Not through any merit in ourselves, but by the mercy of His forgiving love in Jesus Christ, are we saved. When we come to Him in simple faith, we have the right to call ourselves the children of God.

Our high calling implies responsibility. We have great tasks and heavy duties. In the days of His flesh Jesus called His disciples unto Him—why? To enjoy the fellowship of the living God? —Yes, but more—in order that they might be sent to proclaim the gospel of redemption to others. We too are to be sent forth. We are Christ's ambassadors — His fellow labourers. Jesus said, "Go ye and declare My gospel to all people." Do we realize what this implies? It does not mean that merely ministers and missionaries are Christ's witnesses. All who believe on the Lord Jesus are called to be His Witnesses. We are called to be fishers of men — to be His interpreters among men. If we have received of the Grace of God it is that we might share it with others. How did we come to Christ? Through the influence of someone who had received the Grace. Thus it is our privilege and responsibility to tell others of the grace of God. There's a universal thirst for the living God. Man cannot have joy in His heart until he is reconciled to God.

The Ethiopian Eunuch reported in Acts 8 is a type—a universal type—a man groping in the dark to satisfy the thirst of his soul. The eunuch needed someone to guide him into the way of life, to show Christ to him. God is his witness in the world without and in the still small voice within the soul of man. But even conscience cannot tell us all about God. He has spoken to us in His word but that too was insufficient. Then God sent His own Son, as God needed Christ to witness for Him, so Christ needs others to witness for Him. The great need of this sin-stricken world is to make known Jesus Christ to men. The world needs to know Jesus Christ. Russians cry out "How can we understand except someone make it known unto us?" The same cry comes from Germany.

God forbid that any of us give a false impression of Jesus Christ, that we should put our faith in earthly treasures, but may He grant that we may be Christ's true witnesses, true to the calling in Jesus Christ.
