STOMACH ACTS FINE! NO INDIGESTION, GAS, HEARTBURN, ACIDITY

"Pape's Diapepsin" fixes sick, sour, upset stomachs in five minutes.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain, untailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them, if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eruptions of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes.

LONELY GOTHAM.

Mountain lonesomeness, which over-awes sojourners from the outside world, may even have a diverting influence upon the spirits of the confirmed mountaineer.

Recently a traveler in the Cumberland while climbing the rugged trail in search of something to relieve the monotonous mountain life chanced upon a native who lounged upon a stump in seeming unconsciousness of the solitude.

"I see you are admiring the mountain scenery," remarked the traveller. "Which?" yawned the native.

"Rather quiet?" suggested the traveller. "No, that is a dinged catamount yonder," replied the native with considerable animation.

In response to a hint from the native the traveller listened long and patiently, being rewarded at last by hearing the faint cry of some wild animals far across the mountain silences.

"Ever been to New York?" asked the traveller after an interval. "Yep," nodded the native with a squirt of tobacco juice.

"Like it?" persisted the traveler. "Nope"—more tobacco juice. "Why not?" queried the traveler. "Too dinged lonesome thur," yawned the native. "Made me homesick."—New York Sun.

RUSSIAN LOSSES HEAVY.

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—An official report from the Austro-Hungarian army headquarters, dated Nov. 18, says: Only now can our triumphs at Czartouisk be duly appreciated. The Russians suffered the heaviest losses. Up to the present 2500 Russians have been buried. Four hundred new graves have been found. Several thousand rifles, and plenty of ammunition have been taken. The Russians had on the Western bank of the Styx River four positions, one behind the other all strongly fortified. Also blockhouse stables which proved that the Russians intended to pass the winter there. On the Italian front

IMPORTANT

Relatives of soldiers returning from the front are asked to communicate with the Secretary of the Patriotic Society at Charlottetown, Captain T. Edgar McNutt, intimating the date of expected arrival, cause of return and any other particulars in order that preparation may be made for a fitting reception.

There have been only feeble attacks against Gignea, the north slope of Mont San Michela, and south west of San Martino all of which failed. Gerizia has again been shelled. The Austro-Hungarian aircraft bombarded the barracks at Belluno. In the Balkans theatre: Austro-Hungarian troops are approaching Uvack District North of Nova Varos. Javor has been occupied. Austro-Hungarians are approaching South of Ivanjica the passages of Golya Planina.

A BRITISH FATHER'S VENGEANCE.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 18.—A story that has much in it that is pathetic as well as terrible is quoted by the "Territorial Service Gazette" from a letter home by a non-commissioned officer of a Territorial battalion: "Of the bombing party with which I served," he writes, "one of the keenest was a man whose sons had been killed in the early days of the war, and he had also lost a brother. Though he was well over the military age he had managed to pass, and from the first day of his arrival out there his mind was obsessed with the idea of avenging the death of his sons. "When his chance of getting to close quarters came he was not slow to make use of it. He dashed forward at the head of the party, and hurled a bomb into a section of the German trench accounting for over a dozen of the enemy. At one point where the enemy were developing a counter-attack the old man rushed forward and dropped bomb after bomb into them, finally dispersing them single-handed. "Later in the day he seemed to be everywhere. Sometimes he was bomb throwing, at other times he was doing bayonet work, and occasionally he lent a hand with clearing away wounded men. Always he seemed to remember his darling boys as he called them, and many a German must have wished that those 'boys' had never been killed. For a while I lost sight of him, and when I saw him next he was lying wounded. "It was plain to be seen that he was looked through, and he knew it said, 'but anyhow, I've made the Hunns pay for killing my boys.' When I came back a few minutes later he was dead. At his request they buried a long with him photos of the 'darling boys and the old woman.'

Good Heat Means Good Health

So long as your home is not properly heated just so long will there be a standing invitation on your door posts for disease to come in and be a guest in your home. Poor home heating, and good family health, do not go together. The one right way to stave off doctor's bills is to get my hot air heating system in your home. It is better to see about it now, too, so you will be prepared for the cold days that are coming. Phone 393-J
