BURSTING DAM

available ambulances with medical staffs from Mexico City to the scene. Executives of the Dos Estrellas Company, who had been attending a conference in Mexico City, and Agustin Guzman, general secretary of the mining syndicate, also hastened to Tlalpujahua.

Three days of heavy rains weakened the dam, Reyes asserted. He said financial loss to the mining company would be extremely heavy.

Mining authorities believed the disaster, coupled with recent conflicting labor troubles, might cause the company to suspend operations. It employs about 5,000 men.

Mining men in Mexico City explained that the Dos Estrellas mines produced almost exclusively gold, and that the gravel and sand which rushed down on the town were "tailings" left after the cyanide gold washing process.

Vocal Dept. Head Spends Vacation Here

A distinguished visitor to Charlottetown is Miss Ethel Peake, head of the vocal dept. of Mt. Allison University, who is spending a short vacation here as the guest of Mrs. W. T. Huggan, Hillsboro St.

This was Miss Peake's first year with Mr. Allison, to which she came from the Toronto Conservatory of Music, highly recommended by Sir Ernest MacMillan, principal of the Conservatory.

Previous to her connection with that faculty Miss Peake, who is a native of London, Eng., had for many years sang under the baton of leading European directors in opera, oratorio and concert. She has made an intensive study of the vocal art under eminent Italian masters, whose valuable advice her pupils have the advantage of sharing. After remaining here until the first week in July Miss Peake will conduct classes at the Mt. Allison University Summer School.

Quebec Legislature Concludes Session

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

QUEBEC, May 27—Three months of law making and speech making over, voice-weary members of the Quebec legislature scattered to their homes tonight after one of the longest sessions in years.

Long-deferred prorogation came today as the legislative assembly—the Lower House—swiftly adopted amendments that had been tacked onto the Union Nationale government's courts revision bill by the predominantly-opposition legislative council, the Upper Chamber.

The measure had blocked expected prorogation last week, when the council refused to deal with it without time for study. When the council was through amending it today, it went past the Lower House in new form without discussion.

STEEL STRIKE

pling strike around three big independent steel companies tonight while pressing forward on two fronts to win its objective—signed bargaining contracts—and return 70,000 idle men to millions of dollars worth of steel-making equipment.

The companies apparently were impassive to the S.W.O.C.'s demands. Declaring contracts would lead to a closed shop and checkoff.

The Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate filed complaints with the National Labor Relations Board charging Republic Steel Corporation, largest of the independents involved, had used "coercion" and "intimidation" against union members.

Above the bustle of the picket lines, which reached into steel towns from Chicago to Buffalo, came the charge of Philip Murray, S.W.O.C. chariman, that Tom Girdler, chairman of Republic or his subordinates "have issued orders to shoot to kill".

With the charge, Murray sent a request for a conference to negotiate a signed agreement. No answer to the charges or the gesture toward peace came immediately from Republic.

Girdler was in New York attending a meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute with the heads of the two other independent concerns involved in the strike—Frank Purnell, president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, and S. E. Block, president of Inland Steel Corp.

The S.W.O.C. division of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, had been contending for weeks with the independent producers for signed contracts. The showdown was called for late last night when the S.W.O.C. summoned steel workers out of the plants and set up its lines for a siege.

While there were scattered reports of violence and an election on the question of "work or strike?" was broken up at Canton, O., pickets and police for the most part kept the situation well in hand.

In the Mahoning Valley of Ohio, where for months smoke stacks have been belching forth a black and white message of prosperity and employment, 32,000 were idle.

The steel producing rate, soaring along at the top of the graph, took a sudden dive in Cleveland where all four of Republic's plants, employing 7,000 men were shut down.

Twenty-five thousand were affected by the strike in the Chicago area where operations of the Sheet and Tube and Inland were brought to an abrupt halt

Little Theatre Notes

Those interested in the Little Theatre will be glad to learn that the season's program, which was interrupted by needed repairs to the theatre building, will shortly be resumed. The delay thus incurred has been a disappointment to members as well as to the public, who have on all occasions shown their interest by filling the theatre at each performance. The work of placing a complete foundation under the building has now been completed and the repairs made. While the building was at no time condemned it was felt that certain precautions should be taken, with the result that the whole structure is now in first class condition.

The future of the legitimate theatre rests on such organizations as this, and local drama enthusiasts look hopefully forward to an added interest in our town in this educative and interesting art.

The fact that a group from the Charlottetown Little Theatre have already, in the infancy of the organization, taken honors for two consecutive years in the competitions in St. John should be an encouragement and an inspiration to overcome all difficulties.

FORMER ISLANDER PASSES SUDDENLY

NORWAY, Me., May 26—A few minutes after he told a neighbor he was "feeling fine," Alfred E. Baker, 62, of Rochester, N. H., died while sitting in the doorway of his daughter's home here today.

Baker had come here a month ago to work in the restaurant operated by his daughter, Mrs. James E. Applin.

He was born on Prince Edward Island.

Distinguished Lady To Speak Here Sunday

A distinguished week-end visitor to Charlottetown will be Mrs. Induk Pak of Korea, a woman with a remarkable career, both in her own country and also in United States and Canada.

Mrs. Pak is a daughter of a teacher of Chinese classics, who died when his daughter was five years old. She was imprisoned in 1919 during the Korean Independent Movement for her ardent patriotism. While in prison she received a copy of the Holy Bible which led to her conversion. She is a graduate of three universities, including Columbia University, New York, and is the author of several books.

Mrs. Pak excells as a public speaker. She has addressed students of over 200 colleges, numerous Canadian Clubs, university women's clubs, business and professional clubs and church assemblies.

The distinguished visitor comes here under the auspices of the missionary leaders of the United and Presbyterian Church and the Students' Christian Movement. She will be heard in Trinity United Church at 11 o'clock and at Zion Presbyterian Church at 7 o'clock Sunday. In order that all may have an opportunity to hear her, a special Young Peoples' and students' service will be held in the Baptist Church at 8.30 Sunday evening.

C.I.O. Will Seek Dosco Contracts

(C.P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

MONTREAL, May 27—The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, an affiliate of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, announced here today it would make simultaneous requests next week for contracts at the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation's plants here and in Sydney, N.S.

The applications will be made "by the latter part of next week" at the big Sydney steel plant, which employs 3,600 men, and at the Montreal plant of Peck Rolling Mills, a Dosco subsidiary employing about 300 men.

In Sydney, the C.I.O. Union claims 3,000 of the plant's employees; in Montreal, 96 per cent of the Peck workmen.

BURIED TREASURE

DURBAN, May 27—Rambling on the hillside on Easter Monday, Mr. Steve Wakeling, of Durban, who has been spending a holiday in Van Reenen, Natal, picked up a stone to throw along the track for his companion, an Aberdeen terrier, to retrieve and was amazed to find a gleaming Victoria sovereign dated 1871.

Several years ago a young railwayman unearthed two coins of the same date on the same hill under practically the same circumstances.

Interest has been aroused by Mr. Wakeling's find. There is a strong belief that a quantity of gold stolen from a post car journeying between the Transvaal and Natal lies concealed in various portions of the hills outside the village. At intervals optimists dig assiduously in the hope of striking the right spot.

Thousands Visit The Famous Quints

CALENDAR, ONT., May 27 (C.P.)—So many thousands are eager to see the Dionne quintuplets as they near their third Birthday on Friday that Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe decided tonight to lengthen the periods they appear each day before the public.

The rush of visitors over the holiday week-end convinced him the 500,000 who saw the famous youngsters last year will be increased to 750,000 in 1937.

The Babies now play before the public for two half-hour periods each day, and today Mrs. Oliva Dionne, their 27-year-old mother dropped in to receive an enthusiastic reception from her daughters.

Hundreds of persons saw the demonstration of Quint affection for their mother, and a few later witnessed a meeting between Oliva Dionne and his Quintuplet daughters that was quite as enthusiastic.

But those hundreds will grow to thousands in the next few weeks. Visitors hardly fill the observation gallery that looks down into the Quint playground but when the tourist rush really begins they will pass through it in a steady stream.

So that as many as possible may see the youngsters Dr. Dafoe has decided that after June 15 the public will be received from 9.30 to 10.30 in the morning and from 2.30 to 3.30 in the afternoon. At present the Quints may be seen from 9.30 to 10 and from 2.30 to 3

BALDWIN AND

Earl. Announcement of this may come tomorrow.

Meanwhile Chamberlain, who obtains the prime ministership that eluded the grasp of his father, Joseph Chamberlain, famed economist and imperialist and his brother, the late Sir Austen Chamberlain, noted foreign secretary, retained his own counsel on the cabinet list he will submit to the King.

Guesses were widely divergent, all commentators agreeing only that cabinet changes would be extensive.

It was reported tonight that Viscount Halifax, Lord Privy Seal, government leader in the House of Lords and former Viceroy of India, wishes to retire from his cabinet duties. Viscount Hailsham, the Lord Chancellor, is also understood as eager to lay down his office after long service. Walter Runciman may be raised to the peerage as a Viscount, leaving the presidency of the Board of Trade.

Sir John Simon, it is predicted on all sides, will transfer from the Home Office to the Chancellorship of the Exchequer.

The Associated Press quoted some observers as saying Chamberlain will invite Winston Churchill, Conservative veteran, to become Minister of Labor, succeeding Ernest Brown, and use his boundless energy to deal with conditions in the distressed areas and labor unrest.

"A great mystery surrounds the future of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden," the Associated Press reported. "Most reports are that Eden will remain at the Foreign Office for the present but," the dispatch said, "Chamberlain is said to have disliked his 'white-knight-of-Geneva' policy, preferring a more isolationist stand in international dealings."

Possibility was expressed in some quarters that Sir Samuel Hoare, now First Lord of the Admiralty, might return to the Foreign Office that he left in December, 1935 when his plan, formulated with then Premier Laval of France to partition Ethiopia instead of waiting for an Italian conquest or defeat, fell through.

Opponents for many years and close associates since formation of the National Government, Baldwin and MacDonald will lay down their offices together. Possibility was expressed, however, that the Prime Minister may continue in the cabinet as a Peer, as Lord Privy Seal or other office.

The two men were political opponents throughout most of their careers, MacDonald as head of the Labor party and Baldwin as chief of the Conservatives. When the National Government was formed Baldwin, a previous prime minister, became Lord President of the Council.

Four years later failing health obliged MacDonald to hand over his office to Baldwin, and replace him as Lord President of the Council.

Coronation Visitors Return To Ch'town

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. MacLean and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cameron of Charlottetown arrived home last night after a delightful visit to the Old Country where they saw the Coronation Celebrations.

Mr. and Mrs. MacLean spent a very enjoyable time touring England, Scotland and Ireland. In Scotland they visited the Isle of Mull where they met Rev. D. M. Lamont, formerly pastor of the Church of Scotland here. On the way to Mull they passed Durant Castle where the Chief of the MacLean Clan lives.

Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. MacLean visited Ireland and in Belfast were shown through the huge York Linen Mills. They visited Dublin and then returned to England and spent some time seeing interesting places in Wales.

The unfailing courtesy of the London police was really remarkable, Mr. MacLean said. They took the trouble in the great coronation crowds to see that children got a place at the front where they would have an opportunity to see the procession. An American woman with a young child were among the spectators who had no place on stands and when the procession was passing a "Bobby" lifted the little girl to his shoulder to enable her to see.

Mr. and Mrs. MacLean met Mrs. W. S. Stewart and Hon. W. B. LePage and Mrs. LePage at Canada House in London. They did not see any of the other Prince Edward Islanders who were in London for the Coronation.

Mr. and Mrs. MacLean and Mr. and Mrs. Cameron arrived in New York in company with Dr. B. C. and Mrs. Keeping on the "Queen Mary" early this week and spent two days there and then went on to Montreal before returning to Charlottetown.

Coronation only the Beginning of Ceremonial Appearances for British Sovereigns

Actual coronation of King George VI was just the beginning of ceremonial rituals for the royal family, as the above parade ground picture of the king and queen, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose (behind her mother) indicates. Decorating 1500 dominion troops on this occasion, they also reviewed the fleet, received scores of officials, visited London Town and participated in dozens of ceremonies.
