"Romeo and Juliet" At Capitol Theatre

All the town is talking of the wonderful performance of Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard starring in "Romeo and Juliet" which opened last night at the Capitol Theatre, Summerside.
More radiant than ever, Miss Shearer fulfills the promise she gave as the lovely Elizabeth Barrett in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." It is her finest role. She rises to every occasion in a part made famous by the greatest actresses of the stage. Her Juliet has a breathless expectancy, a feeling of vibrant youth so essential to the portrayal of Shakespeare's immortal heroine. Howard's selection as Romeo was a happy one. He is every inch Romeo. Together they make these young lovers of Verona live again.
"Romeo and Juliet" has been pictured with fidelity. Beginning with the opening scenes, which establish the hatred of the Montagues and Capulets, whose feud is the cause of the tragedy, the death of Mercutio at the hands of Tybalt, Romeo's slaying of Tybalt to avenge his friend's death, his banishment and the swift dramatic events that follow, the picture is in all action. The love story is woven like a golden thread through this background.
"Romeo and Juliet" is recommended to every member of the family. It is a picture that will never be forgotten, for it is a picture that will live for years.

Sounds British

amount to giving Germany a free hand.

German Stand
The German position, as outlined to Lord Halifax, was said to consist of five main points:

1. Germany may return to membership in the League of Nations as long as the Reich is eliminated, for the connection between the League Covenant and the Treaty of Versailles is definitely abolished, if Article XVI of the Covenant (providing sanctions against an aggressor) is completely rewritten, and if rules laid down for the treatment of national minorities are revised to Berlin's satisfaction.

2. Germany is willing that Czechoslovakia shall remain independent, but under a federal system which would grant local autonomy to the provinces.

3. Without making specific demands of Great Britain with regard to Austria, Germany is said to ask that London refrain from any diplomatic or military aid to Vienna under any circumstances. Satisfaction of this request, it is generally agreed, would be the equivalent of giving Germany a free hand in Austria.

4. As a last date, Germany will ask British support for a return of the Reich's pre-war colonies, with the understanding that no military or naval base will be established in them which might threaten British interests or lines of communications.

(In a speech at Augsburg on Sunday, Chancellor Hitler said that in six years foreign countries "will be convinced of the necessity of taking practical measures" to meet the Reich's colonial demands.)

5. The Berlin Government is said to be ready to offer to mediate the Sino-Japanese conflict in a way which would safeguard British interests in China.

The Manchester Guardian (Liberal) suggested that an official British mission (Lord Halifax's visit was unofficial) may be sent to Germany before Reich Foreign Minister Konstantin Von Neurath pays an expected visit to London.

Completes Speedy Atlantic Crossing

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 22.—(CP HAVAS)—Paul Codon, French long-distance flyer, landed his transatlantic flying ship here today at 3:50 P. M. local time, five hours and seven minutes after leaving Buenos Aires on the other side of the continent.

Codon thus completed a speedy flight across the south Atlantic from Dakar, Senegal, to Buenos Aires, via Natal, and across the South American Continent. The flight from Le Bourget Field, Paris, to Buenos Aires was accomplished in a total elapsed time of 52 hours and 50 minutes, 16 hours better than the best previous time for a similar flight for a commercial plane.

It is not so long ago that Kensington had a good winter team so why can't they have another. As we said before, the meeting is to be held on Friday, Dec. 3rd at the Town Hall, so let's see that all of you who are interested are there. So far we haven't had any word from New Annap. How about it boys? —W.T.L.

COLOURED BLANKETS

Blanket-time! The shop windows are making almost as lavish display of blankets as for furs. But they are blankets with a difference. Coloured blankets are seen everywhere nowadays—pink and blue and yellow and mauve and green, all in pastel shades. They look most charming and well fitted to enhance any pet color scheme of one's choice.

After all we all have our colour-schemes nowadays, so why not blankets to match our bedrooms? And, of course, sheets and pillow cases too.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To The General Public

Almost six years ago, our firm started business in Kensington, and each succeeding year it has grown beyond our expectations.

We take this opportunity of thanking our many customers for their liberal patronage during those years.

We have been accommodating a considerable number of our customers in the way of credit, but we now find that to carry on successfully we must get back to cash or short term credit. We are therefore adopting the following system:

After December 1st, 1937, our terms will be preferably cash, but if charged, such bills will become due in 30 days from date.

We trust our customers will co-operate with us in this change, as we believe it to be in the best interest of all.

seem to indicate it."

The delegates sat in silence during Dr. Koo's address, the only one of the session.

"More words," he declared, "are impotent to restore peace or justice."

Sought Japanese Cooperation
He said the conference had had a "striking lack of fruitful results." The 19 powers met at Brussels Nov. 3 under the Nine-Power Washington Agreement to respect China's territorial integrity.

Confidence efforts mainly were directed toward getting cooperation from Japan, a treaty signatory who refused to send delegates to Brussels. A week ago the conference voted, but not unanimously, a declaration branding Japan as a treaty breaker. Italy opposed the declaration and the three Scandinavian countries abstained from voting.

American delegates said they viewed the proposed recess as an opportunity for the governments to consult among themselves in the hope some way eventually might be found to end the conflict. The conference could be reconvened by application of two signatory powers.

Delegates were agreed that any idea of coercive action against Japan could come up only after hope for conciliation had been exhausted and even then would be considered by the governments themselves before being brought before the conference.

Norman H. Davis, American delegate, planned to sail for home Thursday.

Neither Foreign Secretary Eden of Britain, French Foreign Minister Delbos nor Soviet Foreign Commissar Litvinoff attended. Their places were taken by Dominion Secretary Malcolm MacDonald, the French Undersecretary of State, Francois de Tesson, and Vladimir Potemkin, Soviet assistant commissar for foreign affairs.

The flight was the first the Japanese have made over Nanking since the Chinese Government announced last week its withdrawal to interior cities.

The Japanese planes did no bombing at Nanking but they shot down one of a number of Chinese planes that rose to meet them.

Among the Chinese craft were several of a new type, which supported reports that 50 Russian warplanes had been flown recently to Lanchow, in northwestern China, for inclusion in the Chinese forces.
