CAUSES WHY MEN FAIL IN LIFE'S BATTLES

Some Ruined by Gambling—Others Dabble in too Many Enterprises—Drink the Principal and Worst Cause of Failure Among Bright, Brainy Men.

The New York World some time ago invited confessions from those who felt themselves to have made a failure in life, and as will readily be supposed, there was no lack of responses. Most of the writers lay the blame of their poor success upon themselves, though some ascribe it to circumstances. One man, at least, charged his failure to his wife, but with no great show of justice, as is clear, even from his own statement. In any case, he should have changed his plea or held his tongue.

One man was ruined by gambling—which will ruin any man, no matter how rich he may get,—and another made a somewhat similar confession when he says he came to nothing through trying to get rich too suddenly. One man lays his poor success to lack of concentration and perseverance, but signs himself: "Try, try, try again;" and one has dabbled in too many things," made himself master of nothing, and consequently as he says, has to, "take the bottom place everywhere."

Still another man, a type of a large class fell through strong drink. He heads his sad story with a motto from Emerson, "The dice of God are always loaded," and thus continues:

I fell from an estate of influence, usefulness and ease to a condition of drunken pauperism because I lacked self-control, pride, ambition, discipline. I possessed some of the minor virtues—industry, integrity, honesty, chastity—but these proved an inadequate bulwark against the evils of social drinking.

Beginning business at twenty, with a fair education and a good knowledge of stenography, at thirty I was in charge of a newspaper and was an official court stenographer, blessed with wife and children and a peaceful home and in the enjoyment of an income of about five thousand dollars. Energetic, skillful, apt, I was successful in my official and private vocations; generally liberal, unselfish and open-hearted, I had many friends and a wide acquaintance.

I drank moderately and joined in an occasional game of poker with friends, laid an occasional wager on an election, a ball game or a horse race—never to the material depletion of my purse—and was neither a gambler nor a rake. Twenty years since companionable drinking at open bars was more respectable than it is now and being in daily companionship with lawyers, county officials, jurymen, witnesses and politicians who indulged in a social glass, I soon became a regular drinker.

As a consequence of over-indulgence, my health began to fail, and as custom grew into habit, I felt the need of stimulants when my work was prolonged or perplexing. I well remember the shock to my self-respect when I first took a drink alone, but I never stopped to "breathe and exercise the soul by assuming the penalties of abstinence.

Finally nervous prostration compelled me to resign my official position and to sell my badly encumbered business, and soon I was a wreck financially, physically and mentally; and one morning found me at a mirror gazing at my haggard features, and wondering if I had in reality gone mad.

Is it possible my story will cause any young drinking man to stop in his downward way? I, too, was sure that I could never sink to such depths, and I pitied the wretched ones below me. But here I am, and there are countless thousands coming my way. And they forget that the dice are loaded.

EASY TO STOP.

William Penn, the great Pennsylvania Quaker, was once advising a drunkard to leave off his habit of drinking intoxicating liquor.

"Can you tell me how to do it?" said the slave of the appetite.

"Yes," answered Penn; "it is just as easy as to open thy hand, friend."

"Convince me of that, and I will promise upon my honor to do as you tell me," replied the drunkard.

"Well, my friend, when thou findest any vessel of intoxicating liquor in thy hand, open the hand that contains it before it reaches thy mouth, and thou wilt never be drunk again."

The toper was so pleased with the plain advice that he followed it.

To Cure a Child of Croup

Wring flannel cloths out of hot water and apply them to the throat, changing them frequently. Make a tent over the crib by means of sheets over a screen or umbrella; then place a small tea kettle over an alcohol lamp near the crib and let the child inhale the moist vapor which may be conducted inside the tent, care being taken that the child does not come close enough to the hot steam to get burnt. If the attack is severe, you may give ten drops of syrup of ipecac every fifteen minutes until vomiting results. It would be best to keep the patient indoors for a day or two after the attack.—Emelyn Lincoln Coalidge, M. D., in the Ladies' Home Journal.

Most Powerful Snuff Known

On the Amazon river several Indian tribes use snuff, called paraca, which is made of the seeds of a species of plant. When a bout of snuff-taking is determined on the people become highly intoxicated and then use the snuff. The effect of paraca is so violent that the taker drops as if shot and lies insensible for some time; those more accustomed to it are highly excited, dancing and singing as if mad. The effect soon subsides. Other tribes use it to repelague during the wet season.

He Misunderstood

A citizen was riding outside of Regina a few days ago on a bicycle when something went wrong with the machine and the rider discovered he had no wrench with him. Meeting a man on the bicyclist inquired where he could find a monkey wrench. The intelligent foreigner, after scratching his head, replied: "Jam Galbraith, he keep one sheep ranch over there; me not know any monkey ranch."

Messrs C. C. FICHARDS & Co.

Dear Sirs.—While in the country last summer I was badly bitten by mosquitoes—so badly that I thought I would be disfigured for a couple of weeks. I was advised to try your Liniment to allay the irritation, and did so. The effect was more than I expected—a few applications completely curing the irritation, preventing the bites from becoming sore. MINARD'S LINIMENT is also a good article to keep off the mosquitoes.

RIVER FLOODS IN IOWA.

It has driven 84 families from their homes. Traffic on Rock Island and Iowa Central railroads has been abandoned, and it has been suspended temporarily on the main lines of the Burlington.

A WONDERFUL CASE.

Picked up a Newspaper and by so Doing Saved Her Husbands Life.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 14th. (Special)—George H. Kent, of 309, Gilmore St., was dying with Bright's Disease.

He was in the very last stages, and the physicians had given him up.

At last one evening the physicians told his wife that he could not live until morning.

While watching at his bedside Mrs. Kent happened to pick up a paper containing an advertisement of a cure of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

A messenger woke up the nearest druggist and procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, which Mr. Kent began to take at once.

He commenced to improve, and he was well and at work in two months. He has not lost a day through illness since.

That was seven years ago.

FOR THE LIVING.

O! why so chary of giving,
In the path we daily tread.
A little love for the living;
Why lavish it all on the dead?

They have gone to the great hereafter,
They have left us, who once were so dear.
They feel no heart hunger nor longing,
That is ofttimes our portion here.

So be not so chary of giving,
The path is short that we tread;
Better "a rose to the living,"
Than a laurel wreath to the dead!

—Ada D. Lawrence.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE

Read this letter from a well known Gentleman of Charlottetown.

Mr. J. K. Ross, Prov. Manager, The North American Life Assurance Co'.

DEAR SIR—I beg to acknowledge cheque from your company for $3,119., being proceeds of my 20 year endowment policy for $2,000, taken out 20 years ago when the North American first started doing business in this City. I may say the results are entirely satisfactory to me, and I only regret I did not take out $10,000, at that time as I consider it a first-class investment. In addition to carrying the insurance, I would advise all young men who can pay the premium to take out an endowment insurance early in life, as it will prove a systematic saving during their best earning years, and give them something to look forward to in middle life.

I have no hesitation in recommending the North American as being one of the strongest and best managed of our Canadian Companies.

Respectfully Yours,
BENJAMIN ROGERS.
