Dinnis - Wise Milk Producers And Vendors Annual Meeting

A wedding of interest to Charlottetown's younger set was solemnized in Trinity United Church at 7 o'clock yesterday morning when Rev. Hugh Miller united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Estelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Wise to Wesley, son of Mrs. J. R. Dinnis and the late Mr. Dinnis.

The couple were unattended. As the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given away, the organ, presided over by Professor A. Roy Kendall, pealed forth Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The bride was attractively gowned in brown chiffon velvet with hat to match and carried a bouquet of Talsman roses.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Lemuel McDougall sang most acceptably "O Perfect Love." The Church was beautifully decorated with cut flowers.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Dinnis left by motor on a honeymoon trip through Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and other parts of the Dominion. On their return they will reside in the city's suburbs where the groom is a successful fox rancher.

The bride's going away costume was a brown cloth ensemble with red fox trimmings, with hat and accessories to match.

A large number of wedding presents, consisting of cut glass, china, silverware, etc., attested to the popularity of the young couple.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was the guest of honor at a number of miscellaneous showers and bridge parties.

The Guardian extends happiest congratulations.

Down The Alleys Meeting Of United Church Presbytery

Island of the United Church of Canada met in regular session in the parlors of the United Church of Canada at eight o'clock on Tuesday, Nov. 5th, with a large attendance of ministers and lay representatives.

The Presbytery of Prince Edward Island of the United Church of Canada met in regular session in the parlors of the United Church of Canada at eight o'clock on Tuesday, Nov. 5th, with a large attendance of ministers and lay representatives.

At the afternoon session Rev. G. A. Christie reporting for the Missionary and Maintenance Fund Committee stated that in the last six years the number of duplex envelopes in use in the various Churches in the Presbytery had decreased by 12 1/2 per cent, and urged the greater use of the system of appreciation of his sermons.

Rev. John Stirling reported for the Committee on Students, and moved that the following students be recommended to continue their study as candidates for the Christian ministry: Wilfred E. Boothroyd, Garland Brooks, Donald C. Boothroyd, Gordon Garragh, J. A. Jardine, D. Wallace MacPherson, T. N. Mitchell, L. W. Murray, Alfred Setman, John M. Sheen, Roy E. Vessey, and Roy E. Webster, B.A. Eric Coffin was granted leave of absence for one year.

Death At Sussex Of Editor Of Maritime Farmer

SUSSEX, N.B., Nov. 6.—A brain hemorrhage brought death tonight to Malcolm A. MacLeod, 57, after an illness of nine months. Editor of the Maritime Farmer, an agricultural publication, he was outstanding among agriculturists of the Maritime Provinces.

At the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Farmers' Association two years ago, Mr. MacLeod became the only resident outside Nova Scotia ever to be made an honor member of that province. He was born at Loch Lomond, Richmond County, N.S., and studied at Sydney, Pictou Academy and the Provincial Normal School at Massetown, Colchester County, and elsewhere in Nova Scotia.

(The deceased was a frequent visitor to this city where he attended meetings during Farmers' Week and other agricultural gatherings. He formed many friendships among the farmers and was a most courteous and agreeable member of the newspaper fraternity.)

Mr. MacLeod was engaged in farming for a number of years at Loch Lomond before he went to Sussex to become Editor of the Maritime Farmer, a position which he held for thirty years.

He took ill on February 2nd and spent six weeks in the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal.

Mr. MacLeod was nominated as a Liberal candidate for the Provincial elections in New Brunswick last year, but his illness forced him to withdraw.

His son William MacLeod came to Charlottetown this week to cover the Fox Show and received the news quite unexpectedly of his father's death Tuesday evening.

The late Mr. MacLeod is survived by a widow, two sons, William on the staff of the Maritime Farmer, Sussex, Ian, in Lunenburg, Malcom, in Loch Lomond, also two daughters, Katherine, B.N. who nurses her father during his last illness, and Sally, at home; an aged mother, Mrs. William C. MacLeod at Loch Lomond and one sister, Mrs. M. P. Hinds, of Brighton, Mass., also survive. Mr. MacLeod was a member of the Masonic Order.

A highly esteemed resident of Sussex he always took an active interest in the welfare of the community and his death is being deeply regretted.

AGRICULTURAL MEETING AT WINSLOE A largely attended meeting of the farmers in and adjacent to Winsloe was held in the Winsloe Hall on Monday night, Nov. 4th. This meeting took place pursuant to request by many farmers who were at one time members of the Winsloe Live Stock Shipping Club so that re-organization of this club might be given consideration.

Mr. H. W. Clay of the Dominion Live Stock Branch gave a very appropriate talk on livestock feeding practices, and pointed out very clearly that it was necessary to feed a "balanced ration" if the animal being fed was to produce the results expected. Animal feed must contain ingredients that will produce the products aimed at, and in the proper proportions, and must be supplied in the necessary quantities if success is to be attained. It is not different in principle to that employed in the growing of potatoes, and that it requires balanced feed, in the other balanced fertilizer or plant food. Hogs that are fed on a proper combination of feeds will mature and go into consumption weeks and sometimes months earlier than those allowed to grow along from youth to old age on the opposite kind of attention. In the one case they are money makers, in the other a bill of expense. Mr. Clay also dealt fully with the advantage of rail grading and tressed weight marketing as recently introduced into practice, in comparison with similar attention on a live basis. He clearly pointed out that the former method had much to recommend it in preference to the latter, and that it tended towards the production of a better quality product, which of course was more profitable to the producer.

J. A. Gilles, Secretary of the Live Stock Marketing Board dealt briefly with livestock marketing, his problem. He emphasized the necessity of organization, co-operation and unity in marketing effort by producers as fundamental practices if farmers were to get their share of the "consumer's dollar." The old slogan that "Competition is the Life of Trade" is a grand thing when there is keen competition for a product between buyers, but when the situation is switched and there is "competition" among the producers, different groups marketing the same product, the one in competition with the other, then look out. The profits in that particular line of production is also "switched" to find a resting place other than with the old slogan that "Competition is the Life of Trade" to organize the farmers present to organize their club, and use it consistently in the marketing of their livestock. After some discussion by the farmers present, a vote was taken, and a unanimous decision to organize was arrived at. The following directors were elected and will hold their first meeting on Friday night, Nov. 8th, at the home of Hebert Horne, Director for Brackley Point, Preston Road; Brackley South, Charles Mallett; Winsloe North, Wilbur Younker; Winsloe South, Hebert Horne; South Milton, T. A. Rodd; North Milton, Ira Rodd; Royalty, Chas. Hurry.

Date of first shipment will be duly announced in the press.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The moon eventually will disintegrate into countless particles, bathing the earth in perpetual moonlight, Sir James Jeans, noted British scientist, predicted today.

"We have good reason to believe the moon soon will split into pieces," Sir James, who is head of the Royal Astronomical Society, declared.

He said the moon is heading for a danger zone near the earth and will first break into two, then four then eight segments, which eventually will become myriads. These particles will resemble Saturn's rings casting continual moonlight on the earth, he said.

Railway Notes

Major M. Galbraith, for forty years an employee of the C. N. R. at Charlottetown shops, died suddenly last week at his home in this city. He was over 70 years of age and had retired on pension ten years ago. A son of Robert Galbraith, organizer of the first band in Charlottetown, the late Mr. Galbraith was a cornetist, of marked ability, and in his early life he was ever sought and willingly gave his best as a performer at concerts and entertainments in aid of churches and charitable organizations. His funeral, which was largely attended, was held from the McLean Funeral Parlors and was conducted by Rev. Carlyle Webster. Funeral music was rendered by the Legion Band, which preceded the hearse, while the members of the League of the Cross Band, whom the late Mr. Galbraith instructed when they first organized over forty years ago, followed with the mourners. Sympathy is extended to his sons, Cowan D., C. N. R. fireman, Charlottetown; Hebert, of the C. N. R., Halifax, and Walter E., engineer on a government boat, Halifax.

Thomas Costello, C.N.R. plant inspector, Atlantic Region, was a visitor to the Island last week on official business.

S. T. Hays, C.N.R. engineer, Borden-Summerside, spent Sunday with his family in Charlottetown.

R. J. McDonald, C.N.R. lineman, was a passenger Monday by 39 train en route to Borden on railway business.

D. W. Matheson, C.N.R. assistant baggagemaster, is visiting friends in Bradaabane.

Joseph Smith, C.N.R. machinist, Moncton, is spending a holiday with his family in Charlottetown.

S. T. Hays, C.N.R. engineer, Borden-Summerside, spent Sunday with his family in Charlottetown.

W. H. Macleod, C.N.R. roadmaster, was a passenger west Monday morning on railway business.

T. A. Doyle, C.N.R. fireman on the switcher, Borden, spent Sunday with his family in Charlottetown.

Elmer Boyer, divisional accountant, was pleasantly surprised last Saturday morning when the office staff of the C.N.R. headed by Superintendent E. W. McKinnon, assembled in the chief accountant's office to honor him on the occasion of his recent marriage. Mr. McKinnon tendered Mr. Boyer the good wishes of his fellow workers, with the gift of a silver service and silver salver. The presentation was made in a short address by Clerk E. A. McDonald.

Frank Keedy and S. P. Yull, C.N.R. locomotive firemen, Truro, have been temporarily transferred to the Island Division to take care of spare work.

Mr. Fitzgerald, C.P.R. locomotive engineer, St. John's, is visiting in Charlottetown, the guest of his sister, Mrs. Mitchell, wife of C. J. Mitchell, Patriot reporter.

Mr. Steeves, C.N.R. claims agent, Moncton, was in the city last week on business.

Railway employees here have learned with regret of the sudden death last month in Boston of Roy S. Jollymore, for many years telegraph operator at Charlottetown. Mr. Jollymore was born in Pictou, and while attending the Academy there he worked with the Western Union, afterwards going to Saint John where he learned wireless telegraphy, and at the age of 18 he was given charge of the wireless station at the Margden Islands. Well sympathetic with his wife, former Miss May Jamieson of Guysboro, who made many friends during her stay in Charlottetown. Two sons, Ray and Chester, also survive.

Preston B. MacLaine, C.N.R. machinist, Moncton, has been transferred to the Charlottetown shops, succeeding George H. Chandler, who has just retired on pension after 47 years of service.

Robert A. Duncan, C.N.R. carman, Charlottetown, has been promoted to coach carpenter vice Charles H. Hine, retired on pension after 31 years service.

John McFarlane, C.N.R. carman, Borden, has been transferred to Charlottetown, succeeding R. A. Duncan, promoted and E. E. Richard, laid-off carman, Borden, fills the vacancy caused by Mr. McFarlane's transfer.

PIMPLES? OILY SKIN? LARGE PORES? BLACKHEADS? RED ROUGH HANDS? MILLIONS END UGLY SKIN FAULTS

—with this famous "miracle cream"

THE smartest dress, the most appealing personality, lose their charm if your complexion is bleached or your hands red and rough. That's why countless women now use Noxzema Cream regularly—for faces and hands. For Noxzema is a "skin medicine in cream form—designed especially to correct skin troubles and to restore the skin to normal, healthy beauty."

Ordinary creams fail to correct pimples, oiliness, large pores or blemishes. A medicated cream is needed to soothe the skin of clogged impurities—to soothe and heal sore, tender skin—to refine roughened texture. Noxzema does all this.

Use Noxzema Cream every night for a week after removing make-up and during the day as a powder base. How much softer, smoother, lovelier your complexion will become. For beautiful hands, too Noxzema is just as helpful for hands.
