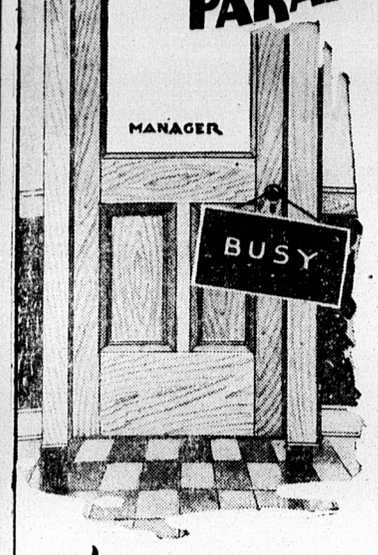
Is there a PARADOX in this picture?



The man behind the "busy" sign is a hard-working executive. He realizes his responsibilities and often thinks about making his Will, and choosing an Executor of his estate. But... he is so busy providing for his family's future that he hasn't yet properly safeguarded his efforts.

If your own Will is yet to be made, or the conditions under which it was first prepared have changed, you should lose no time in taking effective steps. We should be glad to assist you, and as Executor or Trustee offer you the strength, reliability, and efficiency that result from forty-seven years of experience and progress.

Planes Made Available For British Here

OTTAWA, May 24 —(CP)— Responding to a request from the British government for certain airplanes, the Canadian government has informed London "that these airplanes would be available and would be forwarded at once," air minister Power told the Commons today.

Asked by Joseph Harris (Con. Toronto- Danforth) if Canadian fighter planes were being sent to Britain, Mr. Power said:

"Some 10 days ago the government offered to place at the disposal of the government of Great Britain all the equipment in the way of airplanes which it might require and which were in Canada.

"The government of Great Britain is fully aware of the supplies and equipment which we have here and some days ago it requested a certain number of different types of airplanes, the particulars of which I do not think I should give to the House.

"This was received on Tuesday last and on Tuesday evening a reply was sent to the effect that these airplanes would be available and would be forwarded at once."

Italy's Soldiers Told To Tighten Ranks For War

ROME, May 24—(CP Havas)—Italy's soldiers were told to tighten ranks and make the "new road of Empire ring with the solemn and inflexible cadence of their marching battalions" in a message addressed to the army by Crown Prince Humbert today on the anniversary of Italy's entry into the First Great War.

The Crown Prince, commander of Italy's first army group, said the armed forces are at the beginning of "the triumphal march of the Italian people."

"Troops of Italy, raise your flags, covered with glory, tradition and memories," the message said. "Soldiers who know every heroism and every sacrifice, veterans of three wars, tempered by hard battles, accustomed to the triumphs of victory, and young infantrymen who are training enthusiastically to be worthy of your ancestors, tighten your ranks and make the road of Empire ring with the solemn and inflexible cadence of your battalions!"

"Beyond all risks and all aims, our command must always be for the glory of the King-Emperor and the grandeur and power of the immortal fatherland. Long live Italy! Hail the King and Il Duce!"

Book Portrays Unique Phases Of Royal Tour

R. K. CARNEGIE'S "AND THE PEOPLE CHEERED" SHOWS KING AND QUEEN APART FROM SPECTACULAR, REVIEWER SAYS.

Written for The Canadian Press
By DR. H. L. KEENLEYSIDE

One year ago their Majesties The King and Queen arrived in Canada. Looking back through the haze of intervening months, through the spectral annals of these crowded days, the Royal Visit takes on something of the nostalgic quality of a delightful but half-forgotten dream. To contrast the substance of that dream with the hideous nightmares with which Europe and Asia are crowding our headlines today is to measure the extremes of which man, in his capacity as a political animal, is capable.

It is well to be reminded, even in the midst of a conflict which demands the concentrated effort of every element in our national life, of happier days that have been, and will again return. For this reason, as well as for its intrinsic qualities as a sparkling record of an exceptional event, the publication of Mr. Carnegie's chronicle of the Royal Visit will be received by Canadians with interest and satisfaction.

The selection of R. K. Carnegie to act as the sole representative of Canadian journalism on their Majesties' voyages to and from Canada was at once an obvious and an admirable choice. In the first place he was the superintendent in Ottawa of that great co-operative organization, The Canadian Pres. In addition he was, and is, an acute and thoroughly competent newspaperman. The Prime Minister and his colleagues recognized in Mr. Carnegie those qualities of character, mind and personality which would make him a suitable representative of Canada and of his profession on a difficult yet enviable assignment. Those who read "And the People Cheered" will recognize the wisdom of the choice.

Published in Ottawa

Mr. Carnegie's book, which is published by the Legionary Library here under the auspices of the Canadian Legion, is not intended to be a comprehensive account of the Royal Visit. There is already a plethora of such records. The author has sought rather "to portray their Majesties in that atmosphere where they were to some extent liberated from the spectacular ceremonies attendant upon their presence among us, to tell something of the organization that lay back of the tour, of the personalities who had a great deal to do with it, and of the reactions of the Canadian people. . . ." In this aim he has succeeded. With clarity of thought and incisive phrase he has reproduced those essential qualities of a great event which comprise, but also extend far beyond, the mere detail of the official programme. "And the People Cheered" is more effective in providing an accurate understanding of the significance, the dimensions and the atmosphere of the Royal Visit than any other published work. And it is as entertaining as it is intelligent.

The book has a large number of delightful and pertinent illustrations and is attractively bound. It deserves the wide distribution it will undoubtedly achieve.

FINANCE

By Frederick Gardner
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, May 26—(AP)—War gloom lifted a trifle in the stock market Saturday, without any especial news to account for it, and leading issues ended a generally disappointing week with a fair-sized rally.

Steels, aircrafts and coppers came to the fore for gains running to 3 or more points. Top gains were reduced in most cases at the close.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks held a net advance of .3 of a point at 38.1 but for the week showed a net loss of 2.3 points.

Transfers for the two hours totalled 554,330 shares compared with 1,663,270 last Saturday.

Canadian issues were quiet, Distillers Seagrams and Walkers, each up 1-2, showing the widest movements on the big board. International Nickel dropped 1-2, on the curb, Brazilian Traction moved up 5-8 but other Canadian stocks showed little change.

Among prominent share gainers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Sperry, Lockheed, Anaconda, Kennecott, Du Pont and Sears Roebuck.

Losers up to a point or so included Dow Chemical, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak and Standard Oil of N. J.

Above is reproduced one of the new War Saving Stamps which will be on sale to the Canadian public on Monday May 27th. Shadow Airplane Factory Head To Be Replaced

LONDON, May 24 —(CP Cable)—Lord Beaverbrook, minister for aircraft production, announced tonight the retirement of Lord Austin from the chairmanship of the Shadow Aero Engine Committee. He is to be replaced by W. R. Rootes, president of the Society of motor manufacturers and traders.

Lord Austin headed the committee from its formation in 1936 and was largely responsible for coordinating the work of six Shadow factories.

Mr. Rootes, an authority on transport and motor manufacture, is associated with a number of automobile firms. He is a member of the board of trade advisory council and the overseas trade development council.

Daily War Survey

(By The Canadian Press)

Capture of the Channel port of Boulogne by the Germans despite vigorous resistance indicates the enemy is able to move forces and supplies forward through his corridor across France and Belgium in the face of Allied pressure on the sides of the corridor.

The corridor has now been narrowed to a width of 20 miles, according to weekend reports and further pressure is being exerted by the Allies with a view to cutting it off completely, isolating the German advance forces in the coastal region and restoring communications between the British, Belgian and French troops in the north and the main French armies in the south.

That pressure against the corridor, combined with the work of the Royal Air Force in bombing assembly points and communications constitutes a real threat to the enemy. So long as the present situation continues and Allied pressure is not relaxed enemy losses in mechanized equipment and supplies, not to speak of men, are bound to be heavy.

The Allies may be inferior in numbers of aircraft and in the quality and quantity of land vehicles but they are not inferior in gun power and the long German corridor is exposed to Allied gunfire on both sides.

Minard's kills pain.

East Indies Follow Fleet Moves Carefully

BATAVIA, Java, May 26—(AP)—Movements of the United States and Japanese fleets in the Pacific are followed with interest by residents of the Netherlands East Indies who, since Germany overran their homeland, have manned their land, sea and air defences and interned 5,000 fifth column suspects.

East Indies authorities lost no time in clearing for action when the Germans invaded Holland. They rounded up fifth column suspects, impounded property amounting to almost $100,000,000 and seized 18 enemy ships. Ten of the vessels are going out to sea under the British flag.

The Netherlands officials are attempting to follow a calm middle course in trade dealings with their new Allies and with their Japanese neighbors.

(Both the United States and Japan have taken stands for maintenance of the status quo in the Netherlands East Indies. Dutch officials have made it clear they would reject any offer of protection.

(At the start of the invasion of Holland, Foreign Minister Vankleffens said that by far the greater part of the Dutch navy was in the East Indies and that the colonial air forces included up-to-date bombers and 100 fighting planes).

The Islands will be able to feed raw materials to the Allies, the United States and Japan if the production machinery is adjusted.

Sees Printing Press Destroying Nazi Juggernaut

NEW YORK, May 24 —(AP) — The printing press, invented in Germany 500 years ago will ultimately destroy the Nazi juggernaut now rumbling through Europe Mayor F. H. Laguardia told 1,700 students in "printing day" ceremonies at the New York world's fair today.

"German mechanized destruction has all Europe trembling," he said. "But the printing press which they invented will be stronger than the mighty weapons they are now using and can destroy those weapons by dispensing intelligence among the people themselves."

Referring, apparently, to printed propaganda, Laguardia declared "a press that is not free and honest is worse than no press at all."
