Invention To Identify Bullets

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The newest development in criminology, the scientific determination whether a bullet taken from the body of one who is shot came from a particular revolver, was demonstrated to 150 military and naval surgeons from this and other countries in the Naval Hospital, Brooklyn, yesterday.

The surgeons were shown an instrument completed only two days ago, which for the first time makes it possible to examine through a microscope and to photograph every portion of the inside of a revolver or rifle barrel.

The demonstration was by Chas. E. Waite, criminologist, and his associates of the Bureau of Forensic Ballistics, this city, in whose laboratories the new method was developed.

Surgeon Gen. Cummings of the United States Public Health Service, fired a revolver bullet into a barrel of waste. It was recovered and compared with the test bullet fired from the same revolver.

The two bullets were put in special holders under two microscopes with a single eyepiece. The microscope is so arranged that the same portion of each bullet is before the eye at one time.

Every gun-barrel bears on its inner surface minute ridges and scratches, caused by the uneven edges of the tool with which the rifling grooves were cut. In no two barrels are these marks ever alike.

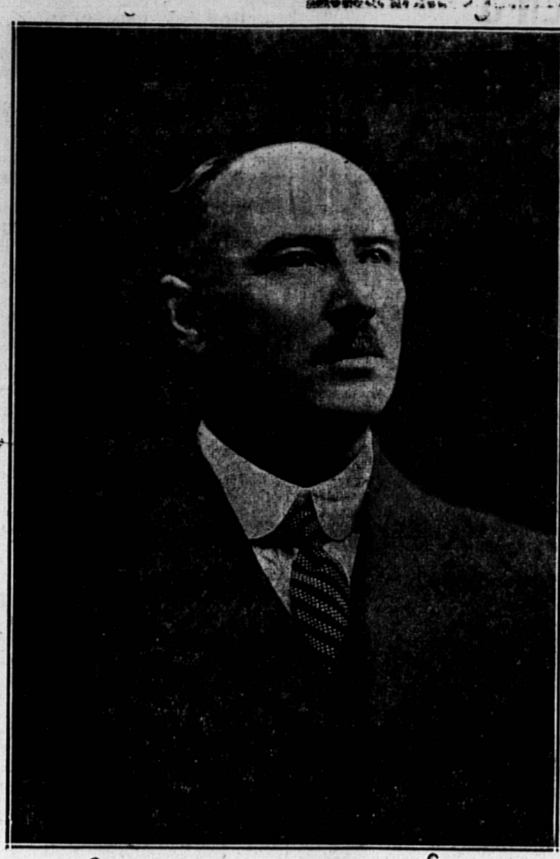

Each barrel stamps the bullets fired through it with replicas of these hundreds of fine lines. Placed under the instrument, if the bullets compared are from the same gun the lines match; if fired from different barrels the lines never can match.

The new instrument is called a heliometer. It is a long tube, smaller in diameter than a pencil, fitted with minute lenses of high power. At its tip this tube has an electric bulb no larger than a grain of wheat, but so powerful the whole length of a rifle barrel can be illuminated for microscopic examination.

Mr. Waite told the surgeons this instrument will be used principally for examination of guns in murder cases to trace defects and markings in the barrels which leave scratches in bullets.

It will be used also to determine the manufacture of a gun which bears no identifying marks. This can be done by measuring the angle on which the helical grooves are cut.

And then denied that he knew Christ. And to confirm it swore and cursed.

HON. J. E. SINCLAIR Liberal Candidate for Queens County

All the above four were good men, and Christ did not of them condemn; Their failings were by Him forgiven, and now they are secure in Heaven.

But Jesus is most merciful, Of love and mercy He is full; Out of His fulness we must receive Blessings the world can never conceive.

In His mercy we will rejoice, Aloud in praise we'll raise our voice; His mercy now He offers free, Who will accept shall glory see.

We'll meditate now on His love, Which brought Him down from heav'n above; His love our race did not deserve, The enemies of God they were.

But still His love He did bestow, Redeeming them from every woe; Christ died for them on Calvary, What greater proof of love could be?

The saints to heaven Christ will bring, Of this believers now can sing; Their hope for heaven now is bright, Their souls are filled with heavenly light.

The love of God in them's begun, And every evil now they shun; For now they walk the narrow way, And nearer heaven get each day.

The more on Christ we set our mind, The more in Him we ever find, And richer in all graces shine, And more each day for heaven pine.

We think of Him upon the cross, Where our salvation finished was; 'Twas there our sinful debts were paid, And Christ severely for us paid.

Harris Indignant At Ban Johnson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Denying that he had pitched Walter Johnson in the final world series game at Pittsburg yesterday for "sentimental reasons," Bucky Harris, manager of the Washington Senators, declared on his return here early today that he considered the criticism of his pitching selection by President Ban Johnson, as a slight on the Washington pitcher.

Harris' statement was made in reply to a telegram sent him by Johnson from Chicago, in which the league president, tempered his congratulations for a "game fight" with the assertion that Washington lost the series "because of sentimental reasons" in pitching Johnson.

"Sentiment played absolutely no part in my decision to pitch Johnson," Harris declared in his statement. "He pitched wonderful ball. I regard it as reflection on Walter Johnson to have such a thing said about him. President Johnson's remarks, if his telegram has been correctly quoted, are gratuitous and would have been better left unsaid."

The Washington manager said he had no allibis to offer for the loss of the final game and the series. "The breaks were somewhat against us," he added. "Our team went down fighting and I feel that we will be in the thick of it next year. We are not dismayed by the decision."

WELDON L. CROSMAN FLITS "DOWN HOME" AND VISITS MANY OLD FRIENDS.

(In Oakland Maple Leaf.) The Maple Leaf last month published a paragraph of the lives and his good wife "spent two happy weeks on P. E. Island" in August. Unfortunately, Mrs. Crosman did not participate in the happiness, for she did not accompany me, owing for one reason, to her reluctance to attempt to keep up with me on my traveling schedule. A cousin has called my short calls on relatives as "whizz-bang visits."

I had a happy time, all right, and believe I broke my best record in the number of relatives and friends I saw in the time at my disposal.

I left Boston on the Steamer Prince Arthur on August 9, direct for St. John, landed there the following morning and returned by the same craft on August 25. During that time I visited in Moncton and Campbellton, N. B., Charlottetown, Union North, Summerside, Cape Wolfe, Halliburton, Wellington, Southwest, North Bedouque Central Bedouque, Crapaud and Middleton, P. E. I.; Anderson and Middle Sackville, N. B. and had a short interview with a second cousin on the station platform at Sussex, N. B., both going and returning.

I believe the outstanding incident on my trip was on Sunday evening, August 16, when I attended preaching service in the Springfield Baptist Church on the O'Leary Road. I heard an excellent sermon by the Rev. J. H. Coppeland, who is an Englishman, but had preached in Nova Scotia before his call to the island. After the sermon he asked for testimonies from the congregation that filled the church, and many were given. I decided to testify as to my experience in the Christian life. All eyes were in my direction. Only about ten persons present knew who I was. I concluded my remarks by quoting the chorus of an old-time popular hymn, as follows: "Happy days, happy day, When Jesus washed my sins away. When I thought how to watch and pray, And live rejoicing every day." When I sat down the minister started singing the hymn, the congregation joining in earnestly. After some more testimonies a member of the chorus started the second verse and that was sung with enthusiasm. With the good sermon, the singing and the testimonials, one would expect some conversions, but when the time came to stand up no one signified a willingness to depart from the worldly life. In one home I visited a 5-year-old boy was learning to sing that chorus.

I was gratified to learn that half a dozen of my relatives had become church members and were living lives of righteousness. For some time there has been agitation in Canada to unite the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational Churches. Plans were all completed some time ago and for some months Presbyterian congregations on the island have been holding on the issue. Some have voted for union, but the minority in most cases have decided not to abide by the decision of the majority and have started a new congregation by hiring a hall or holding services in a friendly Baptist church, probably having a Baptist minister preach. All this has stirred up a lot of bitterness, and instead of presenting a united front to Satan and sin by union, their actions must prove a source of meritment for the un-Godly. The union of the three denominations is called the United Church.

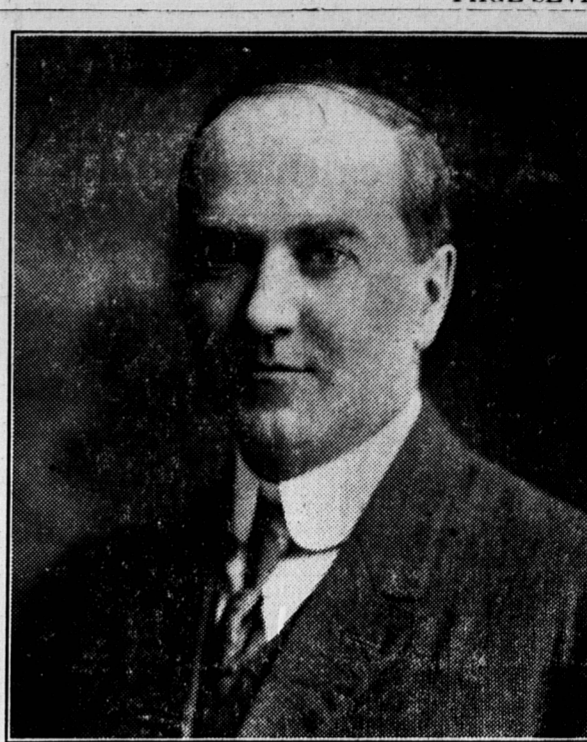

Personally I believe that union is the proper thing, even on the score of economy and efficiency. I know a minister in RR-ers who favors union and he tells that on one street corner stood a Methodist Church where on Sunday evening the choir and congregation were singing "Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown?" and on the opposite corner was a Presbyterian Church, where they were singing, "No, Not One." On a third corner stood a Congregational Church and they were joyfully singing, "Oh, That Will Be Glory For Me."

I was pleased to find abundant crops on the island. Most farmers had finished haying when the town came there. Harvest had commenced before I left. Now that crops are good the farmers are wondering what price they will receive for their product.

It was in 1923 that I visited the scene of my boyhood and in two years changes have been made. There seems to be more fox ranches than two years ago, some even located in the town limits of Summerside.

The caretaker of the People's Cemetery, Summerside, has been efficient, John Tucker is now the efficient man in charge. He keeps the city of the dead in beautiful condition.

The island railroad seems to be giving more service than usual, due to the fact that a "jitney" now runs from Tignish to Charlottetown. Said "jitney" not as large as some street cars and larger than some others. The front end contains the motor and space for considerable baggage. The rest of the car is devoted to seats. It furnishes a comfortable ride and is right on schedule at every station. The conductor and operator compose the crew.

R. HAROLD JENKINS Liberal Candidate for Queens County

One may judge as to the number of visiting automobiles on P. E. Island this summer by the fact that from May 1 to August 15, the car ferry steamer carried 1,050 autos to "The Garden of the Gulf."

Radio apparatus is installed in some homes. I observed a loud speaker in one farm house where there is a large family to listen and accompanied by the States and elsewhere.

Although in Summerside on the day of the New Annan horse races, I did not attend. Had I done so I might have met Henry Jamieson, who was visiting in Summerside at that time or perhaps I had a chance to renew acquaintance with Martin Welch, who hadn't been in Summerside for 39 years. He is a tall and located at Parrsboro, N. S. Both men had been inquiring for me, so I was told.

An aunt of mine in Anderson, who is approaching a century of life, entertained with some reminiscences. She has never been on a railroad train. In her youth she crossed from Shediac to Summerside in a sailing craft to 25 cents, and returned for the same price. The half dollar was the only money she ever spent for transportation. Two sailing crafts were cutting races between the two ports, hence the low cost for a long sail.

The streets in Charlottetown have been given a splendid smooth surface. They must be a delight to the autoist.

On August 16 Editor John Pond of The Pioneer, Summerside, accompanied by his son, started for Charlottetown, in a canoe. They successfully sailed the Strait, arriving at their destination the next day. I'd call the editor an intrepid navigator.

During the 17 days I was traveling I saw only one intoxicated person. He was a passenger on the Prince Arthur going to St. John, and had imbibed enough to act silly. No wonder stuff is prohibited that steals away the brain and makes a person foolish.

I returned to my employment convinced that two vacations a year of six months each would suit me just right.

Au revoir!

ANAEMIA ROBS ITS VICTIMS BY STEALTH

Conditions of Thin Blood That Could be Corrected Easily by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Are Stealing the Energy of Many Women and Girls.

Every mother should know how to recognize the symptoms of anemia for this disease makes its approach so gradually and so stealthily that it is often far advanced before it is noticed. Anemia literally means bloodlessness and it is the cause of much unhappiness and loss at this time.

Simple anemia is thought to be due to lack of sunlight, to improper nourishment and insufficient out-of-door air. It is most common among people who are confined indoors by their occupations and among those who do not eat regularly or who do not select a proper diet.

Lock Out for These Symptoms. The one general symptom of anemia is pallor. The cheeks gradually lose their color, the lips become white. With this loss of color there comes a tendency to fatigue, a palpitation of the heart and breathlessness after slight exertion, with occasional headaches.

Even in health the lips are not really any redder than the rest of the skin but they are transparent and allow the red blood to show through. The part of the blood that gives it its color is the red corpuscles and these corpuscles are made red by the hemoglobin they contain. Therefore when the blood is deficient in hemoglobin the lips are pale. Thin blood is not to be confused with impure blood which causes the lips to become purple.

Any Girl Can Tell But this condition is corrected with so much ease that no one should remain anemic longer than a few days. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills supply the elements necessary to enrich the blood with such certainty that a microscopic examination after short treatment shows the actual percentage of increase in the corpuscular count. But so marked is the improvement that a microscope is unnecessary. Any girl can tell by the growing redness of her lips that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are making her blood rich and red.

In ordinary anemia conditions including the anemia that afflicts girls in their teens, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are all the medicine required. Fresh air, sunlight, proper food and drink taken without haste a little rest after meals and no worry will make recovery complete.

suffer at times from fits of depression or low spirits, from which they are unable to free themselves. They cannot attend to their duties satisfactorily and are unable to get any pleasure out of life. People who suffer in this way soon lose their energy of mind and body. They lack vitality because their blood is poor and ill-nourished, and their nerves are starved in consequence. The only way to obtain new health is by building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The new rich blood made by these pills will carry renewed health and energy to every part of the body. Your appetite will improve, your spirits brighten and you will be endowed with fresh energy and find a new joy in living. Mrs. G. Reid, Napanee, Ont., tells of the benefits she found through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says: "I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills on different occasions and cannot emphasize too strongly the benefits derived from them. I was growing nervous, my complexion was becoming sallow and my eyes dull and listless. My vitality was poor and I did not sleep well. I became despondent, losing interest in my work, which seemed to tire me so easily. I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking six boxes I began to enjoy life again and looked much brighter and felt happier. My appetite improved, I gained in weight and could sleep without any nervous wakefulness during the night. I also used these pills while nursing my baby and found them a wonderful help for both myself and for making my baby better natured. For these reasons I gladly recommend them to anyone who needs a tonic for the rebuilding of strength and energy."

Too Weak to Walk. "I owe my present good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," says Mrs. Annie Treherne, Brandon, Man., who tells of her new-found health as follows: "Some years ago I had an attack of pneumonia and it left me in a terribly weakened and run down state. I was unable to walk for a long time and I had practically lost the use of my legs and had to be carried upstairs for I had not the strength to go myself. I became despondent over my condition for I had tried many remedies which failed to help me. While in this wretched condition a lady friend urged me to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and I procured a supply. After taking the pills for a while I could see that I was growing stronger, and I gladly continued their use until I had fully regained my old-time health and strength. Now if I feel at all run down at any time I at once take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they never fail me. I can therefore warmly recommend them to others who may be run down."

Nature Gives Warning. Pain is one of the Nature's warnings that something is wrong with the body. Indigestion, for instance, is characterized by pains in the stomach, and often about the heart; rheumatism by sharp pains in the limbs and joints; headaches are a sign that the nerves or stomach are out of order. In some ailments, such as anemia, pain is not so prominent. In this case Nature's warning takes the form of pallor, breathlessness after slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, and loss of appetite. Whatever form these warnings take wise people will not ignore the fact that many diseases have their origin in poor blood, and that when the blood is enriched the trouble disappears. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are most helpful in such cases because they purify and build up the blood to its normal strength. In this way it tones up the nerves, restores the appetite and gives perfect health. Miss Hazel Berndt, of Arnprior, Ont., has proved the great value of this medicine and says: "I am a young girl and have been working in a factory for the past four years. For two years I had been in such poor health that at times I could not work I was thin and pale, and troubled with headaches and fainting spells. I doctored nearly all this time, but it did not help me. My mother advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using them for a while I could notice an improvement in my condition. I used nine boxes and can truthfully say that my health is restored. When I began taking the pills I weighed 97 pounds and now I weigh 114. I feel that I owe my good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and hope other ailing people will give them a fair trial."

A very useful book "Building Up the Blood" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail post paid, on receipt of price, 50 cents a box. Try them to-day.
