Logging Camp Raid Sparks 17 Court Cases In Nfld.

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP)—Seventeen men appeared in magistrate's court here Saturday following a raid on a logging camp 80 miles northeast of this west coast pulp and paper town. RCMP said the 17 men were rounded up "early in the day and through the day" and charged following an attack on a Bowater's Newfoundland Pulp and Paper Mill Limited camp early Friday. RCMP Inspector Arthur Argent said men at the camp counted 35 cars in the raiding party. RCMP Sergeant Allan Anstey, in charge of the detachment here, said the 17 face "a variety of charges, mostly theft and assault." Sgt. Anstey said another man is still being sought. The men were remanded until today without bail. RAIDERS WELL ORGANIZED—Inspector Argent said earlier the number of raiders was estimated at 200 and it would seem that the whole thing was well organized. The 1,200-member local of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) at Grand Falls, Nfld., has been on strike against the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company since Dec. 31. Inspector Argent said the raiders arrived at the Bowater's camp at dawn Friday and ordered about 85 workers to leave. Some of the employees made their way to Deer Lake, about 30 miles away, and notified RCMP. In addition to the theft and assault charges, Inspector Argent said charges of intimidation may be laid. CLOSE BEFORE SIGNING—Bowater's and the Anglo-Newfoundland Company issued a joint statement Friday that they would shut down their operations rather than sign an agreement with IWA. The union has no working agreement at present with either company. Bowater's assigns its pulpwood cutting operations to 40 contractors who in turn hire between 2,000 and 5,000 men depending on hauling and other conditions. The woodworkers union claims certification for at least 25 of the contractors, each of whose operating area may include as many as three separate camps. Anglo-Newfoundland hires its own men, mostly IWA members. The 1,800-member local 64 of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (IBP) has indicated it will provide financial assistance to 450 loggers in the Deer Lake area who have walked off their Bowater's jobs. The local is made up of workers at Bowater's mill here. The IWA has been on strike to

Survivors include his sister, Mary, who resided with him, and one brother Joseph, a resident of Ontario. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. McInnis, and one other sister, predeceased him. # Baddeckers Honor McCurdy At Dinner Saturday Night

By ANGUS MACDONALD
Canadian Press Correspondent
BADDECK, N.S. (CP)—The townsfolk of this Victoria County village, who in the past looked askance at achievements of their own kin, Saturday night paid tribute to 72-year-old J. A. D. McCurdy, the first British subject to make a powered flight in the Commonwealth. The testimonial dinner, held in the village hall, began ceremonies marking the 50th anniversary of the epic flight of the Silver Dart from Baddeck Bay. The flight will be re-enacted today by a new Silver Dart and an RCAF pilot. Upwards of 200 attended the dinner and another 600 were turned away. Some 10,000 visitors are expected to be here today. Just as the Dart took to the air in a final test flight Saturday, Mr. McCurdy landed in an RCAF aircraft. "That's the first time I have seen the Dart in the air," he said. "It recalls fond memories." Mr. McCurdy came from Montreal for the celebrations. He was accompanied by his son Robert and daughter, Mrs. Frank Hadford. Norman Bethune, one of Baddeck's leading citizens, and a close friend of the McCurdy family, introduced Mr. McCurdy at the banquet. He apologized for the length of time the town had waited to honor its most famous son. "It is regrettable that we in Baddeck should wait for the 50th anniversary of an event to express to you the feeling of our community," Mr. Bethune said. "This recognition is long past due." The citizens presented Mr. McCurdy with an engraved scroll. He said the testimonial dinner was "one of the highlights of my life." He recalled the events leading to the historic flight and said the flight itself was a "dramatic moment." "I mounted the seat, flexed all the controls and then gave the signal for the starting of the motor. In a minute or two the mechanics let go and the machine bounded forward and took to the air after a short run of about 150 feet. "I felt perfectly at home and rose to an altitude of 60 feet, levelled out and flew for about three-quarters of a mile and then descended. A perfect three-point landing was made and I taxied the machine back to her starting point." Records of the flight say the dart flew a one-half mile course. Dr. Alexander Graham Bell was standing up in the red sleigh and I shall never forget the pleasure and animation showing in his face as he said, "This has been wonderful." Dr. Bell, who headed a group of aviation pioneers, told Mr. McCurdy: "History may have been made, so let's have nothing mar the achievement. Put the machine away till tomorrow when you can fly to your heart's content."

Goalkeepers for the Trinity team were Jamey Kennedy (2) and David Campbell. Norman Bethune, one of Baddeck's leading citizens, and a close friend of the McCurdy family, introduced Mr. McCurdy at the banquet. He apologized for the length of time the town had waited to honor its most famous son. # Yanks' Two-Price System For Wheat Bothers Canada

By GEORGE KITCHEN
WASHINGTON (CP)—Two wheat experts said Sunday the U.S. treasury has been used to enable American farmers to produce wheat at one price and to capture a large portion of the world export market by selling it abroad at lower prices. At the same time, they added, Canadian farmers have been accepting the prices at which wheat actually moved into domestic and foreign markets. As a result of the two-price American system U.S. surplus disposal operations were bound to have an adverse effect on Canadian export marketings for a long time to come. CAN BE CUT—But its seriousness, the experts said, could at least be reduced by a strong determination by the United States to "minimize adverse effects on commercial wheat markets" in the formulation and implementation of its disposal policies and practices. The report was written for the National Planning Association of the U. S. and Canada's Private Planning Association, two non-profit research organizations, by W. M. Drummond, a member of the Canadian royal commission on price spreads, and W. E. Hamilton, director of research for the American Farm Bureau Federation. They assessed U. S. methods of disposing of wheat surpluses in recent years, in the light of Canadian claims that such methods represented unfair competition, and concluded that the American programs "have had an adverse effect on Canadian wheat exports to some countries." SUBSIDIZE OR WITHDRAW—continues to hold the domestic price of wheat above the world market, they said, "it must subsidize exports or withdraw from the world market." "The latter is not likely to happen," they added. Their report emphasized the much larger role wheat plays in the farm economy in Canada than in the United States and the greater dependence of Canadian wheat farmers on export markets. It noted that Canadian wheat producers produce essentially for the world market price while U. S. growers produce for a guaranteed and subsidized price and receive considerably higher returns.

World Marks Are Broken In U. S. National Meet

NEW YORK (CP)—Ron Delany shattered his own indoor mile record with a 4:02.5 clocking and high jumper John Thomas topped any previous world performance indoors or out Saturday night in the national AAU track and field championships. A crowd of 15,769 in Madison Square Garden saw the Irish runner crack the world indoor record of 4:03.4 he set last year in Chicago and Thomas, a 17-year-old Boston University freshman, high jump to an unsurpassed seven feet, 1 1/4 inches. A few minutes earlier he had cleared seven feet for the third time in his career. The world outdoor high jump record is held by Yuri Stepanov of Russia, who cleared 7-1 last summer. FIVE RECORDS—In addition to the efforts of Thomas and Delany the following records, making five world standards in all, were set at the meet: 1. Lieut. Bill Dellinger of the U.S. Air Force smashed the three-mile mark with a clocking of 13:37, more than seven seconds off the old mark. 2. Parry O'Brien of Los Angeles got off a tremendous heave of 66 feet 2 3/4 inches to break his own world indoor standard in the shot put of 61 feet 5 1/2 inches. 3. Bob Backus of the New York Athletic Club flipped the 35-pound weight throw 82 feet 1 1/2 inches, breaking his own world mark of 65-4 1/4. The capacity crowd cheered Delany on an on while the 1,500-metre Olympic champion chased Istvan Roszavolygyi of Hungary. Laszlo Tabori of Hungary was third. Thomas, who thought of making a try at 7-2 and then decided against it, said it was his last indoor meet. "Personally I prefer to jump outdoors because landing on sawdust is a little softer," he said.
