For reasons unknown North jumped to three clubs, but then wisely subsided when South bid three diamonds. West led the king of spades, and, even though her partner played the eight, switched to a low heart.

Declarer now had no trouble making three diamonds, and could have made four, but she played safely to assure the contract.

There were wild doings at the second table, where the bidding went:

West	North	East	South
1♦	Pass	Pass	3♦
Pass	4♣	Pass	4♥
Pass	5♦

North should probably have passed three diamonds. True, the Swiss South had shown a strong hand by jumping to three diamonds, but the bid was by no means forcing and permitted North to pass. The plot thickened when South bid four hearts and North corrected to five diamonds. East now came to life and doubled.

West led the king of spades and continued with the ace, catching the queen. The J-10 of spades then followed, declarer ruffing the fourth round of spades in dummy with the jack. First, in the meantime, discarded two hearts.

Declarer now cashed the ace of clubs and ruffed a club, but later made only four more tricks to bring her to a total of seven. As a result, she went down four for an ignominious score of minus 1,100 points. The British gained 1,210 points on the deal.

Nobody can say the ladies don't bid 'em up sometimes!

MEETS BAUDOUIN

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller Wednesday had an audience with King Baudouin, of Belgium. Earlier, the visiting Republican met here with Walter Hallstein, West German president of the European Common Market executive commission.

1♠	Dble.	Pass	3♠
Pass	3♣	Pass	3♦

Opening lead—king of spades.

You never know when the axe will descend in team of four play. There is no good reason for what happened in this deal to have occurred, but the fact is that it did.

The hand was played between Switzerland and Great Britain in the women's world championship staged in Turin in 1960. When a British pair held the North-South cards, the bidding went as shown. West chose to open the bidding with a spade, instead of a club, and South doubled after two passes.

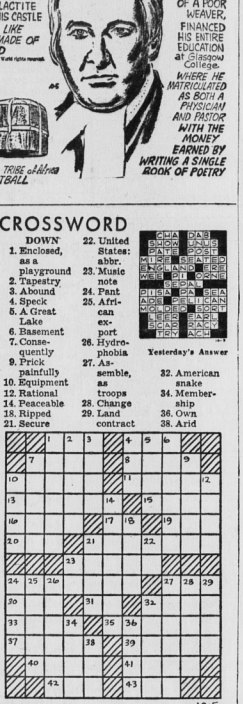
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Oliver To Head Ont. Liberals

TORONTO (CP)—The election - ravaged Ontario Liberal caucus has turned again to Farquhar Oliver, twice previously the party chief, to head the party pending a full leadership convention, possibly next spring.

He is believed to be the only Canadian political leader ever to head his party for three separate terms.

Mr. Oliver, whose 37 years as member for Grey South give him the longest unbroken term in the Ontario legislature, was voted interim leader unanimously towards the end of a 3½-hour caucus that saw defeated party chief John Wintermeyer bow out with a formal farewell.

ONCE WAS POOR

Key West, Florida's popular winter resort, had some 12,000 residents on relief in the depression of the early 1930s.
