Anglers Ready For Season Opening

Angling tales begin today as another fishing season gets under way, and anglers move into their favorite spot where they caught the "big one" last year. Preparations for today have been going on in Montague for the past week. Bods were rebound and shelled, reels oiled, and new lines bought, and of course, the inevitable can of garden flies is all ready, a lure that will attract even the most fastidious trout.

A large number of fishermen plan to move out in the early morning hours to try the Montague power plant dam. Others intend to go to Heatherde, Brudenell, Sturgeon, and Fortune. All, however, will be trying for one thing—to get the biggest trout of the day—to win the big prize, donated by Mabon Drug Co. Stories of "the big one that got away" won't count, no matter if he was twenty-two and a half inches long and weighed six and one-quarter pounds. Evidence alone will carry the day.

WHIM ROAD W. I.

Mrs. Cecil Campbell and Mrs. Robert Campbell were joint hostesses to members of the Whim Road Women's Institute when they met for their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, April 1st. There were eleven members and four visitors present.

The president, Mrs. Wesley Campbell, opened the meeting with the "Institute Creed" repeated by all. As this was the occasion of the birthday of one of the hostesses, Mrs. Cecil Campbell, a gaily wrapped box was presented to her. When it was opened, it was found to contain a mechanical mouse—the occasion also being April Fool's Day. Mrs. Campbell with a usual good humour enjoyed the joke along with the other members.

Roll call was answered by a footstool that had been made for the King's County Hospital in Montague. Two of these were received. Those not bringing a footstool donated a pencil for the pencil box. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Webb Nicholson attended to the business procedure by reading the minutes of the previous meeting and the correspondence received during the month. A note of appreciation was read from one who had remembered a birthday illness. Among the correspondents also was a receipt from the polo foundation for a donation sent in by the Institute during the "March of Dimes" campaign.

Completed work for the Red Cross, consisting of two tunics and one pair of overalls, was handed to Mrs. Cecil Campbell, the Red Cross convener. Further work was ordered. Cod liver oil capsules were distributed to those requiring them.

The different committees gave their reports as follows: School—It was reported that the school was badly in need of scrubbing and it was decided that this would be attended to by the members in the near future, before the Easter vacation.

Sick—The sick committee reported one call made during the month and a treat provided. Those appointed on the new committee were Mrs. Garnet Moore and Mrs. M. J. Munro.

Entertainment—The new entertainment committee appointed was Mrs. M. J. Munro and Mrs. Leslie Stuart.

On the kind invitation of Mrs. George Clary, the next place of meeting will be at her home. It was decided that for the roll call members would respond by asking a question on any subject.

Mrs. Webb Nicholson gave a very interesting demonstration on making a purse from crepe paper. She also pointed out that other articles could be made in much the same manner. The finished purse, in the shape of a half moon, was given a coat of shellac. The purse which Mrs. Nicholson displayed was very pretty and was admired by the members as it was passed around.

A penny sale was held by Mrs. Robert Campbell and the holder of the lucky ticket, chosen by Mrs. J. N. MacDonald, was Mrs. Webb Nicholson. Winners of the different contests put on by Mrs. Betty MacBeth and Mrs. Webb Nicholson, who were in charge of the evening's entertainment, were Mrs. J. N. MacDonald and Mrs. George Clary. A game of twenty questions was joined in by everyone.

At the conclusion of the meeting, members enjoyed a social chat during which time a dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Camp-
