Look Deeply into My Eyes

Who is Mike Mandel?

Mike was born in Manchester, England but grew up in Toronto. From an early age his primary interest was theatre arts, especially magic. As he grew, his interests turned to psychology and hypnotism/mentalism. Soon an interest hobby turned into a lucrative career, as Mike Mandel became a regular performer on the Canadian college circuit, emphasizing the entertainment aspect of his profession rather than flash.

No corny Las Vegas approach for Mike.

A typical Mike Mandel show involves a great deal of audience participation with up to thirty volunteers on stage at the same time. With the aid of his incredible powers of suggestion and persuasion Mike soon convinces them to believe the most ridiculous things. They may ride roller-coasters, fish for sharks, paddle imaginary canoes or even forget their own names!

RACISM:

Kalman. "She has quarrelled at one time or another with the majority of the faculty and also had serious problems in her job performance with the previous chairperson Dr. Dubas."

But, according to recently-obtained documents, Roberts was highly respected by Dubas, who chaired the department from 1974 to 1983. On June 20, 1983 Dubas sent a letter to the human resources department praising her job performance as his secretary for nine years.

"I found Mrs. Roberts a valuable, courageous and loyal employee of Concordia," he wrote.

Responding to allegations about the controversial needlepoint hanging, Kalman explained that it was based on a series of drawings done by a Black plantation worker. He denied that he repeatedly brought it to her attention as Roberts alleges in her complaint to the Human Rights Commission.

"It was first brought up by Mrs. Roberts after she saw a movie based on the drawings," he said. "We haven't discussed that needlepoint in years."

Roberts' complaint of intimidation is not the first to be levelled against Kalman. Last September, former Society of Physics Students president Tara Curtis wrote a letter of complaint to Concordia rector Patrick Kenniff.

"I feel Dr. Kalman intimidates some of the people he is associated with," wrote Curtis, a physics student from 1982 until 1988 who worked for the department as a laboratory demonstrator and marker. "As president, I had received several complaints from students relating to Dr. Kalman's attitude in dealing with them... and I was on a few occasions witness to Dr. Kalman's unfair treatment of some students."

For now, Roberts' status in the department remains in limbo. She was sent home the week of January 9 on full pay while the university decides how to handle her case.

According to Concordia's lawyer Richard Beaulieu, options being considered include offering Roberts a transfer to another department or the chance to take early retirement.

The Search for the Green

The Department of Student Services

On Feb. 5th the Registrar's Office will receive the last minute applications for the UPEI Memorial Bursary Fund. The applications will then be looked at, and the UPEI Scholarship Committees' choices made. The Committee will choose which students are to be awarded the various fund's awards: UPEI Women's Group Bursary; Merit Awards; Anonymous Bursaries; Alumni Student Union University Awards; Part-time Student Bursaries; and the Bernardine Hall Residence Bursary. All of these awards have different conditions of criteria, but all have the same Feb. 5th deadline date. The awards range from $100.00 to $500.00 and any effort on your part is obviously worth while.

The UPEI Memorial Bursary Fund is one file on hand in the Resource Area of the Department of Student Services. Other bursaries and scholarships are available for you to look into because of the 60 plus files in the undergraduate file drawer alone. (The graduate files take two drawers because there is more money available for graduate students).

I am available for financial advisement on Monday, and Wednesday mornings 9:30-11:30, and for most of the workday on Friday: 9:30-11:30, and 1:30-4:30. Financial as well as personal budgeting. Do drop by for the Department's resources, and remember that the search for the green begins with you.
