Town Projects Adjourned

The change of government resulted in a number of matters being left over to the August meeting of the Montague Town Council, one was paving of parking area and repairs to school street and the corner of Queens Road as well as patching in other areas. Also the purchase of a new fire truck and the placing of street lights at the foot of Wood Island Hill and the Queens Road entrance had to be left over.

Also left over to a future meeting was the feasibility of joining the Town Planning Association, and the replacing of a furnace in the town building.

During the report of the streets committee by chairman Councillor Cameron Reid it was noted the vapor lights program will continue shortly. Due to the strike parts and equipment for the program were held up.

A request from citizens in the vicinity of the new rink for a light is to be further considered. It was felt this light would be necessary at the rink.

A letter addressed to the council concerning the problem of parking at the Legion and Theatre which makes it difficult for people in this area to get in and out of their driveways was discussed, however, the matter passed without any decision being reached on what should be done.

At present three lanes are used for parking which also makes it difficult for fire equipment to get through. Most councillors expressed the opinion that two lanes should be the limit.

The sum of $100 was voted again this year for the Red Cross swimming classes and the town hall is to be made available for registration on Tuesday, July 19th.

Council members expressed their thanks to the Department of Public Works for the quick action on clearing and cleaning at the wharf following a request from the town.

The tender of $100 for the tearing down or removal of the Ada Collins buildings by the end of August, placed by Dan Baldwin, was accepted. Two other tenders one for $300 and one for $500 were also read.

The tax rate for the year is to be unchanged and will remain at $1.16 for each real and personal property.

The town policeman Ed Downe reported that $153 was taken in fines and that seven cases had been presented before the court.

Councillor Frank Greene stated he had several complaints over noise and traffic from residents. One of which was the racing and tearing of cars at the Beaver Club hall. The police will check into the cause of noise at this location which is said to take place late at night or in the early morning after the hall is closed.

A report from the Sanitation Division of the Department of Health regarding contaminated water supply in the School Street area was read by Town Clerk Mrs. C.M. Kennedy at the regular meeting of the Kensington Town Council last night.

The letter stated the source of contamination had not been determined. Suggestions were offered for possible elimination of the problem. After a lengthy discussion the Council decided not to take any action at the present time as further investigation is being undertaken by the Sanitation Division.

Building permits were issued to Ellsworth Cameron for an addition to his house and to W.S. MacLean to build a supermarket.

Bills to the amount of $2,717.84 were ordered paid, also payment of $4,500 to be made on debentures.

Mayor Everett Champion presided and councillors Bruce MacLeod, Elwood Clark, Linwood Tombs and D.S. Dunning attended.

Insurance Salesman Addresses Rotarians

By LORNE YEO

Dr. George F. Lengvari, Ph.D. an insurance salesman from Montreal, born and educated in Hungary, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of Rotarians in The Charlottetown Monday afternoon.

Introduced by Chairman Lloyd MacLeod, Mr. Lengvari stated, "nothing is certain except death and taxes, but I believe you can do a lot about both of them."

In speaking on "you tax dollar and your life insurance," he said, "I believe every person can arrange his affairs in such a way to attract the least amount of tax and still keep within the limits of the law."

"The man with a creative imagination holds the key to the future. Today we are selling insurance to people, who in a few years, will probably be on the moon."

"New companies, such as meat packers for instance, are doubling their interest every year, but what about the small fellow, can he do anything about taxes?"

Life insurance is a good investment because it is free from taxes, said Mr. Lengvari.

"I believe you can do something about death and taxes if you are a rule breaker but still keep within the law, have basic principals, are up to date, fight for what we believe is right and try to overcome the so-called impossible," he concluded.

Dr. Lengvari, who is a partner in the firm of Lengvari, Faust and Associates, Incorporated, Life Insurance Consultants, will be on the island for a few days mainly on business although he hopes to get in a few holes of golf during his brief stay.

His interesting and varied career has seen him fill such positions as banker, interpreter, gardener, bee-keeper, insurance salesman and lecturer. His hobbies, as varied as his working experience, including mosaics, painting, golf and yoga. He was also a champion swimmer of his time.

There were 15 visiting Rotarians and guests of Rotary at yesterday's luncheon. These persons, introduced by Claude Whitteck, included the following: Dr. Mel Aitken, Hamilton, Ont.; Dick Hightower, Philadelphia; A. Lorne MacKay, Hamilton, Ont.; A.E. Hicks, Lindsay, Ont.; Stuart Shanks, Ontario; Drew Webster, Montreal; J.R. MacKenzie, Montreal.

Dr. William G. Downes, Hartford, Conn.; Alex. Clay, Mass.; Donald G. Bard, Conn.; and E. O. Walsh, Ontario.

thinking about it for a few minutes he said "No, I had better not."

Last night the likable big Scot told me he had felt sure of victory because of the reaction he had been getting from the people of the area. "I was sure they weren't lying to me. Now I have the proof of it," said the man who lives some 10 miles east of Souris.

Political campaigns are always a strain, but for the First Kings candidates, the pressure was almost unbearable.

Campaigning for the rest of the province's candidates was all over on May 30. For this district — getting ready for the underway, though the two PCs and Mr. MacDonald had already campaigned for six weeks or more, before William Acorn's death on May 25 deferred the voting in this riding.

One of the happiest men in Kings County last night, though, was Senator Tom Kikkham. This veteran politician called the shot exactly on the nose last Thursday when I visited himself and his charming wife Mabel, in their Souris West home. He's the only one who predicted the MacDonald-Stewart pair would win by "a substantial majority," and he insisted that was correct.

He smilingly reminded me when I dropped in last night to offer personal congratulations to the Kikkham family on the Senate appointment he heard about from Prime Minister Pearson approximately 24 hours after I had visited with him.

Also accepting congratulations last night was John Mullally, who directed the Liberal campaign so effectively. A group of joyous party backers were fixing to bolshie the former Kings MP as I was leaving Bruce Stewart's house about 8:20 p.m.
