McCallum, Kensington hurler pitched head-up ball all the way and was able to win on the round. However, the support so necessary to win ball games was just not there, and this should be a lesson to the team as to the need for their own practice sessions, instead of only playing the games, for your scribe has heard it said that Ball Players Need Practice, as well as other athletes, and this saying was beyond a doubt proved on Friday evening at forgoing game.

It also cleared the streets between 8 p. m. and 5 a. m. Anyone found outside between those hours must prove that he was going about his work. It further postponed more drastic measures until 8 p. m. Saturday.

Island Premier Gives Address At Conference

SAKOVILLE, N.B., June 9.—Three stirring addresses on the Church in the Present World Crisis were delivered here this evening in the Charles Fawcett Memorial Hall at the final session of the Maritime Conference of the United Church of Canada.

The speakers were Rev. W. F. Partridge, editor of The United Churchman; Hon. Thane A. Campbell, Premier of Prince Edward Island; and Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary of evangelism and social service.

Rev. L. E. G. Davies, Summerside, in introducing Premier Campbell said, "We count his return to the leadership of the government a matter upon which we congratulate ourselves," and went on to tell of the public service Premier Campbell was rendering not only in government but in his church activities.

Premier Campbell pointed out that in a democracy the question of the church was greatly complicated and presented many problems, and contrasted this with the place of the Church in the totalitarian states. In the totalitarian states, the place of the church is easier to define, for here it is suppressed and often abolished. He pointed out the exception of Italy where the Roman Catholic Church is given a genuine measure of freedom and self expression.

This was due mainly to the history and traditions of the Church in Italy along with the fact that both the State and the Church have a common ideal in opposing the spread of Bolshevism, he said.

Premier Campbell traced the political outlook of religion from the early days of Israel, through the period of the prophets to its consummation in the New Testament.

"It is clear," the speaker said, "that we have progressed far beyond the idea of a national God, or of a nation or state religion. The Church cannot today be identified with, or controlled by, any state or group of states. Such an idea would be repugnant, not only to the Christian Church itself, but to our modern conceptions of democracy and democratic institutions. The very existence of democracy presupposes freedom of religion—freedom of speech and of conscience in the widest sense."

Premier Campbell summed up his conclusions as follows: 1—The Church will aim at the ideal of world-wide peace and brotherhood, and will not be controlled by any state or group of states.

2—The Church should insist on remaining spiritually free and independent and will co-operate towards that object so far as may be done without the sacrifice of any Christian ideals.

3—The Church will, however, recognize the importance of national unity, and will co-operate towards that object so far as may be done without the sacrifice of any Christian ideals.

From the point of view of method, the speaker said, more effective service by the spiritual inspiration of individuals and groups, than by the adoption of specific theories on controversial political and economic subjects.

No parking will be allowed on North River Road between midnight of the 13th and 14th and midnight of the 14th and 15th. The same regulation applies to Elm Avenue between Spring Park Square and Euston Street, and on Longworth Avenue from the railway tracks to Euston Street.

Barriers will be placed throughout the city which will block away from the route of procession, and no cars allowed to pass through barriers, except in emergency cases from 7 a. m. the morning of the 14th.

One must have a permit (from R. C. M. P.) to pass through restricted areas.

It is strongly suggested that all cars crossing hillsboro Bridge park at the Kensington Rifle Range at the C. N. R. "Fill In" as that would enable them to leave on return at any time they may desire.

All cars parking at Victoria Park must remain till after 5 o'clock, but they can enter the Park at any time so long as there is any parking space available, or up to the limit of 3000 cars.

BRITISH PRESS ARE 'AMAZED' AT RECEPTION

LONDON, June 11—(OP)—British Sunday newspapers expressed amazement today at the New York City reception of King George and Queen Elizabeth and were gleeful at its success.

The Sunday Express (Independent) banner headline said: "New York Goes Crazy Over King and Queen." The tabloid Sunday Graphic's (Independent) headline said: "King Gets Craziest Welcome Ever," and the Chronicle-Referee (Conservative) said: "New York Goes King Crazy."

The Observer (Conservative), in an editorial headed "Thanks America, A Wonderful Welcome," used such adjectives as "Dramatic," and "Miraculous."

"That the possibility of discord has been extinguished between two such nations is a fact of immeasurable comfort," the Observer said. "We can not sufficiently admire the unreserved generosity of their Majesties' reception by all sections of American democracy, whose warmth and depth of natural feeling never was more strikingly demonstrated."

The Sunday Times (Independent) in a three-column special article headed: "Old Feuds Forgotten in Historic Reunion," said:

"Americans are famous for hospitality, and the warmth of their welcome to the King and Queen surpasses anything that could have been expected.... The growing friendship between this country and the United States makes the principal bright part in the surrounding gloom of international affairs."

Nothing in the career of their Majesties touches the heart or influences the world so potently as this phenomenal conquest of the most critically democratic nation in Europe. The magnificent and augurs well for peace."

A Sunday Graphic editorial headed: "Conquest of Democracy," said: "Nothing in the career of their Majesties touches the heart or influences the world so potently as this phenomenal conquest of the most critically democratic nation in Europe. The magnificent and augurs well for peace."

The committee awarded the 1940 summer games of London and at the same time scrambled out of a tight corner by accepting Chancellor Hitler's personal invitation to hold the 1940 Winter Olympics at Garmisch-Partenkirchen in the Bavarian Alps, scene of the 1936 winter show.

Health Association Meets in Toronto
(By The Canadian Press)
TORONTO, June 11—Provision of health service and health supervision on a nation-wide basis will be the chief topic before Canada's national health organization, the Canadian Public Health Association, during its 28th annual meeting opening here tomorrow.

Delegates were arriving tonight from many parts of Canada, along with speakers from the United States and Great Britain and official observers from Cuba, Bermuda and Mexico.

The convention lasts Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, with all Tuesday afternoon devoted to the problem of a Dominion-wide health service and compulsory health insurance.

Two Canadian doctors and one from Britain will receive honorary life memberships in the Association. Dr. A. J. Douglas of Winnipeg, N.S., and Sir Arthur MacNally will receive the memberships.

ROYAL COUPLE

lano Roosevelt, the President's 64-year-old mother.

In solemn reverence the Royal Couple followed the services and heard the Right Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church, say in his sermon that Great Britain and the United States must share a large part of the responsibility for solving world ills.

The Rector, Rev. Frank R. Wilson, said: "We appreciate the historic visit. Their Majesties are making to this parish."

We are happy to add our voice to that of the Mother Anglican Church in commending Your Majesties to the grace and protection of Almighty God.

The Royal visitors and their hosts drove to the church from the Roosevelt family home where their Majesties arrived belatedly last night, delayed because of the acclaim of millions in New York. They retired about midnight and slept late this morning.

After services in the gold gray church set in a grove of lofty pines and maples, the party returned to the Roosevelt estate to change into clothes suitable for the picnic lunch at the not-quite-completed cottage which the President has had constructed from his own designs on a hill-top three miles through the woldlands from the main house.

Queen Elizabeth wore a hyacinth crepe dress of street length to the church, with matching hat, purse, gloves and shoes and a white gardenia held in her left shoulder by a diamond clasp.

The President's wife wore a silk chiffon dress in a print designed by her niece, Miss Eleanor Roosevelt, and the print incorporates the Scottish Thistle and the American goldenrod in shades of Eleanore blue. She carried white gloves.

In the car with the Queen and Mrs. Roosevelt was the President's mother wearing a black chiffon dress with white roses and a black turban.

King George selected a double-breasted, striped sack suit of gray-lish. His shirt and necktie were blue and he carried a gray felt hat. The President wore a plain blue serge suit and a Panama hat.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada rode along to church as did the President's eldest son, James, with Betty, his wife, and Sara, his eight-year-old daughter.

Prayers were given for peace and grace and the service of special prayer for "Elizabeth, Queen Mother Mary and Princess Elizabeth," with Mr. Wilson asking God to "give them grace and happiness and bring them to Thy kingdom."

Additional prayers and hymns were followed by the sermon, for which the text was from the fourth chapter of St. Paul's epistle to the Ephesians.

In it Bishop Tucker asserted that "we can love our neighbors as ourselves only when we made the definition of neighbor all-inclusive."

Arthur Degross, a vestryman, proprietor of a bus line and manager of the Hyde Park baseball team, passed a silver collection plate to the President and his royal guests. The King dropped in a some folded bills—American money.

After the services, Mrs. Roosevelt changed quickly into a summer frock and hurried over to the cottage to make sure all was ready for the picnic.

The President drove over later with Queen Elizabeth by his side and the King and President's mother in the rear seat.

He sped through the gateway of the Hyde Park estate at such a rapid pace that His Majesty had to hold on to his hat.

The tables were for the Majesties. Chairs among the trees were for the rest of the 150 guests. Invited to the picnic were the entire royal entourage, more than a score of members of the White House staff, Dutchess County neighbors, and persons employed on the Roosevelt estate.

Treasury Secretary and Mrs. Morgenthau and Governor and Mrs. Herbert Lehman of New York mingled with such individuals as Moses Smith, caretaker and tenant of the estate.

The field stone cottage, designed by the President, is on the highest spot of the 1,200 Roosevelt acres. Newly constructed, it has not been completely furnished but its grounds provided an ideal spot for a picnic. Semi-circular stone fireplaces topped by grills were at hand for the roasting of hot dogs.

Remember FATHER'S DAY June 18 He is sure to welcome his favorite smoke.

SWEET CAPORAL CIGARETTES

"The purest form in which tobacco can be smoked."

But such vlands as smoked and plain turkey, salads, baked beans and brown bread loaded an unpainted wooden table in the living room of the cottage. Beer and soft drinks were the thirst-quenchers.

FEAR RETURN

move to save peace, to prevent this slanger from ending like that of 1914 in a universal war.

The Sunday Times (Independent) said the Government has no intention of abandoning the new system of mutual assistance pacts aimed at preventing further aggression by the Axis-powers.

"The British Government stands firm by all its recent agreements and is sincerely anxious to round them off as early as possible by a suitable agreement with Russia," the newspaper declared.

The Sunday Pictorial (Independent) observed that "the Prime Minister is convinced—even now that soothing words and promises of economic benefits will draw Hitler and Mussolini to a conference of mutual assistance with Germany."

The Sunday Express (Independent) featured an article entitled "men who ought to be" which said the ministers were divided into two groups—"those who want to retire" and "those who are wanted to return."

It listed Lord Halifax in the first group and in the second put Viscount Runciman, Lord President of the council; Earl Stanhope and Lord Halifax in the second group; Lord Maughan, Lord Chancellor; and Lord Halifax in the second group.

The Sunday Dispatch (Independent) said Mr. Chamberlain "will not make any further drastic changes in the Government at this stage," but added that Lord Stanhope's "days at the Admiralty are numbered."

It was past 5 p. m. when they left the city, the roar of its millions still in their ears, and headed for the cool quiet of the president's country estate.

For two hours before the King and Queen were due at the Roosevelt home, the Albany-New York road was closed to traffic. Even persons whose estates front on the highway were barred.

Helmeted soldiers, each with a rifle, were spaced at regular intervals along the thoroughfare, supplementing the New York State Police and secret service.
