MARRIAGE BELLS.—The marriage of Miss Gertrude J. H. Currie, daughter of the late Donald Currie, and W. H. Poole Cooke, of Little York, was solemnized at the residence of J. H. Gates Esq., last evening. Rev. D. Sutherland was the officiating clergyman. The bride was attended by Miss Tillie Wyatt, and Mr. Gorham Cooke supported the groom. The large number of wedding presents testified to the esteem in which the youthful couple are held. Among the gifts was a handsome rocking chair presented by the bride's associate teachers in Prince Street School, and a valuable lamp from the employes of James Paton & Co. After the wedding ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Cooke drove to their home at York, followed by the good wishes of their many friends in which THE EXAMINER joins most heartily.

BIBLE SOCIETY MEETING.

The 87th anniversary of the formation of the P. E. Island Auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society was celebrated last evening in the First Methodist Church, Chas. Palmer, Esq., vice president, presiding. With him were seated on the platform His Worship Mayor Dawson, president, Messrs. T. C. James and A. W. Sterns, vice presidents. Also Rev. Mr. McNeill, secretary, J. W. Morrison, Esq., treasurer, and Rev. Messrs. Campbell, Fullerton, Sutherland, Kirby, Corey, Emery and Lodge, and Dr. Leeming. A note was read from Mr. Hamlyn expressing regret for his unavoidable absence.

The meeting was opened by the singing of a suitable hymn, after which the Rev. Mr. Emery was called upon to lead in prayer and Rev. Mr. Campbell to read a portion of scripture.

T. C. James, Esq., then read the report (also extracts of the parent society report). In substance it read as follows: "The occasion calls for heartfelt thankfulness to the bountiful Ruler of the universe, who has so far guided us hitherto.

During the year other parts of the world have had to pass through a succession of perils and privations. Many have suffered at the hands of the heathen. Many others suffered the destruction of their goods and did it joyfully. War and famine have raged in Eastern Asia, and even this continent has a war cloud on its horizon. But this is only to remind us that the time for the second coming of the Son of Man is near at hand. May we all be ready when He comes.

In view of such commotion it is refreshing to find that the work of the Bible Society has gone on without intermission, and that a number of countries hitherto supplied by our parent society have assumed the work themselves thus relieving it of much labor and expense. Norway and Sweden, Holland and Switzerland and parts of Germany have undertaken this special supply of bibles to their countrymen. This was an object which the British and Foreign Bible Society greatly desired to see accomplished, because the demands of other countries have hitherto been difficult to meet.

A marked feature of the year's transactions was the sending of a number of deputations to cheer and encourage its agents laboring under difficulties in foreign countries. One of these deputations visited Norway, another Algiers, and a third went to Turkey where fearful atrocities are being inflicted on the poor Armenians by their Turkish rulers.

The sales by our colporteurs have been much better than last year. Mr. Walker disposed of 987 Bibles and Testaments, and Mr. Secord, 482 Bibles and 454 Testaments.

The Depository's return is as follows:

	Bibles.	Testaments.
Sold at the Depository.	140	171
To Colporteurs.....	179	704
Sabbath Schools.....	55
Total.....		1,249
Total in 1894.....		748
Increase.....		501

The stock has been again replenished. Since the last annual meeting the following amounts were forwarded to the Parent Society. On purchase account, £364 sterling, or $177.58, and as a free contribution, $244.66, or £60 stg., in all $472.24. With one or two pleasant reservations, the field of the Bible Society is the whole world. It includes the whole of Europe, excepting Ireland and Scotland, where filial societies are at work; Africa, Asia, from Siberia to Ceylon, from the Caspian to Japan, the Island continents of Australasia and the Polynesian Groups, and the whole of America, excepting where the American Society has fallen heir to its labors.

The issues for the past year are as follows:

Home issues of Bibles, Testaments and portions.....1,651,566
Disseminated abroad.....2,185,656
Total issues.....3,837,222

The Treasurer, J. W. Morrison, Esq., then submitted his report. The total expenditure for the year was $583.90, and the total amount received $536.52, leaving a balance of $47.38.

The chairman, on making the opening address, said he greatly regretted the report of the parent society was not more generally disseminated, and read it. It really is as interesting as any novel. The necessity of increasing the number of subscribers to the Society was emphasized, there being at present only 208 for the whole Island, with donations amounting to $580. It was the best society in existence; for it assisted all others. Interest in this society was wanted even more than contributions. The society distributes yearly 400,000,000 copies and portions of the bible amongst 1,600,000,000 of people, which is one to every forty persons. At this rate the heathens are exceeding us by far. He noted how the bible has stood the attacks of the best scholars and of the higher critics and remained unscathed, science, geology, &c., being corroborative evidence. The bible was now translated into 320 dialects and languages, there being 50 or 60 in Africa. He referred to the enterprise of the society and their ability and skill to overcome difficulties, citing the case of historic Burmah, where a press and type were despatched to print the word of God in order to expedite its circulation. The foregoing is but a very imperfect epitome of an excellent speech abounding in points and leaving a fine impression.

The Rev. Mr. Fullerton being now called upon, referred to the cheering report of Dr. Thompson, agent of the society in Turkey, and said that next year's report would be a gloomy one. Thousands of our fellow-Christians in Armenia had suffered, even to the death, at the hands of their Turkish persecutors. Our own country is not free from blame. By the treaty of Berlin she assumed the protectorate over the Armenians. That treaty was hailed as "peace with honor." There is peace, but alas for the honor. To-day the British fleet should be at Constantinople to show the "unspeakable Turk" that we were in earnest, and that the lives and property of Christians must be held sacred and their right to worship God, as their conscience dictated, secured.

Referring to the chairman's remarks about higher criticism, he said if the Bible be to us the living voice of God, the revelation of Jesus Christ to our souls, we have nothing to fear. We gladly welcome the results of the scholarship of to-day. If the Book come to us only with the weight of tradition, or as handed down through a long line of authority, or with the influence of venerated ancestors, then indeed we may fear.

But there is a danger. In our day scientific study of comparative religions is striving, in some quarters, to class Christianity as "one" of the religions of the earth and our Bible as "one" of the sacred books. If this book, embracing Judaism and Christianity, be Divine, if it reveals to us God and the conditions of His salvation, if it shows the way and means whereby the life of God in the soul of man may be received and carried out, then we dare not place it, even tentatively, on a level with other religious books. It is the book which reveals to man God in His relation to man and man in his relation to God. Take away its peerless supremacy and you destroy the basis of Christianity as a missionary religion intended by God for the whole world.

In this philosophic age we have largely left behind the old argument of design. We fall back upon intuition, but an intuition that falls back upon a primary revelation. Even the inscriptions on the rocks and the old sacred books of the heathen world, in so far as they contain traces of divine truth, owe that light to God's revelation, diffused as it was so largely through the old world by His ancient people.

If, then, this Bible be to us the best of books, if it contain this unique revelation of God, and His plans and purposes of mercy and love to the whole human race, ought we not to devote our energies, our means, our sympathies to extend its circulation throughout the world. And how shall we accomplish this? By extending our cordial support to this best of societies, the British and Foreign, and by manifesting our sympathy, not by word only, but by gifts and sacrifices, in order that through the diffusion of God's truth, the day may be hastened when the Kingdoms of this world shall be the Kingdoms of our Lord and His Christ.

But it is doing the rev. gentleman injustice to endeavour to give in the compass of two or three short paragraphs an adequate summary of his excellent speech.

The Rev. Mr. Sutherland rejoiced to be present to do honor to the best of books as well as the best of societies. The Bible Society does more to defend the Bible than any other organization in existence, for to distribute the Bible is to defend it. It issues seven Bibles every 60 seconds, day and night. The superhuman effects of the Bible prove its superhuman origin. A poet has characterized it as Heaven's torch. We should do all in our power to pass along that torch until all the nations of heathendom are enlightened by it. Our obligations, both human and divine, demand this at our hands. In closing he urged all present who experienced the saving power of the truth upon their souls to identify themselves with the noblest and best of societies.

The Rev. Mr. Kirby moved the adoption of the report, and that the following gentlemen be the committee for the ensuing year, with power to fill up all vacancies:

All Protestant clergymen on the Island ex officio, and William Heard, R. R. Hodgson, A. Kennedy, Joseph Knight, Thos. Leeming, J. D. McLeod, David Small, L. Miller, J. D. Seaman, Henry J. Cundall, W. T. Huggan, H. J. Callbeck, George E. Full, Charles I. Morrison, Robert F. DeBlois, John A. Lawson, Isaac Oxenham, W. A. Weeks, Jasper Pickard, Charles Leigh, jr., Wm. McPhail, L. L. Beer, L. F. Prowse, J. T. Mellish, L. W. Goff, William Dodd, R. K. Jost, John McPhail, J. K. Ross.

He believed with the gentlemen who preceded him that it is the best society in existence. He cited the particulars concerning its formation—a young Welsh girl having walked 50 miles to obtain a copy. This so stirred the heart of a magnanimous Christian gentleman that he made the attempt to procure the bible for the Welsh people generally, and if it was good for Wales it was good for the whole world. Consequently the society was formed in 1802. He said the Word of God ought to be dearer to us than our friends and more comforting than our rarest earthly treasures.

The Rev. Mr. Corey seconded the resolution.

After the singing of the long metre Doxology the benediction was pronounced and the meeting dispersed.

The Methodist choir fully sustained their high reputation as vocalists on this occasion, singing two or three choice anthems magnificently.

Prof. Earle presided at the organ with his usual skill.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SCHOOL MATTERS AGAIN.

SIR,—There is much truth in the letter of "A Parent" in last evening's EXAMINER, particularly that part of it commenting on Mr. Donald Farquharson's dual position. Does it not strike that gentleman that he occupied an anomalous position when he sat at the Executive Council board and participated in the plot to cut down the amount of the teachers' supplements, by means of which Charlottetown was further taxed for educational purposes. He was at the same time a member of the Board of School Trustees, appointed there by the city of Charlottetown. This being so, will he tell us which character he assumed when at Mr. Peters' Council Board? Was he Dr. Jekyl or was he Mr. Hyde? The citizens of Charlottetown are most heavily taxed. They are taxed on their income by Mr. Peters to keep him and his brigade in power. We get no credit for our head money received from the Dominion Government. We are taxed by the city, on our polls and on our real and personal estate, both for general city purposes and as a special water tax. A large portion of these taxes go for education, and this year in particular good and valid reasons should have been given before our expenditure in the educational line was increased. Information, is, therefore, required from the Trustees in regard to the reasons that led to the increase of the salaries of some of the teachers and the reduction of others. The air is full of rumors in regard to these alterations; in fact partiality is plainly insinuated, and by some openly charged. It is said that one teacher who has only been a short time in harness has received an increase, while others equally deserving have been passed over. Clearly an explanation would be in order and should be given. Let us have it.

CITIZEN.

ENQUIRIES, AND MORE LIGHT WANTED.

SIR,—Your publication of the list of salaries paid the city school teachers and the action of the Trustees in taking from one and giving to another, caused a surprise to many citizens. I am a prominent citizen and never heard of the readjustment until THE EXAMINER ventilated the matter. But now that the citizens have heard of it, thanks to your paper, I am sure I but voice the feelings of many when I ask for more light. Who demanded this so-called re-adjustment? What causes led up to it? Did the favored teachers petition the Trustees for an increase at the expense of their fellow-teachers or how was it brought about? Let the public know all? Keep nothing back.

The sessions of the School Board, like the City Council, should be open to the public. Education is the most important factor in our lives, and the deliberations of our School Board should not be held in secret, but open and above board, so that a reporter for the press can be present and the citizens can then have its doings published the day after the sessions. The trustees are handling a large amount of city money, if I mistake not, about one-third of the whole revenue of the city, and every facility should be afforded the citizens for ascertaining the whys and wherefores of their actions. The reduction of the salaries of some of the teachers in order to benefit some others was a small act, unworthy of any class of persons; but small as it is, it has cost the city some extra taxes, and has given color to the charge of incompetency, which has been preferred against the School Trustees.

FACTS ABOUT THE DAIRY INDUSTRY.

SIR,—For some time there has been a controversy between Cyrus Shaw and Jas. E. Robertson, Esqs., respecting the commencement of the dairy industry at New Perth. I do not wish to enter the discussion between them at all, but simply wish to state a few facts as they occurred at the time of formation of the Three Rivers Dairying Association, of which I was secretary for some years.

The first meeting was held in the Montague Hall on the 25th of June, 1884, at which W. H. Lynch, of Danville, Quebec, gave a lecture on dairying and assisted in forming the Dairymen's Association.

John Hamilton was elected president, Jas. D. Dewar vice president, and the writer was chosen as secretary. After some preliminary arrangements the meeting adjourned, to be held at New Perth schoolhouse on the 2nd Sept., following. At this meeting a committee composed of Cyrus Shaw, G. F. Owen, F. G. Boyer, Daniel F. McDonald and Isaac Foster, was appointed to draft a constitution and bylaws, and at a meeting held on the 29th Sept., they presented a report which was adopted. The second clause of the constitution said that the object shall be the improvement of its members in the theory and practice of dairy farming and general agriculture. Afterwards meetings were held at Brudenell, Cardigan and New Perth. At regular intervals papers were read on subjects appertaining to the objects of the association, and considerable interest was excited among the people so that when Prof. Saunders visited the Province he was able to address a large meeting in the Montague Hall under the auspices of the Three Rivers Dairying Association, on the 11th July, 1889. Again, when Prof. Robertson came to the Province in 1890, he found the association fully organized and consequently considered New Perth the proper place for the experimental dairy station. The success attending this factory led to the starting of factories in other sections. Amongst those who gave the institute the most assistance mention should be made of John Hamilton, Cyrus Shaw, Geo. F. Owen, Jas. D. Dewar, Robert Dewar, N. P. and F. G. Boyer, all of whom served one or more terms as president, and to whom a great deal of the credit for starting dairying in this province rightly belongs.

Besides there were interesting and instructive papers read by other members of the association, including R. H. McDonald, of St. Eleanors, Charles Palmer, of Charlottetown, Dr. Robertson, of Montague, and others who thereby helped the cause of dairying and agriculture. Special mention should also be made of the generous donation given by Charles Palmer, Esq., towards the funds of the Association, and in consequence of which he was elected an honary member.

The New Perth Dairying Company was formed in 1892, and that company took the place of the Three Rivers Dairymens' Association, and as Cyrus Shaw was President of the former, he became President of the new company. John Hamilton was elected Secretary and Treasurer, and the following Directors: William McDonald, John A. Dewar, James Gordon, Alex. Hamilton and Stewart McLean.

The foregoing facts are taken from the minute book of Three Rivers Dairymens' Association. I leave the public to draw its own conclusion as to whom credit is due.

I fear I have trespassed now too much on your value space, or I would give your readers an account of the first year's work at the New Perth dairy station. Suffice it to say there were many things to contend with, and if T. J. Dillon was not composed of the mettle he is, I think he would have gone back home. But we are all thoroughly acquainted with the fact that he prosecuted the work to the present successful issue.
