handing me his marshal's baton, 'it will be enough for you, and give me the sword—a fair exchange is no thieving any how. Now go, and God be with ye!' I at once gave the word—'Form a rallying square, and—'

'This was too much for me, and I gave a sob of laughter which my awful situation could not stifle. 'What's that at all?' said Finucane. 'I heard somebody groaning and sneezing; didn't you hear it, Senor?'

'No,' said Cayrasso; 'it would be the winds or a cat.'

'I did hear something,' said Amalia, who, no doubt, associating it with her friends outside, rose and came hurriedly to the window, to anticipate a similar movement on the part of her companions. She leaned out of the window, and was so close to me that if I had breathed she would have felt it through the jealousy. 'Shall I speak?' thought I—'shall I whisper?' No, she might scream or start; what a chance though! Shall I? Yes, I will—here goes; and I whispered soft and low as the most juvenile of zephyrs, 'Amalia! Thank Heaven! no scream—a little start, that was all, and she leaped farther out, so that she could whisper round the edge.

'Is it Tim?' she breathed. 'No, he's down below; are you coming to-night?' 'Impossible at present; but watch that man go out. My window is round the corner, where there is also a tree, and you and Tim may climb and help me down. I will open the jealousias as a signal; but if it is impossible I will keep tryst to-morrow night. Now, go!' and she turned into the room remarking carelessly, 'Nothing there.'

'Stealthily as a nocturnal cat I stole back to Tim, who from his coign of vantage had beheld the interview, and then we waited for the departure of the Commissary. A long wait we had of it, too; but at last out they came, Cayrasso and his guest; they crossed the garden, wished each other good night at the gate, and the Senor having locked it, recrossed the lawn and entered the house. The sound of bolting and barring ensued, the windows of the sitting room were closed, and all was again dark and silent.

'Let us go now under the window,' said Tim, 'but which is it?'

'She said, "Round the corner, where there is a tree; but, hang it! there are four corners and trees all over the place. We must wait here till she makes the signal."

'We hadn't long to wait. Presently the jealousias of the corner window at the back were thrown open, light streamed from it, and a female figure was visible; whereupon Tim bounced like a tiger across the lawn towards the house. I followed more cautiously, but before either he or I had got under the window the light was extinguished and the figure consequently became invisible.

'Hist! hist! Amalia!' said Tim, in a strong whisper. 'Si! si!' replied a voice from above; 'espera un poco.'

'We waited silently for a minute, and then there was a movement above; one shutter was closed and a voice whispered, 'Ven acá mi querido!' and Tim began to climb like a lampighter. The fig-tree here was not so accommodating as its relative round the corner, and Tim came to a stop before his head was up to the window-sill.

'Amalia? mi alma? mi coracon!' he began in a low bubbling voice, inexpressibly revolting to a man out of love.

'Si, si,' whispered the voice; 'mas arriva—mas arriva.'

'But I can't,' said Tim, breaking into English; 'this confounded fig-tree does not go any higher; show me your dear face and reach down your beloved hand that I may kiss it.'

'It was at this moment intensely dark, and even the eyes of love would have failed to recognise a foot off any features, however dear; a white-sleeved arm was, however, stretched down, and Tim clutching the hand was beginning to operate on it with soft goings, when suddenly the voice of love was changed into a yell of horror and surprise, and Tim seemed to be caught up to the window as if by magic. Open burst the other leaf of the jealousias, and the moon, flashing from the clouds, revealed the burly form of Cayrasso! He had seized Tim by the wrist, and with his other strong arm, having now grappled him by the collar, proceeded to pump him up, and down like the piston of a steam-engine.

'Ha! ha! ha! he yelled with fiendish laughter. 'Ha! ha! ha! ladron! Trador! you come steal my daughter—you come' (pump, pump) 'you come' (pump) 'and you get a dance' (pump, pump) 'with me. Quiere usted bailar con mi, luz de mis ojos? ha! ha! (pump, pump, pump). Leave me—alone—you old—hound,' gasped Tim, 'or I'll break—your—old—neck,' (pump, pump, pump). 'Shy some—thing at him—Fred—the fiend's ch—ch—oking me.' (pump.)

'But Cayrasso's arm began to tire no doubt, and by way of finish he caught Tim close up to the window by the collar, and disengaging his other hand administered four ringing boxes on the lover's ears. Click! click! click! clack!—down came Tim's torage cap, and immediately after, down dropped Tim himself, collapsing at my feet like a telescope.

'Good night!' screamed the victor—'good night! I will come see you in the morning, and ask how you do after the ball, mi hermoso companero; and he shut the shutters with a bang. Tim sat still on the ground and rubbed his ears.

'Hurt, old boy?' I inquired. 'No—yes—no—he's barked my knees awfully, he's deuced near garrotted me: his hand tasted so of garlic, it's made me very sick; and I feel as if my ears were on fire—that's all. Gad, I'd burn his house if it were not for Amalia.'

'But come away, Tim; let's get out of the place; no good sitting there; and Tim ruefully picking himself up, we scaled the garden wall and soon found ourselves in the Casemate Barracks. Long and deep were our cogitations and confabulations. This serious check only made us both more determined to carry out the scheme; but the situation was puzzling.

(To be Continued.)

Father Hue, the famous Catholic explorer of the interior of China, relates that in one of his long journeys among that strange people, his caravan embraced an unusual number of jackasses among the donkeys employed as carriers of the expedition; that these fellows at every resting place kept up such an intolerable braying, especially towards the morning, as to render sleep impossible to the Abbe; that at last he complained of this to the master of the donkeys, who instantly replied that his gracious highness should be no more disturbed by this braying; that, sure enough, a quiet night with its refreshing sleep followed, and that on inquiring into the cause in the morning he was pointed to the noisy jackasses, each with a heavy stone tied to his tail. 'That,' said the driver, 'is the way we settle them. The jackass stands upon his dignity and will not bray unless he can straighten out his tail, and with a heavy stone attached he can't straighten it out, don't you see? Every time he tries it the weight on his tail pulls him down and shuts his jaw.'

DEFERRED MATTER.

A FENIAN LAW SUIT.—The New York Tribune of Saturday has the following:—'General O'Neill, who is President of one of the "wings" of the Fenian Brotherhood, had criminal information filed yesterday against Michael Scanlan and Dr. David Bell editors of The Irish Republic, for provoking him to commit a breach of the peace, by publishing a certain statement in a letter written and signed by Captain William H. Grace, of the National Hotel, Washington.—The statement in question is to the following effect, viz:—'

'Every Irishman here in Washington only knows too well to his sorrow and humiliation, the brazen assumption of O'Neill, and the capital he endeavored to make out of the Ridgeway affair. He came here and started in the "claim, business; but was not long in operation before he was suspended by the War and Treasury Departments for presenting before them unjust and dishonest claims, and his name was posted up in each Department as one forbidden to transact any business with the Government.'

Messrs Scanlan and Bell were arrested in their office at 12 o'clock, noon. They proceeded with their counsel to the Police Court. O'Neill also appeared with his counsel. The defendants were held in $1,000 bail each for their appearance, July 10.

REMOVAL.

MANNY'S & BUCKEYE COMBINED MOWING AND REAPING MACHINES AND WHITCOMB'S PATENT WHEEL HORSE RAKES.

THE SUBSCRIBER has just imported into this Island, and is now receiving quite a large number of these celebrated Machines, embracing the MANNY COMBINED REAPER and MOWER, the combined MOWER and REAPER HAND RAKE MACHINE, and the BUCKEYE SELF-RAKING MACHINE, for Reaping and Mowing. Also a lot of WHITCOMB'S PATENT WHEEL HORSE RAKES.

THE MANNY MACHINE has this season, some important improvements, such as an extra Wooden Wheel and Axle for reaping, together with an extra level Gear with a Flange so as to prevent the cogs from breaking. These two important improvements make the MANNY MACHINE a perfect one of its kind.

THE BUCKEYE MACHINE having been manufactured for the Subscriber, under special contract, by ADRIANCE, PLATT & Co., of Poughkeepsie, in the State of New York, who are the original manufacturers of the BUCKEYE MACHINE, and are the largest manufacturers of this machine in the States, manufacturing from six to eight thousand Machines each year; and it is their Machine, manufactured at their works, and entered by them for competition at all the great National and State Fairs in the United States, and for which they have taken the Gold Medals and all the highest prizes in the States; they have also justly obtained the reputation of manufacturing the best Machine in the States, both for Mowing and Reaping. All other establishments manufacturing the Buckeye are small compared to theirs—none of them making, I believe, over six or seven hundred machines each year—and all improvements on the Buckeye come through ADRIANCE, PLATT & Co.

THE SELF-RAKER is the best and latest improvement on the BUCKEYE MACHINE, and is not manufactured by any other establishment making the Buckeye. The SELF-RAKING MACHINE has proved a complete success the past year, and completely distancing all other Machines as Self-Rakers, made in the United States by others. This Machine saves the labor of one man, and the weight of a man on the team while reaping. The Self-raking Machine will also Reap and deliver in sheafs, grain which had been broken down with rain or wind, unless very badly tangled, as the rake strikes the grain in front of the knives and brings the grain on to the platform, when it is impossible for the handrake to do it.

In consequence of my long connection with the Farmers of P. E. Island, in the sale of MOWING MACHINES, I feel it my duty to explain to them my views, and the motives that actuated me in first bringing the MANNY MACHINE to this Island some eight years past. It was then the best and I might say about the only combined machine in the States. The Manny gradually worked its way into general use on the Island, proving itself to be a good Machine to the Farmers, doing its work well, and all that was required of it to do, and to the full satisfaction of all who have used them here; and I could find no machine in the States so well adapted for this Island as the MANNY MACHINE.

Last year I brought four of the Buckeye Machines, manufactured by A. Richards & Co., of Worcester, but I was not satisfied with them as they were not a perfect Machine, nor such as they ought to be, in my opinion, and I therefore could not feel that it would be right for me to say to the farmers that the machine was all right as a Reaper, when I did not believe it; but as a Mower I was willing, and did say to all, that they were good Mowers. When I returned home from the Island last fall, and knowing that ADRIANCE, PLATT & Co. were ahead of all the manufacturers of what they termed a BUCKEYE MACHINE, I went to their establishment, one hundred and fifty miles distant, hoping to find there a combined Machine that would satisfy my mind; and I did find the desired Machine, it having a separate cutting bar, guards and knives all fitted and attached to the Platform, and fitted and ready to hitch on to the Machine as a Reaper, which made a perfect Machine, and fully satisfied my mind. This was the HAND RAKING MACHINE.

I then examined their SELF-RAKING MACHINE, and was better pleased with that than the Hand Raker, as it is a splendid machine, doing all, and even more, than could be expected of a machine. The consequence was I purchased my Machines of ADRIANCE, PLATT & Co., and in the course of the winter, A. Richards & Co. went to ADRIANCE, PLATT & Co., and purchased a Platform from them, with their improvement of a separate bar and knives for reaping attachment, and attached them to their Machines—sent to this Island this spring. I did not purchase any No. 1 Buckeye this year, as I found they had gone out of use altogether, or nearly so. They made the No. 1 in the first place, but found them too heavy and too clumsy. The No. 2 proved more acceptable to the farmers for Mowing and Reaping.

My own individual opinion now is, and so is that of most of the farmers who have used the MANNY MACHINE, that the MANNY MACHINE, with its present improvement, is the best MACHINE for all Farmers of limited means, as it does its work well, and all that the farmers require it to do, and has no complication, and the mechanics of the Island know how to repair it. But those Farmers who have more means, and wish to have a nicer looking machine, and can afford to pay a higher price for it, I would say purchase the SELF-RAKING BUCKEYE MACHINE, as then they will get all that any Farmer can wish in a Machine. But come and see and examine for yourselves, and decide what Machine you like best.

These Machines will be on exhibition and Sale, at the Warehouse attached to the Store of Henry Hazard, opposite the Post Office, on Queen Square, where I shall be very happy to exhibit and sell the above Machines at the usual accommodating terms, from one to three years, as the Farmers may wish; and those Farmers who wish to pay the money down, I shall be more particularly pleased to see and sell to, and of course at low prices. But all who wish Machines will be very welcome. Hoping that no farmer will purchase a Mower, until he has seen mine, and examined them, as I believe I have a splendid lot of Machines, and can satisfy almost any one. I have appointed agents in the following places:

THE CHEAPEST AND SAFEST DOCTOR. Holloway's Pills.

THIS great household medicine ranks among the leading necessities of life. It is well known to the world that it cures many complaints other remedies cannot reach, the act is as well established as that the sun lights the world.

Disorders of the Liver and Stomach. Most persons will, at some period of their lives, suffer from indigestion, derangement of the liver, stomach or bowels, which if not quickly removed, frequently settle into a dangerous illness. It is well known in India, and other tropical climates, that Holloway's Pills are the only remedy that can be relied on in such cases. Almost every soldier abroad carries a box of them in his knapsack. In England most persons know that these Pills will cure them whenever the liver, stomach or bowels are out of order, and that they need no physician.

Weakness and Debility. Such as suffer from weakness, or debility, and those who feel want of energy, should at once have recourse to those Pills, as they immediately purify the blood, and acting upon the main-spring of life, give strength and vigor to the system. To young persons entering into womanhood, with a derangement of the functions, and to mothers at the turn of life, these Pills will be most efficacious in correcting the tide of life that may be on the turn. Young and elderly men suffer in a similar manner at the same periods, when there is always danger; they should therefore undergo a course of his purifying medicine, which insures lasting health.

Disorders of Children. If these Pills be used according to the printed direction and the intiment rubbed over the region of the kidneys, at least once a day as salt is forced into meat, it will penetrate the kidneys and correct any derangement of their organs. Should the affliction be stone or gravel, then the Ointment should be rubbed into the neck of the bladder, and a few days will convince the sufferer that the effect of these two remedies is astonishing.

Disorders of the Stomach. Are the sources of the deadliest maladies. Their effect is to vitiate all the fluids of the body, and to send a poisoned stream through all the channels of circulation. Now what is the operation of the Pills? They cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver, bring the relaxed or irritated stomach into a natural condition, and acting through the secretory organs upon the blood itself, change the state of the system from sickness to health, by exercising a simultaneous and wholesome effect upon all its parts and functions.

Complaints of Females. The functional irregularities peculiar to the weaker sex are invariably corrected without pain or inconvenience by the use of Holloway's Pills. They are the safest and surest
