Polio Vaccine Queries Answered By Dr. Salk

(By Alton L. Blakeslee) ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk has answered some of the most critical questions in parents' minds about his polio vaccine.

In a press conference at the American Medical Association here, these questions were brought up:

Does just one shot give some protection?

Yes, says Salk. It gives a large degree of protection, lasting up to six months or longer.

If a child has had one shot, is paralytic polio more likely or less likely to occur?

Less likely, he says.

CAN DELAY 2ND SHOT

Does the second shot have to be given soon?

No. It apparently can be delayed for up to 30 months, without having to start the vaccination process all over again.

Can the second shot be given during the summer, when polio may be prevalent?

Yes. It is perfectly safe to give the second shot then.

Should a child be given his first shot during the summer, when polio may be widespread?

The consensus is that it can be given then, Salk says. There can be a risk, but it is slight on a community-wide basis.

Can a child who has been vaccinated pass polio on to his brothers, sisters or parents?

Yes, this is possible, he says, adding that this could explain some of the cases of polio occurring now in families of vaccinated children.

Salk says the vaccine is designed to prevent paralytic polio by creating antibodies in a child's bloodstream against the three types of polio virus which can cause human paralysis.

The vaccine cannot prevent polio virus from entering the child's body and infecting him. It is intended to prevent those viruses from hitting at his nerves and causing paralysis. The antibodies in the blood can intercept the viruses before they get to his central nervous system.

East Baltic

MAKE FISHING EASY

PATTERN 421

If you do not care for fishing there are other ways that this folding seat with back-rest may be enjoyed. It is easy to make too if you use actual-size guides when sawing out the shaped pieces from 1/2-square feet of 3/4-inch plywood. Tracing diagrams for the parts to make a minnow bucket, boat baiting scoop and the fishing line drier shown in the sketch are all on pattern 421. This pattern will be mailed for 36c or it will be included in the sportsman's packet of patterns for gun rack, duck decoys, pipe rack and a plywood boat that is light enough to carry on top of your car, all for $1.50 postpaid. All these patterns are standard size.
