Fire Levels Vacant Kelvin Road Bldg.

KENSINGTON — An early morning blaze on Saturday destroyed a vacant house on the Kelvin Road, just outside of town, owned by Mrs. Sterling (Elian) Hunter.

A call for the Kensington fire department was made at 4:45 a.m. Saturday, by Earnest Davis, who feared his home was in danger because of flames leaping from the burning Hunter owned building.

Considerable furniture and household affects were lost in the blaze. The building was partly insured.

The Kensington Fire Association issued a statement following the blaze stating that Saturday's blaze was the third consecutive fire outside the town area that was not covered by the $3 a year plan that guarantees the fire department's assistance in case of fire.

However, the department answered Saturday morning's call to protect the home of Mr. Davis, who has made his fire assistance plan payment for the current year.

Auto Damages Signal Control

SUMMERSIDE — An automatic CNR signal control in Freetown suffered approximately $2,000 damage when struck by a car driven by Junior (Andrew) Paynter in Freetown early Saturday evening.

Neither the driver or two other occupants were injured. The car, a 1959 model, was considerably damaged.

RETIRED

The admirals manipulated appointments "with all the underhandedness of a bungling, devitalized Mafia—but more gorgeously attired."

Several officers of unusual ability would never become captains, let alone admirals, because they had served in the ranks.

One admiral had told a fine officer he couldn't be promoted "because he ate his lunch in his office."

Commodore Plomer says morale is low in the RCN, ships are unable to function effectively and many vessels break down during exercises.

He says he doesn't know of a single case where a commanding officer has faced a board of inquiry for even the grossest neglect of his ship.

He had made repeated representations to three admirals and two chiefs of naval staff on the condition of ships.

"My reports have been either politely or rudely ignored."

BUY WRONG EQUIPMENT

The admirals "have for years demonstrated an unholy genius for buying the wrong equipment."

The aircraft carrier Bonaventure was too slow, was not designed for the North Atlantic, had "obsolete" anti - aircraft guns and her accommodation was substandard and crowded.

It had taken six years and a "fantastic amount of money" to get three-inch destroyer guns into working order.

Commodore Plomer's charges are likely to be aired before the Commons defence committee this fall.

There was no immediate official comment from the navy. Unofficially, it was said the charges have a kernel of truth in them but that Commodore Plomer had overstated the case.

Algerians Still Waiting For Bread And Happiness

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIERS (AP) — "Socialism is happiness. To be socialist means to love the people."

Throughout Algeria, tens of thousands of turbanned men and veiled women repeat those words after their instructors.

It is part of the government's vast anti - illiteracy campaign, consisting mainly of slogans praising socialism and the revolution.

The slogans are on placards at collective farms and nationalized factories, they are scribbled on blackboards in schools, printed on every page of the new primer.

More than a year after its independence, Algeria's password is the revolution, the revolution of the workers and of the starving fellahin (peasants).

So far it has not brought bread and happiness. The people are told that the road ahead will be a hard one, that in addition to building their own nation the Algerian people should liberate other, still - colonized African peoples.

Liberation of Africa's remaining colonies is the guiding light of Premier Ben Bella's foreign policy. Through it he hopes to give Algeria a leading role in Africa, to build up a debt of gratitude.

TRAIN ANGOLANS

Some 1,000 Angolan fighters are training in Algerian camps. South African nationalists have set up propaganda offices in Algiers. Ben Bella has called on his people to "die a little" to free their African brothers. They roared approval at countless rallies because approval was what they were asked for. They chanted "down with apartheid" though few likely understood the word.

And they returned to their hamlets crowded with unemployed, to apartments taken over from fleeing Europeans, wondering where tomorrow's bread would come from.

It comes mainly from unemployment benefits provided from French funds and from American surplus wheat which has kept the country from starving since independence.

The figures of unemployed are staggering—nearly 2,000,000 able-bodied men or 75 per cent of the total labor force. Since independence, 300,000 persons in urban areas have lost jobs.

The state farms have not begun paying off. Four per cent of the farms are still in European hands and they pay taxes to keep others going.

Trapped Miner Is Found Dead

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP)—Workmen dug through walls of rock 900 feet below ground Saturday and found the body of a miner who disappeared in a rock fall Wednesday.

A. E. Pike, manager of Calumet Mine, a division of United Keno Hill Mines, Limited, of Whitehorse, said the body of Desmond Loughran, 23, of Edmonton was found in the collapsed area, 220 miles north of here.

Pike said Loughran was swept away when a rock floor collapsed at the 900-foot level. Another miner who was nearby at the time was not injured.

Further information about the mishap was not released. RCMP said an inquest into the death will be held.

Rescue crews worked steadily for more than 90 hours before finding the body.

The company mines silver, lead and zinc and employs about 350 underground workers.
