Investigation Is Planned Of Asbestos Dust Dangers

TORONTO (CP)—The question of whether working with the white asbestos produced in Canada can cause cancer may be answered by a federal government study. The Canadian Medical Association says such a study is being organized following reports that asbestos workers in other countries have died from the disease. But in these countries other types of asbestos are mined. In addition, certain chemicals and minerals found in some asbestos fibres may enter into the situation whether these are the cancer-causing agents and whether they are found in Canadian asbestos has yet to be established.

Complex Is Forecast

OTTAWA (CP)—An officer of Canadian Javelin Ltd. said he has a balanced resources development complex embracing minerals, pulp and paper, petroleum and possibly chemicals could grow out of the proposed merger of its subsidiary, Jubilee Iron Corp., with Newfoundland and Labrador Corp. Ltd. W. H. Roxburgh, vice-president of Javelin, said the merger, which is subject to approval by the shareholders and agreement of securities and stock exchange authorities, would bring together "a many-sided group of natural resources for exploitation and development."

FINDS HIGH RISK

The Journal says that a striking feature of medical investigation in recent years is new evidence showing that not only is there a high risk of bronchial carcinoma (cancer) in those with asbestosis (scarring of the lungs from inhaling asbestos dust), but that other types of tumor develop in exposed persons in the absence of asbestosis in the lungs, some.

S. Africa Begins Coinage Change

JOHANNESBURG, (Reuters)—South Africa began Tuesday the big job of changing its coinage to bring it into conformity with the switch to decimal currency four years ago. Introduction of new five-cent nickel pieces and two-cent copper pieces at banks began the process, which the government hopes will be completed during the next 18 months. South Africa previously used British-style sterling coinage.

It is probably best in such case to go along with partner because he may know something about the hand that you don't know. In any event, it might be best to humor him even if only for morale purposes. Of course, there is always the possibility that partner does not know what he is doing and is churning the defense. Even so, it may be wise to cooperate on the off-chance that he does know what he's doing. Certainly the Science on the biological effects of asbestos. The report says in part that evidence of an association between exposure to asbestos dust and malignancy has been established on information from Germany, Italy, South Africa, the United Kingdom and the United States. Present evidence, the report says, "indicates that the associated carcinomas of the lung are not limited to exposure to any one type of asbestos fibre. However, further investigations are urgently needed to establish whether the degree of risk is importantly related to the type of fibre inhaled." The report indicates also that more research is needed to establish the relationship, if any, between tumors and certain chemicals found in some asbestos fibres, such as oils, waxes and hydrocarbons and traces of minerals such as nickel and chromium. The Journal editorial says that the Canadian study, being organized by the occupational health division of the department of health and welfare, should help to answer these and other questions of international concern.

GROUP REPORTS

The Journal also prints the report of a working group of delegates from Australia, Canada, Finland, France, Germany, Britain, Italy, South Africa and the United States. The group was set up to study information presented last October to a meeting sponsored by the New York Academy of
