On Thursday evening last, after a brief but sudden illness, consequent upon a stroke recently, there entered peacefully into her eternal rest, at the good old age of seventy-five years, Mrs. John Cameron, a well-known and respected resident of New Haven district. The deceased was enjoying comparatively good health until quite recently, when the late attack brought her life to a close, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Neil MacFadyen, of Churchill, where she spent the winter.

The deceased was a kindly neighbor, and ever ready to render help in times of trouble or sorrow.

Predeceased by her husband some years ago, there remain to mourn for her her daughters, Mrs. Neil D. MacFadyen, Churchill, Mrs. Wm. Gass and Mrs. Mathieson of Somerville, Mass., and one brother, Neil MacNevin of Bonshaw.

She died resignedly in the gospel of God's mercy to sinners, and within the communion of the Church of Scotland, with which she was always connected.

Her burial last Sunday was largely attended, though the weather was very severe. Rev. Ewen MacDougall officiated in suitable religious services, and the body was laid down to rest in Argyle Shore Cemetery. Dr. J. W. S. Lowry was absent owing to his continued affliction, but extended his sympathies to the bereaved family and friends.

FRIDAY, APRIL 17

The promised two cents per gallon rebate on gasoline taxes to fishermen will not materialize this year, Premier Campbell informed the Legislature in committee on the Estimates last night.

Asked by Mr. Jones if it was the intention to give the rebate this year, the Premier replied; "No, we haven't been able to give it this year."

This was one of the chief pledges in the Liberal election platform last summer, and constituted the chief talking argument for several of the Liberal candidates.

A very pleasant time was spent on Wednesday evening, March 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gillespie, Clyde River, when a large number of the people of the District called on them to extend thier best wishes on their recent marriage. The gathering was called to order by John Murray, who called in Miss Winnie Best, to read an address, while Miss Tena MacKinnon made the presentation of a purse of money. Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie, replied briefly, thanking their friends for the kind words and gift. After singing "For they are Jolly Good Fellows" games and contests were engaged in.

The Estimates, calling for a total expenditure of $1,896,097, passed through committee in the Legislature last evening in the short time of one hour and twenty minutes. There was very little discussion and no amendments, though the preceding Budget Debate on the motion to go into Supply had dragged on for three evenings. The final speakers in the debate last evening were Messrs. Wright, Acorn, Cox, McIsaac and Jones.

The House, shortly before midnight, adjourned to meet at 10:30 a. m. today.

ORIENTAL BAZAAR CLOSED—The oriental bazaar at St. James Church Hall, which concluded last night, was voted an outstanding success. The closing supper was largely attended. The Kirk orchestra was again in attendance and supplied excellent music. The Japanese fan drill and the minuet both of which received very hearty applause on the opening night were repeated and were as enthusiastically received as they had been on the first presentation. The floral decorations at the bazaar, which received so much favorable comment, had been placed under the direction of Mrs. James Bayer.

Funeral services for Mrs. Isabelle Darrach Graham, wife of the late Joseph Graham, were held on Saturday, March 14, 1936, from her late home at 52 Governor's Road, in Milton, Mass. Mrs. Graham died at her late home on Friday morning after an illness which had extended for several months.

Mrs. Graham was born in Canoe Cove, Prince Edward Island, 73 years ago. She lived in Barre, Vt., for more than 40 years. Mrs. Graham's only near surviving relatives are a brother, James Darrach of Canoe Cove, Prince Edward Island, and a nephew, Henry F. McLean of East Milton with whom she made her home. Mr. Graham died about 22 years ago. Her three daughters had also died. Rev. Arthur Dewitt Paul, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated at the services. The body was taken to Barre, Vermont, where there were also services on Sunday afternoon. Burial followed in the family lot in the Barre Cemetery.

Mrs. Graham visited her old home at Canoe Cove every summer for the last 20 years and only left there the last week in September of last year. She will be very kindly remembered by relatives and friends.
