

The Irish Famine.

A month ago the members of the Benevolent Irish Society donated to the Sisters of Charity at Ballaghaderin, County Mayo, the sum of £10 for relief of the Irish famine sufferers. A few days ago, Sister St. Cecilia, of the Convent de Notre Dame, the lady who forwarded the donation, received the following letter of thanks, accompanied by a receipt for the money:—

SISTERS OF CHARITY,
BALLAGHADERIN, CO. MAYO,
June 8, 1880.

MY DEAR REV. MOTHER,—Will you and our kind benefactors accept the deepest sentiments of gratitude of our poor little ones, their sorrow stricken parents and, ourselves for your generous and timely donation of £10. Aid was never more welcome; as, at the present, distress is terrible, owing to the large relief fund through the country being nearly exhausted, though the hardest months are yet before us, as the crops are always so late in this country. We have numerous calls from all sides, and sometimes do not know what way to turn for means to assist them. Many around us would have their graves in the churchyard green by this time, only for the generosity and noble spirit of our friends in America, and their is a very deep feeling of gratitude in the hearts of the people to them for it.

Some time ago the children were actually falling away before our eyes from hunger and cold; and indeed their sufferings are often the hardest of their poor parents' trials. So we trusted to Providence and gave a large breakfast, and tried to do all in our power to give them clothes, as they were half-naked and shivering with cold. When the rags got wet they had no fire at home or no bed clothes even at night, and it would go to your heart to witness creatures, who were once far better off, dying on a little straw without even a drink to moisten their parched lips. In all my experience as a Sister of Charity, I never saw such poverty. I have known persons not considered very poor, and yet it was late on the day before their fast was broken.

Your donation will bring comfort to many a poor, struggling creature, for not only the children, but their parents and the sick and aged crowd around our Convent for help. Again thanking our generous friends, and earnestly hoping they may ever be strangers to the sorrow of the human misery they have alleviated in the Old Land.

I remain, dear Rev. Mother,
Yours very respectfully,
SR. M. A. MORROGH BERNARD.

SIR,—Your correspondent, "Islander," is so courteous to myself, personally, in the expression of his dissent from what I had written concerning the Tomb to which he refers, that I think it right to give copy of the inscription, or epitaph, upon that Tomb—the work of Antonio Canova, which was erected (and of course the inscription sanctioned and approved) by His Majesty King George the Fourth, when Prince Regent, who defrayed the principal cost and expense of the work. My adding the title of "King of France" to that of "King of Great Britain," was because every King of England, from King Edward the Third down to King George the Third, had done so, altho' their so doing could only be founded de jure (if at all), since it is certain that they were nono de facto. It could scarcely be expected that the lineal representative of an ancient Jacobite Highland Chief, should fail to concur in the title which the Prince Regent of England, and Regent of the Electorate or Kingdom of Hanover, had graciously sanctioned and permitted to stand on the Tomb. "Fungarque inani munere." I could say much more, but I forbear. I am quite aware that "English History knows no such Monarch as James the Third,"—but I have indeed yet to learn "that James the Second was the last of the Jameses." My knowledge of History is one thing: my opinions of its accuracy, are, or form, quite another thing.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—In your issue of last evening we noticed a letter from "A Walker" anent the match to-day, in which he endeavors to reflect on the management. For the benefit of your excited correspondent, allow us to state the reasons only two prizes were offered: because we understood on arrival here that outside of Mr. Leggett and the Island champion none others were prepared to enter; therefore the occasion did not require a large outlay. Since then, however, and before reading yesterday's EXAMINER, the prize list underwent a change, as several signified intentions to take part, and at present stand as follows: $50, $20, $10. Hoping this statement will smooth the ruffled feelings of your "Walker," We remain, yours &c.,

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

LONDON, June 22.

The Times says: So far as we can learn, Present Welland, of the Argentine Confederation, has behaved with singular prodence and firmness. He has blockaded the city of Buenos Ayres by land and water, and that so vigorously as to shut it off from the outside country. But he has as yet sanctioned no bloodshed. He evidently means, if possible, to reduce the city to submission by the gentlest means at his command. The fact that the blockade has been maintained nearly a fortnight and that the opposition has been able to do nothing to break it is reassuring.

The iron market has slightly declined; quotations to-day were 48 shillings one penny a ton.

The announcement that the French Government has decided to offer a bounty of certain sums per ton, according to the character of the cargo, to all owners of French vessels bringing cargoes to French ports, has caused considerable comment among the owners of other Atlantic lines to whose prejudice the discrimination will work.

Despatches from Calcutta state that a horse plague similar to the plague now raging among horses in Chinese Mongolia, has broken out in Pavaladar and Karuvravia districts, on the Chinese frontiers. Horses are stricken by it suddenly, and die in great numbers. Thus far no remedy has been found to arrest the disease, and most experienced Veterinary surgeons are wholly at a loss to understand its character.

Despatches from Cabul via Calcutta state that a British force which was on its way from Ghuznee to Cherasia, for the purpose of acting as a convoy between Peswar Jugbuloch and Kotel were fiercely attacked by an Afghan mountaineering piquet. An irregular engagement ensued, and the assailants were finally beaten off. The Viceroy of India telegraphs that the gathering at Malden is not yet formidable.

The death is announced this morning of the Right Hon. William Edward Baxter, M. P., treasurer of the Cobden Club and Chairman of the Reform Club. He was born in Dundee, Scotland in 1825.

A startling and pleasing announcement has been made. It is that the Queen, instead of going to spend the summer at Balmoral or Osborne, as usual, will visit Ireland and remain there for some time. Lord Kinsman has received a gracious command from the Queen to prepare to receive her as his guest, and he is now refitting and arranging his mansion at Killarney for her Majesty's reception. The Queen is expected to make her entry into Ireland about the end of August. She will land at Kingstown, proceed to Dublin, and spend a few days there, having apartments at the Castle, and then go on to Killarney. The Queen has not visited Ireland for more than thirty years.

During the visit of the ex-Queen Isabella of Spain here she will not be received at Court, but the Prince of Wales has determined not to close his door in her face. The Royal Commissioners appointed to inquire into the agricultural question in Ireland are expected to arrive in Dublin tomorrow, and will at once commence their investigation.

CONDENSED DESPATCHES.

The hearing of a writ of error in the case of the Tichborne claimant is to take place to-day.

The Times says that the Home Rulers have instructed Parnell to request O'Donnell not to delay business by his resolution. They also resolved not to participate in the Bradlaugh debate, in order that the Irish business before the House may not be impeded.

The conference on Monday considered the frontier deemed most suitable by the Greeks. Without being able to give Greece quite as much coast line as she desires on the east and west, the conference may find it compatible with its instructions to satisfy Greek claims so far as they regard the centre of the peninsula.

The Irish-American Republican organization has issued an address and calls for a national convention to be held in August at Indianapolis to endorse the nominations of Garfield and Arthur.

In the Spanish Deputies, the Minister of Justice, replying to a question, said the law for the abolition of slavery in Cuba will be faithfully carried out. He believed fresh difficulties will be encountered by the Madrid conference relative to the position of the Jews in Morocco.

THE Rev. Principal Cairns, after addressing a large audience in New Glasgow yesterday forenoon, arrived here by the steamer last evening. Almost immediately after his arrival, he commenced his sermon in St. James' Church. Considering the age of the venerable Principal, and the long distance he had travelled, the discourse was a marvel of pulpit oratory; and the energy and eloquence of his style was equalled by the force and ability of his argument. Notwithstanding the short notice given of the sermon, the attendance was very large.
