Thanksgiving services and celebrations are over, and they leave us with an outlook on the future as well as with a grateful memory of the past. Once at a service of thanksgiving in Vancouver we met a friend who remarked, "My wife insists that whatever services we may miss, the Thanksgiving service may always find us in church." As a family they had abundant cause for thanksgiving and what was true of them is true of all Canada in this year of grace, 1951.

The Pilgrim Fathers were so grateful for the bountiful harvest with which the giver of all good and answered their first seed-sowing in the soil of America that they called their people together for special services of Thanksgiving and set apart Thanksgiving Day as an institution in recognition of God's goodness to His people. We Canadians stand in that great tradition, and never had Canada more reason for thanksgiving than this year. Our harvests surpass all our expectations. Abundance is the only word that describes the provision thus made for the needs of our people. When we hear of the numbers of people in other lands who never know what plenty means, we realize that we are a favoured nation.

Canada has other sources of wealth in addition to the products of her rich and fertile fields and gardens. This has been a year of prosperity in our industries and in commerce. Month after month we have heard reports of discoveries of mineral wealth undreamed of by our fathers. The development of these resources is calling for an increase in our manpower and opening doors of hope to thousands of the sorely afflicted people of other lands. According to the Scriptures, we are "stewards of the manifold grace of God," and it is our call to be "good stewards" and to hold our treasures in trust for those who need it. It is only insofar as we administer the

ALUMINUM IS FRIENDLY TO FOOD...

And hospitals know it well! In this gleaming hospital kitchen, aluminum cooking utensils do a double job. They meet the highest hygienic standards because aluminum is ideal in contact with food. And they cook hospital meals more quickly because aluminum heats so evenly. Millions of Canadian homemakers, too, protect the flavour and quality of everything they cook by using aluminum utensils.

Montreal, P.Q. August 6, 1951

Gentlemen:

We have recently opened a new extension to our hospital which included a new modern kitchen.

In finishing this new kitchen you will be pleased to know that we are not only able to transfer many of our aluminum utensils which have given us many years of service, but in selecting new equipment we purchased aluminum roasting pans, stock pots and sauce pans and have had special food handling trucks made to order from this metal because of its light weight and permanent finish.

We use aluminum in our bake shop and refrigeration in addition to its use in the actual cooking of foods. In our opinion aluminum is ideal for hospital cooking because it is easy to clean and very durable. There is no evidence that aluminum is in any way injurious to health.

Yours very truly,
