THOS. OWEN, Post Master General.
General Post Office, Oct. 25, 1852.

THE Rev. W. STEWART lately settled at Georgetown, having rented the very commodious dwelling-house formerly occupied by the Rev. Mr. PANTER, is desirous to have a select number of genteel lads to be instructed in the Classics and Mathematics.

As he expects his brother very soon to reside with him, who is competent to assist in teaching, he hopes that he may be able to do ample justice to Pupils entrusted to his care.

As he expects a Housekeeper, a member of his own family, who will take an interest in his affairs, he hopes that no attention will be wanting to render young lads boarding with him comfortable and happy.

Should persons at Charlottetown, desirous to have their sons instructed in the Classics, kindly patronize his undertaking, he hopes that he may be able to give ample satisfaction in the way of improvement.

Mr. Stewart will consider it his duty (should he succeed in getting a small number of pupils) to endeavour to advance their welfare, not only during School hours, but also in other leisure moments; by stimulating them to laudable exertion in their studies, by seasonably checking evil habits to which any of them might he addicted, also, both by precept and example, to recommend a life of virtue and piety as the best course to secure peace and comfort in this world; and happiness in that which is to come.

Terms will be moderate both for Boarding and Tuition; exceeding but very little, the amount usually paid in Academies, and Classic Seminaries.

Persons who might be disposed to send pupils, are requested to intimate their intention as soon as may be convenient.

Georgetown, Oct. 21, 1852.

Worcestershire Sauce.

IT is an old true saying that 'Good wine needs no bush,' the same remark applies to the Worcestershire Sauce, prepared by Lea and Perrins. It is only necessary for us to make this one observation—that, for flavour and piquancy, it exceeds all other Sauces that are now before the public, and has only to be tasted to be appreciated.

Perrins' Worcestershire Sauce is adapted for every variety of dish—from turtle to beef—from salmon to steaks—to all of which it gives a famous relish. I have great pleasure in recommending this excellent Sauce to Captains and Passengers for its capital flavour, and as the best accompaniment of its kind for any voyage.

The truth of the familiar adage, 'Appetite makes the best sauce,' which ought never to have dropped from the lips of a Frenchman, is boldly disputed by Messrs. Lea and Perrins, and not without justice, for since their invention the adage is inverted—the Sauce positively creating the appetite. The Worcestershire sauce has a peculiar gout of its own, full of richness, picquancy, excellent for digestion, and we should say unrivalled for promoting the appetite, and indispensable for the dining-room table.
