Naval Officer Leaves After Two Years Here

Barbour, R.N.E.O., who has been actively engaged in supervising the work done in refitting and converting former Naval minesweepers in the Maritime Provinces. Cmdr. Barbour has made a host of friends in this city and his departure is deeply regretted especially in Naval circles as he took a keen interest and a helping hand in all matters pertaining to seamanship. A native of Scotland, he trained for 12 years in the famed Scottish shipyards as a mechanical engineer. He was in the Far East, in Malaya, where he was in charge of the reclamation of the marsh lands. Since he came to this city he has worked tirelessly on the refitting of the two ships, Westmount and Malpeque, which were converted at Bruce Stewart's.
