A correspondent wishes to know if the Government intend granting a sum of money this year for County Exhibitions. We cannot enlighten him on this subject, as we are not in possession of the information ourselves. Perhaps some member of the Government will answer it for him: We think it proper that such exhibitions should be held every year, as they are calculated to do a great deal of good. The articles and stock exhibited last year, in this County, were a credit to the Island, and we have no doubt but that this year great improvements would be made.

Port Hill Debating Society.

On Wednesday evening, the 28th ult., Mr. Thomas Murphy delivered a very instructive and interesting Lecture at Port Hill, on the subject of "Skepticism." Notwithstanding the bad state of the roads, a very large and respectable assemblage favored the occasion with their presence. Mr. Murphy discoursed most beautifully for nearly two hours upon the demoralizing effects of skepticism, and the intellectual degradation arising from irreligious propensities. The peculiar importance of the subject, and the intelligent manner in which it was elucidated, had a strong tendency to inculcate a pure system of morality, to create a spirit of humility, fidelity and gentleness, and to remove all pride, arrogance and hypocrisy, which have their origin in the degrading principles of irreligion. Many allusions were made to the horrid atrocities perpetrated during the period when infidelity was invested with power, and also of the barbarous persecutions to which those who were governed by the dictates of Divine Revelation were subjected. The worthy lecturer brought his discourse to a close by showing the direful calamities that have arisen from not connecting religion with science, society and government. He strongly exhorted his hearers to devote a part of their attention to such a momentous subject, and to set themselves in opposition to all skeptical doctrines, to banish all immoral actions, to dispel every doubtful sentiment, and believe in the Christian Revelation, through which we are assured of "life and immortality" beyond the grave.—Com.

NOTICE!

IN consequence of the expected arrival of the two new English Pianos, advertised in another column, the Oratorio Concert will be given in St. Andrew's Hall, by kind permission of His Lordship the Bishop of Charlottetown, as it will save the risk of moving them to another Hall, the night of the Concert, 24th May. NEW PIANOS.

Made for the Climate! WILL ARRIVE BY THE AMPHION.

SHORTLY, two magnificent English pianos, Walnut cases, (same Pianos as the one used at Mrs. Stevenson's Academy of Music) will be on exhibition on arrival at the Saint Andrew's Hall, where (by the kind permission of His Lordship the Bishop of Charlottetown) Mrs. Stevenson's Musical Classes will be held. Mrs. Stevenson having consented to remain in Charlottetown, by the request of her pupils, she has concluded to open a cheap Evening School of Music, in class which cannot extend over a certain term, as the pianos will be sold. The terms of this class, taught on the above pianos, will be 10s. in class—three pianos. Lessons half an hour, three times a week. The term to include fifteen lessons.

N. B.—The following is an extract from the letter containing full particulars concerning the above pianos.

"LONDON, April 10.  "When you think that ERARD builds the same pianos at 70 and 75 guineas, according to the case, I think them dirt cheap—they are so because made in a place where wages are lower, and therefore the expense of making much less. Of course, I could go and buy pianos at £20 sterling, but they would be very much dearer than these in the end; being made of odds and ends, unseasoned wood; in fact, being instruments that will go to pieces in any climate in a few months, or at the most, a very few years."
