DUTY OF THE HOUR.

EVERY MAN OWES a duty to his country as well as to himself and to his family. There are, indeed, times at which the duty to country is superior to that of all other considerations. As the greater includes the less, so the welfare of the individuals in the country depends upon the welfare of the whole people. Consequently the interests of the country demand the generous service of individuals, and the kind of service is governed only by their various circumstances, talents and ability.

Now, let us apply these simple admitted truths to the case of Prince Edward Island at the present time. The interests of the Province have in recent years been neglected. Agriculture has not been encouraged, schools have not been improved, roads and bridges in many places, are out of repair; and all the while public expenditures are increasing and debt is increasing, while the balance of power, in politics, is in the hands of those who are open to the inducements of the whiskey bottle, money, and other more or less gross forms of bribery.

The path that this Province has been pursuing is the path which leads to financial bankruptcy and political ruin.

Now, if ever, the country demands the service of her best sons; now, if ever, her best sons are in duty bound to subordinate their individual interests to those of the Province at large; for if the course be not changed the Provincial ship must soon be a wreck upon the rocks of financial and political disaster.

We, therefore, hope that no further time will be lost, and that the present week will see good men and true nominated for election in every constituency.

As for the electorate, the duty of sending to the Legislature able and discreet men for business, regardless of every consideration except that of the country's good, is clear. At this juncture good men should, regardless of party, combine to defeat those who have laid their plans to win by means of deals, and whiskey, and money. "Corrupted freemen are the worst of slaves." Let such freemen no longer triumph in our Provincial elections.

The Moncton Times points out that the I. C. R. rate for a car of wood from Salsbury to Canaan, less than 20 miles, to Moncton, is practically the same as that received by Mr. Blair for hauling a car of grain from Montreal to St. John, a distance of 700 miles. Of course the people must pay, in one way or another, the loss in the long haul.

You have read of the cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and you should have perfect confidence in its merit. It will do you good.

A NEED - WILL IT BE SUPPLIED?

THE need of effective representation for Charlottetown has been felt in the past eight years. Repeatedly the interests of Charlottetown were over-riden in the Legislature, where its representatives sat and said nothing. This became so much a matter of remark that the Government's strongest supporters were outspoken in their protests. Mr. George E. Hughes, upon one occasion called attention, in a published letter, to a case of gross unfairness, in which citizens of Charlottetown were the victims. We quote Mr. Hughes' letter as follows:

"In an act to consolidate and amend the several acts incorporating the City of Charlottetown, assented to April 28, 1888, I find the City Council granted power to collect an income tax; also a commercial travellers tax. Now, sir, we find the Provincial Government have scooped both, in full. I would also notice the late tax on electric light and gas companies. These companies do business in Charlottetown only, and we are obliged by act of Parliament to permit them to erect posts and run lines in all parts of our city. We, in fact, put up with all the inconvenience, and the Government scoops the recompense in the shape of tax."

Everyone felt that this point was well taken by Mr. Hughes. And why was the wrong permitted? Simply because the city was not effectively represented in the Legislature.

THE RACE CRY.

In the course of a private letter to a friend in this city, a gentleman resident in Montreal writes:

"People here, which ever side they voted, feel it is a very serious thing that Quebec should combine in this way. If the French combine on all matters in this way, it will force the English Provinces to do it in the end,—and nothing could be worse. I don't care three straws for politics, but this race cry is a serious matter."

This is an expression of the feeling that has been roused by reason of the success of the Tarte tactics. Mr. Tarte has cause to be hark back and call off his pack; and he will need to be very careful in the future. In this connection the St. John Sun says: "The people of Canada have at least a right to ask of the ministers and of the government press to give over the cheap and frivolous hypocrisy of pretending to regret the race cry. Let them cease to cry that somebody in Ontario or somebody in New Brunswick is responsible for it. The persons who are responsible are those who have gained by it, and those who have been engaged in it from 1887 to the present day. The men of the Saskatchewan musket; the men who called for vengeance on the murderers of Riel; the men who issued the 'Why fight for England' manifesto in 1896; the men who have denounced Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Foster as fanatics and Orangemen—are the same who now blame the conservatives for raising the race cry. They are the guilty parties and are enjoying the proceeds of their crime."

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

ENGLAND'S great danger, according to Rev. C. W. Sheldon, is in the drinking habits of the people. He says that from the day he landed in Liverpool, all through his tour of Great Britain, the effects of the drink curse were apparent on every hand. And he adds: He wonders at the indifference with which these conditions are regarded, and adds,— "If England goes to destruction in the next century it will not be because of outside wars or dangers from other nations, but because she has drunk herself into destruction."

ACCORDING to a despatch from Berlin the Kaiser has just given further evidence of his regard for Baron von Kettler, who was assassinated in China, by inviting the Ambassador's widow to Germany, in order that he may express to her his keen sense not only of her husband's services, but also of the courage and gallantry which she herself displayed throughout the terrible siege of the legations. It is expected that the Kaiser, besides investing the widowed Baroness with the Order of Louise, of which the Empress is Grand Mistress, will offer her a pension, and create her a Countess in her own right. It is probable that the Baroness will also be offered the title of Lady-in-Waiting to the Empress. She is certain to be overwhelmed by Court, Government, society and the people, with tokens of kindly sympathy and regard.

In the course of an editorial reference to the retirement of Sir Charles Tupper, the Courant, of Hartford, Conn, says:—"Sir Charles was sitting in the Nova Scotia Legislative Assembly before most of the Canadians who voted last Wednesday were born. He was one of the promoters of the Charlottetown conference of 1864 which prepared the way for Canadian Confederation. He was a member of the first House of Commons at Ottawa. He has held half a dozen Ministerial portfolios, has served on nearly as many international commissions, has been High Commissioner in London, and (once) Prime Minister. Next to Sir John Macdonald, says a Montreal contemporary, 'he is Canada's greatest gift to the galaxy of Empire-builders whose dreams of forty and twenty years ago are becoming the accomplished facts of today.' This tribute from across the border is one from many. Here is another from the Rochester Post: "In the retirement of Sir Charles Tupper, the leader of the Conservatives of Canada, the political life of the Dominion will lose a commanding figure. His retirement should be attributed to his advanced age rather than to his defeat in the recent election. Were he a younger man he would seek election in another constituency, and would surely be returned to Parliament to continue the fight for the principles he has so long represented."
