Admit License Cancelled To Block Further Aid To Sect

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Premier Duplessis' counsel stunned the Supreme Court of Canada Thursday by acknowledging that Frank Roncarelli's liquor licence was cancelled to prevent him from acting as bondsman for Jehovah's Witnesses.

Lawyer L. Emery Beaulieu expressed his view during the fourth day of hearings into Mr. Roncarelli's appeal to the Supreme Court for $90,000 damages from Mr. Duplessis.

At one point during the argument, Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux asked whether it was Mr. Beaulieu's contention that the licence was cancelled to remove Mr. Roncarelli's power to give bail for Jehovah's Witnesses.

Mr. Beaulieu replied: "Yes."

The nine members of the Supreme Court made no direct comment on Mr. Beaulieu's reply which in effect confirmed the claims by Mr. Roncarelli's lawyers that the licence was cancelled because of his activities as bondsman.

However, there appeared no doubt Mr. Beaulieu's reply surprised the bench.

FIGHTS SEDITION

Mr. Beaulieu then went on to say Mr. Duplessis believed he was fighting a "seditious campaign" by Jehova's Witnesses when he agreed to the cancellation carried out by chairman Edouard Archambault of the Quebec Liquor Commission.

Mr. Roncarelli, who originally sued for $118,000, was awarded $8,123 by Quebec Superior Court but the Quebec Court of Appeal quashed this judgment.

Mr. Beaulieu argued Mr. Roncarelli's licence was cancelled to put an end to his activities as "official bondsman" for his coreligionists in the Jehovah's Witnesses sect who were arrested for distributing pamphlets without a city permit.

He said the pamphlets at the time were regarded as seditious and Mr. Roncarelli was regarded by Quebec authorities as "the mastermind of the whole campaign."

However, under questioning by some of the nine members on the Supreme Court bench, Mr. Beaulieu said Mr. Roncarelli was not prosecuted for sedition or for distributing the pamphlets himself.

CHARGES DISMISSED

The charges against the 393 witnesses for whom Mr. Roncarelli put up a total of $83,500 bail over a period of more than two years were either dismissed or withdrawn before the licence was cancelled in December, 1946.

Mr. Beaulieu argued that at the time Mr. Duplessis "was not fighting a religious sect but was fighting what was held by the jurisprudence of the Quebec courts to be a seditious campaign."

At another point, Mr. Justice Robert Taschereau observed: "It was more effective to cancel the licence (than to prosecute Mr. Roncarelli for alleged sedition)."

The hearing of the appeal is expected to be concluded today when Frank R. Scott and A. L. Stein, Mr. Roncarelli's lawyers, who made their plea earlier this week, are given time for rebuttal of Mr. Duplessis' lawyers.

Funeral Held Of Cardinal Stritch

CHICAGO (AP) — Thousands joined Tuesday in a final homage to Samuel Cardinal Stritch, who died last Tuesday in Rome.

They filled the 1,800 seats in Holy Name Cathedral for his funeral. Others stood outside in State Street. Many looked on from nearby roof tops.

Those in the church attended a solemn Pontifical Requiem Mass sung by Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States.

More than 300,000 persons walked past the cardinal's bier in the cathedral during a three-day wake.

The procession which bore his body from O'Hare Field to the cathedral Friday was witnessed by an estimated 250,000.
