

Lawyer Refuses To Reveal Mystery In Coffin Trial

QUEBEC (CP)—Lawyer Raymond (Bobby) Maher has drawn the cloak of professional secrecy about the mysterious death of a young man on a night trip to Wilbert Coffin camp at Wood Bottom Creek last week.

Mr. Maher said he met his client for the first time Aug. 27 in the courtroom. He had just found Coffin criminally responsible for the deaths of two of three Pennsylvania hunters shot that June in the Gaspé.

Mr. Maher admitted to the Quebec royal commission on the Coffin case he picked up a "package" at the camp.

Asked what was in it, he said he couldn't answer on the grounds that it would break the confidence of his client. Coffin had placed in him. Coffin was hanged Feb. 10, 1956, for the shooting of Richard James Lindbergh, Jr., youngest of the slain hunters.

The commission is enquiring into the preparation and presentation of evidence in the case, whether any was withheld or overlooked.

The murder witness in the triple slaying was never established.

A .32-40 calibre rifle Wilbert Coffin borrowed from a neighbor was never seen again.

Jacques Hebert, in his book 'Accuse les Assassins de Coffin', claims it was spilled away from Coffin's camp by Mr. Maher and later thrown in the St. Lawrence.

Mr. Maher gave details of several details which proved false as the defence sought to build a case while the trial unfolded in the Maclean of 1954.

Baby Black Market Business Said Resumed In Montreal

WASHINGTON (CP)—Theresa L. Heath, a New York police detective, said Tuesday once again the baby black market business is flourishing in Montreal where at one time she negotiated to purchase a baby for $3,000.

"Before I had time to complete this deal, a rival gang kidnaped the infant and offered me another for the same cash," she said.

"I sold a baby for $2,000," she told a U.S. Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency.

The subcommittee is collecting evidence in support of legislation to tighten laws against profiteering in unwanted babies.

Miss Heath said she has been involved in a number of baby black market investigations since 1953.

"One of the first investigations involved children born in Montreal and sold to couples in the New York area for prices ranging from $2,000 to $3,000 cash," she said.

"In many instances, the infant was less than a week old when it was brought to the United States. . . . For those

Prefabricated Home Builders May Form Organization

TORONTO (CP)—The first in a series of meetings that could lead to a national association of prefabricated house builders will take place in early October of this year, the president of the Canadian Prefab Association said Tuesday.

W. A. Kaye, president of W. A. Kaye Enterprises Ltd., Haliburton, Ont., and president of the association, whose members are mainly from Ontario and prefabricated house builders across Canada would work through the CPA until the new organization can be established.

Mr. Kaye had just returned from a 21-day tour of Britain, France, Spain and West Germany sponsored by the federal government. Twelve businessmen and a representative from the department of trade and commerce were on the tour, sponsored to see if a market exists in Europe for Canadian prefabricated housing.

Mr. Kaye found Spain and France had a need for housing and constituted a potential market more so than did West Germany and Britain.

Included in the group were: T. Henry Nakovich, general manager, L. M. Inc. Products Ltd., St. Paul, Que.; Robert Johansen, consulting architect, Les Industries Treco Inc., St. Romuald, Que.; Peter R. Francis, general manager, K-11 Component Homes Ltd., Lancaster, N.B.; Dieter K. Gebhart, executive assistant, M. F. Shehran Co. Ltd., Summerside, P.E.I.
