

Calmer U.S. Views Praised By Gromyko

By PETER JOHNSON
MOSCOW (Reuters) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is expected to gain increased support in international affairs and said Russia has gradually overcome insurmountable obstacles to Soviet-American co-operation if the U.S. wants it.

In a 35-minute speech in the Supreme Soviet here, Gromyko praised a burst of applause which he said: "If there were no operation and trust between the Soviet Union and the United States there would be peace."

He said a "restrained and sober approach" has gained the upper hand in Washington, even though the last two years brought relations into "extreme aggressiveness."

While Russia was not going to count on the paces of the calendar, in 1963, he said, a German peace treaty, if the West refused to sign, Russia would do so with a treaty with East Germany.

TITO APPLAUDED
Visiting Yugoslav President Josip Tito, who followed Gromyko to the podium, received a two-minute standing ovation after a 15-minute speech in which he said Premier Khrushchev "acted bravely" at a critical moment during the Cuban crisis.

Tito, on his first visit to Russia since 1958, said that on many international problems "coincide or are very close."

Tito said that Khrushchev's actions as a statesman were "bravely" in taking into account the interests of all humanity and showing the far-sightedness of real statesmen.

Tito made only a veiled reference to criticisms of Khrushchev's Cuban policy by Communist China and Albania. Both countries have dubbed Tito a "traitor to communism."

CITES OPPOSITION
Tito said there were "strange views" about Khrushchev's policy which were "dangerous" and said: "I think it is shortsightedness to consider these views as the basis of a situation of weakness."

On the same subject, Gromyko said that only those who have hidden from reality behind a wall of dogmatism and whose skulls are now mangle with the war cries of the most aggressive representatives of the imperialist camp, fail to realize the significance of the peaceful settlement of the Caribbean crisis.

He said agreement between Khrushchev and President Kennedy would bring the solution of international problems to which the fate of mankind depended.

RCMP carried out such investigations on behalf of private firms. Mr. Fleming said that as an example, it could be seen from files involved in defence contracts.

David Orlikow (NDP — Winnipeg North) said the government has a duty in state precisely what it considers to be illegal or subversive activity because the RCMP at present was making judgments at its own discretion.

Noting that persons with a Grade 10 education could qualify for the force, Mr. Orlikow said he questioned "the ability of a person with Grade 10 education to decide what is illegal or subversive."

Whatever people believed about the Communist party, it was legal in Canada, he pointed out.

He challenged Mr. Fleming's statement that only the letter had been received. "There has been a whole series of letters and phone calls," said Mr. Orlikow.

The Canadian Association of University Teachers has been trying without success for a year to discuss the subject with officials of the justice department, he said.

CIRCULATES QUESTIONS
The association also had circulated among its members a copy of a list of questions it had put to the department about the investigations.

The questions had not been answered by the department and the association now was considering a motion whereby its members would refuse to answer questions about the activities or opinions of their students.

Mr. Orlikow said he gained personal knowledge of RCMP activities in this field recently when his brother, a Winnipeg teacher, was questioned after taking a group of students to listen to a talk by the secretary of the Manitoba Communist party.

Fundamental Issues Face Commonwealth

By ROD CURRIE
LONDON (CP) — The Commonwealth, already strained by the expanding Common Market, the crisis in India and its own changing complexion, may in 1963 be tested as never before.

In 1962, the Commonwealth leaders will again be mainly preoccupied by the prospect of Britain entering the European Economic Community.

But as the year comes to an end other issues more fundamental to the spirit of Commonwealth brotherhood arise, out of the British entering the European Economic Community.

tion of Professional Technicians of Quebec Province submitted a brief urging extension of the existing federal - provincial agreement.

The brief said only in Ontario had attendance at technical and professional schools reached what appeared to be an ideal level—possibly because Ontario had obtained the lion's share of federal grants.

ONTARIO GETS MOST
The brief said Ontario had received $186,700,000 from the federal government compared with $15,600,000 for Quebec; $13,500,000 for Newfoundland; $2,100,000 for Prince Edward Island; $2,200,000 for Nova Scotia; $4,200,000 for New Brunswick; $3,700,000 for Manitoba; $7,600,000 for Saskatchewan; $29,600,000 for Alberta; $12,200,000 for British Columbia and $600,000 for the Yukon.

The brief said the principle under which grants were paid favored the rich rather than the poor.

Mr. Gerin-Lajoie voiced support for a proposal in the brief that the federal government be asked to bear the cost of a bilingual school for training teachers for institutes of technology. Canada now has no such school.

TOWN ON STILTS

LONDON (CP) — Housing authorities are planning a town on stilts on the British Marches just outside the capital. Because of River Thames flood danger, the houses will be one 12-foot high platforms. The town would accommodate 25,000 people and cost $60,000,000.
