Premier Jones' Holstein Bull Sells For $7,000

Abogweit Conservator, a Holstein bull owned by Premier J. Walter Jones sold Monday for $7,000, the highest price commanded at the National Holstein sale at Oakville, Ont.

The high priced animal was a year-old son of Abogweit Milady, the Premier's world champion cow. His sire was Brown's Master Ducky, grand champion at the Provincial Exhibition for the past two years and sold last fall for $2,700.

The Hamilton district Cattle Breeding Association, an organization of 1,900 farmers, purchased the young sire. They also bought Houchkome Inspiration from Mr. J. E. Houck, of Brantford, Ontario, for $4,000.

The granddaughter of Abogweit Milady brought $1,800, the top price for an open heifer. The heifer is a daughter of Abogweit Milford sold as a calf by the Premier several years ago for $6,000. The animal was owned by Mrs. Ann Meagher of Oakville and sold to Mr. Hugh Hallward of Hatley, Ontario.

Sixty-nine head of cattle brought a total of $72,075, to bring an average price of $1,044. The five male animals sold averaged $3,540.

S.D.U. Students To Training Camps

The regular spring exodus of university students to the different Army Corps Schools throughout the Dominion is now under way. Sixteen students from St. Dunstan's University have already departed or will do so in the near future for COYC summer training. Two of these are students, namely: 2nd Lieut. J. E. Ayers and 2nd Lieut. W. J. Ready, both this year's graduates, have been accepted as officers in the Active Force and are waiting posting to their respective corps schools. Jim Ayers will complete his practical training at the ROOC school in Montreal while Bill Ready proceeds to Shilo to join an artillery unit there.

Of the fourteen others, Jacques Coulombe and Raymond Delage have gone to Shilo, Man, for artillery, Wilbert Rooney and Desmond MacNeill to Picton, Ont., for RCA (AA), Cody Myers and Cyril MacDonald to Camp Borden for Army Service, Clair (Copey) Gallagher to Camp Borden for Armour, Frank Sigworth to Camp Borden for Infantry, Tommy Flynn, Emmett Francis and Melvin Martin to Montreal for Ordinance, and Leonce Gallant and Conrad Kennedy to Valcartier for Infantry. Aiden MacDonald, 3rd Year Armoured will go to Ipperwash, Ont. as an instructor for the summer.

The practical phase of training at the different corps schools will keep the boys busy for the next three months. On successful completion of the summer training the second year officer cadets will be qualified as Lieutenants in the Reserve Force or as 2nd Lieutenants in the A.F., while third year candidates will qualify as Captains in the Reserve or as Lieutenants in the Active Force. St. Dunstan's has had an excellent record in COYC training since the present system was set up in 1946. With only one exception all candidates have been successful in their practical training. At least five have joined the Active Force while the remainder have been commissioned in different parts of Canada.

Report Growing Conditions Good In Maritimes

OTTAWA, May 29 — (CP) — Growing conditions in the Maritimes have been favorable in the last two weeks, although frequent rains have delayed seeding in some areas, the Bureau of Statistics reported today. Seeding and planting are well under way with 70 to 75 per cent of the grain and potatoes in the ground, the bureau said in one of a series of telegraphic reports covering grain conditions throughout Canada.

Pastures are excellent and the prospects for the hay crop are above average. Early seeded grains are making excellent growth. Both tender tree and small fruits in the Annapolis Valley were adversely affected by frost last week but the damage to apple blossoms was moderate and the bloom has been fair to good.

DIGBY, N.S., May 29 — (CP) — A Grand Jury today returned a verdict of no bill in the manslaughter charge of Douglas C. Germaine of nearby Mount Pleasant, charged in connection with the highway death of Walter Amero in December.

Cambridge, England — (CP) — Police and garages were alerted to look for an invalid's wheelchair stolen outside a house here. The message from headquarters said "chair can travel 20 miles an hour and thief is believed heading for London."

Good Response At Local Blood Donors Clinic

Charlottetown almost achieved its objective of 500 during the two days of Blood Donor Clinics which concluded last night with 481 donors registered. This was considered to be a very good response in view of the downpour of rain which prevailed during most of the hours that the Clinics were in progress on both Monday and Tuesday.

Young Herman Deveaux who has just recently returned from Korea was one of the first donors on hand on Tuesday afternoon. A young man from Parkdale who was seriously wounded last fall while out duck-shooting came in to replace some of the seven pints of blood he received after the accident and which played such an important part in his recovery. Several other donors also reported that they were repaying a blood which had helped them or some member of their family on the road to recovery.

If the response to the urgent appeal for donors is as well supported in the Clinics to be held in the next two days at Morell, Montague, the R. C. A. F. Station and at Summerside, the Province should reach its objective of 1,000.

Opening Of Provincial Drama Festival Last Night

Mr. J. L. Robertson, complimented the finalists at the opening of the Provincial Drama Festival last evening in the Parkdale Hall on the superior type of plays they had chosen as compared with the vehicles used in previous festivals. Dealing very briefly with individual characterizations because of the lateness of the hour, he offered many suggestions for improving the productions, and stated he would leave the compliments to the friends of the performers to make.

Groups from York, Kelvin Grove and Hunter River presented their entries to a packed auditorium which responded readily to the entertainment provided. Under the distinguished patronage of Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. T. W. L. Prowse and Mayor B. Earle and Mrs. MacDonald, the opening of this year's Festival proved more popular than ever before.

Mrs. Harold Laird, Kelvin Grove, President of the P. E. I. Drama Festival Association, acted as chairman for the occasion and introduced Mr. Robertson who is adjudicating the finals of this Province for the second year in succession. At present he is Vice-President and Chairman of the Executive of the Theatre Arts Guild of Halifax, a member of the Nova Scotia Regional Drama Festival Committee, and Guild representative in the Nova Scotia Drama League.

During his adjudication, Mr. Robertson stressed the need of the actors feeling the emotions of the characters they were portraying, and suggested that line learning be a small part of preparation, and the major part of rehearsal be spent in developing character and business. He also suggested that tempo might be speeded up at times, especially when working to a climax.

Productions staged last evening were as follows: "High Window" by York Women's Institute, Emily Withrow — Isabel Swan; Stephen Craig — Dewar Swan; Judith Ware — Nella Richards; Walter Hodge — John Douglas, and Linda Norton — Evelyn Underhay. Director — Arthur Vesey, Script, Jean Duce and Background, Florence Lewis.

"Remarkable Baby" by Kelvin Grove W. T. Marie Parke Gilwilly — Ethel Callaghan; Lola Bradford — Mary Webster; George Gilwilly — John Picketts; Nellie — Marjorie MacMurdo; Adelaide Parke — George Yeo; Mrs. Luisa Gilwilly — Phyllis Paynter; Max Parke — Arnold Walker, and Leroy — Edgar Miller. Directors, Elsie Laird and Arnold Walker. Script, Etta Miller and Doris Caseley. Stage Assistant, Mrs. Crawford Picketts.

"The Valiant" by Hunter River W. J. Warden — Holt — Howard Christie; Father Daly — Frank Bagnall; James Dyke — Bennett Carr; Josephine Paris — Jenny Bernard; Dan — Reagh Bagnall, and Wilson, Earle Robertson. Director, Ruth Bagnall. Script, Margaret MacGuigan, and make-up, Dorothy Christie.

Four junior plays will be presented this evening and the final contests will be held tomorrow night when winners in the three classes will be announced.

Aids In Guardian Airlift Service

Mr. Elton Woodside, of Clinton, known to Maritimers as the "flying farmer", has added another good neighborly act to his credit since he started to fly in June, 1946, when he delivered the daily Guardian to the west Prince subscribers yesterday. The regular pilot, Paul Sharp having been called away for a few days, Mr. Woodside was called in to take over and a fine job he did of it too.

Flying conditions were poor for the flight yesterday but the farmer was as much at home at his new task as if he was following the team on his own farm. During the flight yesterday he was forced to land his plane at Mt. Pleasant for a short while until the weather cleared but this did not hinder him from getting to all the post offices before the couriers set out on their daily deliveries.

"This is fun," remarked Mr. Woodside as he hopped from one Post Office to the next dropping the bundles, "and to be sure a change from the daily routine of farm labours." He is assisted on these flights by Weldon Dignan of The Guardian staff.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., May 29 — (AP) — Laurence Schwab, 56, music, circus and theatrical producer, died today at hospital. He was stricken with a heart attack two days ago.

Government House Now Beautifully Redecorated

The inaugural reception by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. T. W. L. Prowse on Wednesday, June 13, will give the general public of this Province their first glimpse of the interior of Government House since its recent complete renovation and redecoration. Retaining the traditional dignity which is expected of the Lieutenant-Governor's home, the new decor brings also a warm atmosphere of hospitality which is felt as soon as one enters through the main door. This last is achieved by the deviating from old rules in decoration, and by the use of warm color schemes which have been especially chosen to fit the rooms in which they are used.

Mrs. T. W. L. Prowse and Mrs. L. E. Prowse undertook the tremendous job of selecting all materials and colors, and have brought to Government House an atmosphere which would have been most difficult for a professional decorator to achieve. All work was supervised by Mr. Walter Matheson, contractor, and this included many structural changes as well as the final redecoration. Walls and ceiling of the ballroom have been completely refinished, woodwork has all been repaired, and the huge kitchen divided into two. The former butler's pantry is now an up-to-date powder room for guests, and the old fashioned laundry at the rear of the kitchen has been remodelled.

Main Hall Decoration

The ballroom or main hall is finished in sparkling white with pastel turquoise walls, and this latter color is picked up in a darker shade in heavy portieres which frame the windows. In striking contrast are the rich ruby rugs which cover the hardwood floors, and stretch up the wide staircase to the halls above. The only pictures used here are new signed portraits of Their Majesties which were received early this year. The new light setting room uses mushroom rose and soft green as its predominating colors, and the fireplace wall is decorated in a large magnolia paper in various shades of the latter color. Other walls are covered in a green and white pinstripe pattern, and the mushroom rug, green and mushroom upholstery pieces, and mushroom drapes give a lived-in feeling to a room which could quite easily be formal and cold. His Honour's office also uses the odd wall method of decoration, and is finished in shades of rose and grey. Three walls are covered in plaid paper, and the other in a large leaf pattern. Very beautiful are the colors used in the small dining room, drapes for which are in a soft shade of apple green. This color is repeated in the leaves of the white yellowing wall, which are splashed with white roses. These startling colors form a perfect background for antique walnut furniture.

Old-World Touch

The drawing rooms on the left of the ballroom are decorated in heavy paper depicting what might easily be a scene from Dickens. In soft greens, browns, and touches of blue, the colors are brought out in the upholstery of many mahogany pieces which are placed on the beautiful carpets.

Heavy rose-fringed blue tapestry drapes in the large dining room have their colors repeated in the festoon wallpaper which might have been designed especially for use in this room.

The two kitchens repeat the soft green used in the main hall, and accent it with the use of natural wood, and touches of vivid scarlet.

The five bedrooms on the second floor each have their own remarkable individuality, and all have been treated with the same feeling of graciousness which pervades the main floor. One of the most striking of these has three dark green walls and a bright white, splashed with huge scarlet floral sprays. Scarlet was also chosen for the solid color rug.

One of the guest rooms, decorated with a whimsical old-world touch, has all pastel shades in the tiny nosegays which cover the walls. Lovely old furniture and soft green rug give the room a storybook quality.

One bathroom is in shades of blue and white, and the other is striking in its peach, black and white simplicity. Maids' quarters at the rear of the house have received their share of attention and yellow and blinding colors have been used throughout.

Stresses Value Of Tourist Trade To Farming Areas

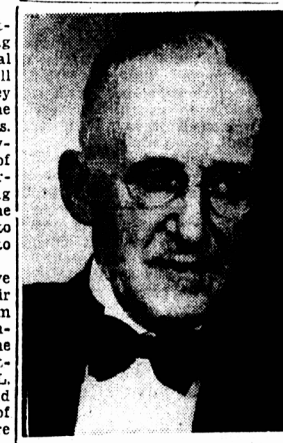

"The farm population of our neighbouring townships receive a handsome dividend each year from the extra provisions required to feed our increased summer population, and the large traffic of transient visitors within the Province," Hon. C. O. Baker, Minister of Agriculture stated yesterday. "The great bulk of these foodstuffs consumed by our visitors are home grown by market gardeners and dairy poultry and fruit farmers in the Province."

"It is an obvious but often neglected fact," Mr. Baker said "that the tourist business is everybody's business. Its benefits filter right back to the primary producer, and to the farmer, income and farm purchasing power."

Aside from the Province's normal food consumption, the volume of foodstuffs sold to visitors and tourists in our hotel dining rooms, restaurants, food stores, and along our highways, runs into a great deal of money during the height of the tourist season. Mr. Baker asserted.

"When you multiply the extra seasonal food purchases of all hotels, restaurants, resorts and catering establishments which are required to feed our transient guests, you are dealing in quantities of foodstuffs which have a marked effect on the prosperity of the local producers."

Tourist Service Week, which is observed this week, is a nationwide effort to highlight the importance of Canada's tourist trade, and to start the 1951 season off locally with a concerted effort for greater courtesy and service to our 1951 visitors," he explained.

Mr. J. L. Robertson

Egg and Poultry Marketing Report

The reduction in chick sales in 1950 which was 21% below the previous year has been reflected in decreased egg marketings since September, 1950. Mr. F. M. Nash, District Inspector, Poultry Products, said in his weekly Dominion Department of Agriculture Egg and Poultry Market Report. The commercial egg marketings through registered egg grading stations from August 1, 1950 to March 17, 1951 were 2,681,000 cases compared to 3,242,000 for the same period 1949-50. This is a decrease of 14%. Storage holdings in 1950 were 450,000 cases. It is estimated that holdings in 1951 will not exceed 250,000 cases. At the moment storage holdings are down approximately 50% as compared to last year. Decreased egg receipts as related above can be construed as the reason for present high prices being paid for eggs.

The next thing to look at is our probable late summer and fall production of eggs. It appears quite certain now there will be a 12 to 15% increase in chick production this year as compared to 1950 which means greater egg production this fall than last. Storage eggs were used last year in Canada from the latter part of July to November 1st to supplement fresh production. In other words, fresh egg production apparently did not meet domestic requirements until November 1st. It is difficult to estimate when fresh egg production will catch up with consumer needs this year but in view of heavier chick purchases this spring, it is reasonable to assume it will be soon after October 1st. Once we get into September and October, we should have more fresh egg production from this year's pullets in sufficient quantities to fulfill consumer requirements.

We do not think we should attempt any deductions from the aforementioned position except to make the general observation that it does appear that egg prices will remain quite firm until this coming September or October. After this date, prices will find their level relative to fresh egg production volume. It does appear that the year 1951-2 will be fairly remunerative for those engaged in the poultry industry.

Production of eggs in Prince Edward Island is declining. The demand for the product has slackened slightly and paying prices have been reduced temporarily at least by some two cents per dozen. When eggs around 70c basis A Large, buyers are cautious in their purchases and fluctuations in paying prices can be expected.

Operators of grading stations are quoting producers for ungraded eggs Grade A Large 53, Grade A Medium 51, Grade A Pullet or Small 42, Grade B 42, Grade C 31. Dealers are quoting for the graded pack f.o.b. Charlottetown Grade A Large 60, Grade A Medium 58, Grade A Pullet or Small 48, Grade B 49, Grade C 36, and quoting retailers for the same pack three to four cents per dozen more.

Eggs are retailing to consumers at Grade A Large in cartons 70-1, A Medium 68, A Pullet 63-5, Grade B (Loose) 58.
