HE WANTS TO BE POOR.

Millionaire Armour Transferring Money and Burdens to His Sons.

This is from the Chicago times:—P. D. Armour, the millionaire packer, who was labelled "One of Chicago's Trinity" by Wm. T. Stead, in his "If Christ Came to Chicago," strolled into a dining car on the St. Paul road the other day in his usual breezy and wholesome way. The train conductor came along and Mr. Armour handed over a commutation ticket to be punched. Though he has a desk full of annual passes he never travels on a pass, even on roads of which he is a director. The millionaire was bound for the home of his son, P. D. Jr., at Oconomowoc, where he spends what few hours he can spare from his business during the summer months. After he had given the waiter his order, Mr. Armour turned to chat with a friend. He is a great talker, and keeps at it all the time. "Yes," he said, "it I live a few years longer, as I hope to do, I shall die a comparatively poor man. To my two sons I am turning over my fortune as fast as they show ability to handle it. I don't tell you this for the purpose of talking about my money but to show you just where I stand. I want to see my money cared for while I am alive to direct the boys. I am doing now what Field and the others are waiting to do at their deaths. There can be no squabble over my estate in the Courts after I am gone, as the estate will be comparatively small. The two boys are shouldering it rapidly, and they are demonstrating their ability to care well for it."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
