Grant for human rights conference

The Student Union will host a conference on Human Rights this spring, if an expected government grant of $1600 comes through soon.

The funding would be from the Secretary of State, says VP Internal Howard Beattie, and would cover costs of travel for a speaker, publicity, a luncheon, conference materials, a report and evaluation.

Due to pressures of time, the four executive members of Council will appoint this organizer, it was decided at Council Sunday night.

The organizer will do just that — organize the conference. Any interested persons are asked to contact the Student Union office immediately.

Councillor Mary McCarville remains dubious of the chances of getting the grant immediately, though, having applied for one to establish a Women's Centre on campus last term.

"I've been waiting three months for mine, and they told me there'd be no problem," she warned Council.

Quibble over date

Council spent a full fifteen minutes arguing over the date of its next meeting at its February 3 meeting.

President Michelle Dorsey, who was not present, had suggested in absentio that the meeting be held February 24, the day before classes resume after mid-term break.

That was a problem with three out of the twenty Councillors, including Senator Randy Gass, who will be impeached if he misses one more meeting. He has missed three for the year.

Some Councillors didn't think special arrangements should be made for such a small proportion of the whole Council, and discussion was heated.

An eventual decision was made to hold the meeting on Tuesday, February 26 at 9 p.m.

Dear Bobby:

I am very confused, you see I took two classes at the same time and I need them both. I don't want to drop either of them and I can't go to both.

Confused

Dear Confused:

You must not give any more weight to one course over another, so skip both, and when confused, drink.

Dear Bobby:

I can not decide which of four assignments due this week to write. I know I can not do them all.

Indecisive

Dear Indecisive:

Dear Bobby:

Dear Drunk:

When drunk go to AA.

Bobby

Dear Bobby:

I can not seem to find any friends at UPEI. Is there any place I can go to meet people where I'm needed?

Dear Lonely:

Yes, you can find friends by getting involved in places like The Netted Gem or CIMN.

These places can always use more help, and skill is no requirement, so don't use that excuse.

If you want to get involved in these or any other groups, drop in to see them at their offices.

Bobby

Dear Bobby: is a weekly advice service for the students of UPEI. If you have any questions send them typed to The Netted Gem before noon on Monday.
