SCHMELING WHIPS LOUIS IN RING UPSET

DOWN THE BACK STRETCH

North Sydney will have horse racing on the King's Birthday, June 23rd, and on Dominion Day, July 1st. The Free-for-All will have as starters Calumet, Brownie 2.01 3-4, Dermot 2.04 1-2, Marjorie M. 2.07 3-4. There will be a 2.18 Class with Mrs. Worthy Douglas 2.16, Foxey Pete 2.13, Independence Girl 2.15 1-4 and Joe the Great 2.13 1-2 also a 2.27 Class.

George Mathieu of Campbellton, owner of the good pacer Peter Onward 2.13 3-4, winner of hi, only two starts last season, one at Woodstock where he took a record of 2:13 3-4, and the other at Halifax, plans on coming to Prince Edward Island and starting at Hart's O'Brien's races, A.erton, July 8th and continuing through the summer circuit. Peter Onward is by Captain Aubrey 2:07 1-4 and out of Alice the Great 2:18 1-4 by Peter the Great 2:07 1-4. He is therefore sired by a son of Peter the Great and out of a mare by Peter the Great, thus a highly inbred "Peter". This horse has manners, speed and is strictly high class. In its two starts he won by the straight heat route, pacing around his opposition so easily that he gave the impression that 2:10 was well within his reach.

He will be trained and campaigned by his namesake—Peter Conroy. Alice the Great 2:18 1-4 is still on the go in Charlottetown, giving useful service for her owner. Most everyone will remember when she was in the ownership of ex-Mayor P. S. Brown, who raced her several times and drove her a mile in training in 2:13 1-2 with the last half in 1.04, the last quarter in 31 seconds and the last eighth in 15 seconds. The late Mayor Brown thought highly of her chances as a brood mare and also talked of mating her with Captain Aubrey. Peter Onward will, I am confident, prove that my old friend was correct.

Chestnut Peter (3) 2.05 1-4, famous speed siring son of Peter the Great, that has 68 in the 2:10 list, nine of them 2.05 trotters, has been sold by Walnut Hill Farm, Lexington, to Cedar Hill stock farm in Indiana. The Chestnut Peters have plenty of speed but quite a number of them are erratic on the score and although he sired a great many high class horses still there are a large percentage that could not make the grade because of manners or unsoundness. He just did not fit in, in recent years to the Walnut Hill Farm conception of a high class progenitor. That Farm has a galaxy of young breeding sires that will impress themselves in no uncertain manner during the coming years. Two—Volomite 2.03 1-4 and Guy Abbey 2.06 1-4—are already famous, while Protector 1.59 1-2, High Noon 1.59 3-4 and Guy Day 2.04 1-4 are on the way to fame.

At the Reading, Penna. races June 6th, over the Exhibition half-mile track there was some splendid time made for so early in the season. Calumet Evelyn, world's champion four year old pacer converted to the trot, won the 2.18 class, best time 2.09. Vic Fleming, ex-Canadian driver, also won with D'On Hall, a four year old in 2.06 1-4, and the 2.24 pace with Junior Bars, another four year old, best time 2.11 1-4. The Three-Year-Old pace was won by Duke Hanover, best time 2.09.

A silver trophy by the famous silversmiths, Tiffany and Company, New York, has been donated to the former Grand Circuit reinsman, Thomas W. Murphy, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., for the Ladies Race at the Lexington harness meeting June 22nd to 27th.

The largest mid-summer meet held at Woodstock, N. B., in recent years will take place July 8th and 9th. $1,100. will be offered in prize money with a Free-or-All purse of $200., a 2.14 trot and pace, purse $200., 2.22 trot and pace, purse $150., 2.26 trot and pace, purse $150., 2.23 trot, purse $150. Seventeen horses are now in training at the track and quite a number more are expected from Fredericton and Maine for the initial speed venture of the season there.

The list of harness horses owned in Prince Edward Island which was published in this column a few weeks ago, applied to quite a few, and since then we have had requests to give a complete or near-complete list of Mar-time owned trotters and pacers. A friend of the writer's has gone to the trouble of compiling and looking up eligibilities, and the result of his work appears below. Cut them out and hang them in the stable for future reference.

The letter T or P after the name of the horse signifies that he is a trotter or pacer. The amount of money won is also shown after each horse, and the class he is eligible to. Some of the horses have only a few dollars to earn to change their eligibility. Under the new rules eligibilities remain the same as last year until the 2.20 class is reached and then there is a sharp cut from previous figures so as to make the horse graduate from one class to another more quickly.

Jacobs Plans Welterweight Title Bout

NEW YORK, June 19.—Mike Jacobs, promoter for the 20th Century Sporting Club, is negotiating for a world's welterweight title fight here in July between champion Barney Ricao and Pedro Montanez, Puerto Rican who has been cutting a wide swath through the lightweight ranks.

If arranged, the bout will be staged in one of the New York City parks, July 22 is the tentative date. Both fighters have agreed to terms, Jacobs said, the only hitch being that Montanez, who has been campaigning here as a lightweight, insists Ross shall agree to defend his title at 142 pounds. The welterweight limit is 147 pounds.

Jacobs already is signed to defend his title in Australia in September against Jack Carroll, Australian welter contender, and also is negotiating for a fight in Vancouver with an opponent not yet selected.

At The Golf Links Today

First round of the E. W. MacKinnon Match at Charlottetown Club will start this afternoon. MacKinnon trophy play is held in four stages. The second stage will be completed before July 4; the third before July 25, and the last before July 31.

Ladies Match
Miss Doris Prowse was leading when second step in the lady golfers' President's Tournament had been completed. She had 28 points. Just behind Mrs. E. W. MacKinnon, Mrs. C. MacGregor, Miss N. Longworth, Mrs. C. H. Beer, Miss M. Haazard.

The MacKinnon match is an 18 hole match play handicap, and is one of the feature matches of the season. The player winning the trophy two years, not necessarily in succession becomes the permanent possessor.

The cup was donated in 1931, and was won in that year by H. W. Weeks, the competition remained unfinished the following year, but since that time it has been won as follows: E. D. Nicholson 1933; C. W. MacKinnon 1934; and Pete Kelly in 1935. Every one of the above golfers has his eyes trained on another win this year, but there will be plenty of opposition offered by fellow club members.

School Teams Meet Today

West Kent School baseball team will be at home to the Summerside Academy team this afternoon at the Victoria Park when the Westerners play return games. In a double-header played at Summerside, last weekend the local school team lost the opener 10-8, but won the night-cap 9-7.

ROUND BY ROUND

ROUND ONE: They came out slowly and sparred in midring. Louis jabbed a left to the jaw while Max crouched and slowly retreated. Max clinched as Louis rushed into close quarters. He worked methodically and failed to counter after taking a light left to the cheek. Schmeling came off the ropes and took both hands to the head. Louis shot a right to the jaw and Max countered with a right to the body. Max hooked a left to the head and they exchanged light body blows before clinching along the ropes. Schmeling beat Louis to a body punch.

ROUND TWO: Schmeling still carrying his left shoulder high, swung and missed a hard left. Louis cuffed Max with both hands to the jaw. They sparred in midring as Joe fought methodically for an opening. Schmeling landed a hard right to the jaw after taking both hands to the head. Max ducked a right and Joe was wild with an uppercut. The German's straight left stopped Louis as the Bomber forced the pace at a fast-er clip. Joe jumped his left twice to the nose. The referee thought the going had soured and by mistake started the fighters for their corner. They were quickly to sparring but there was little action before the bell actually rang. It was Schmeling's round by a shade.

ROUND THREE: Both continued to be wary but Schmeling seized an opening to smash a hard right to the jaw. The punch jarred Louis and the negro rallied with his first real burst of fighting. Joe drove Max to the ropes, swinging both hands, but the German covered and soon was fencing again in the middle of the ring. Max gave ground steadily but blocked most of Joe's punches. Louis punched his left a dozen times to the head without a return and crossed with a hard right to the cheek. The negro was very much on the aggressive but finding Schmeling's defense difficult to penetrate. It was Louis' round on points.

ROUND FOUR: They came to the middle of the ring and repeated the sparring that had marked most of the bout thus far. Louis hooked a hard left to the head and Schmeling spat blood after absorbing a right uppercut. The German was fighting cautiously but missing a few opportunities to employ his right while also protecting his chin. Joe took a hard smash to the jaw without blinking but was staggered by a hard blow to the jaw. Louis was knocked down by a hard right and got up after a short count. They slugged at a furious pace and while the crowd stood and roared, the punch that put Louis down was a short right hand but there was no official count. It was Max's round.

ROUND FIVE: Schmeling came out with a rush and immediately fired his right hand to the negro's jaw. Joe was staggered by a vicious smash as they fought along the ropes. The Bomber backed and tried desperately to cover. Schmeling landed twice with straight rights to the head as the negro cowered desperately with his left. The Bomber was blinking and dazed but kept punching with both hands. Schmeling took a sharp right to the chin as Louis fought his way out of his own corner. Louis barely ducked a hard right hook and they fell into a clinch. Max fired his right hand twice as the bell rang and swung again at the negro. The punch barely connected but Louis claimed foul but it was denied. It was Schmeling's round.

ROUND SIX: Schmeling rushed from his corner and crossed a hard right to the head. They slugged again found the German with his right. The negro held on desperately but appeared to have no defense for Schmeling's right hand. The negro absorbed another smash to the cheek and backed to the ropes. Joe connected with a long right to the head as they maneuvered in midring. Louis appeared completely dazed as he punched aimlessly at close quarters along the ropes. Schmeling was playing a waiting game, looking for an opening, and generally connecting when he let his right hand go. Louis took a terrific overhand right to the side of the head as the bell rang. It was Schmeling's round by a wide margin.

ROUND SEVEN: Louis was still blinking his left eye as he came slowly out of his corner. Schmeling instead of rushing in, boxed carefully and waited for an opening. Louis dug two hard lefts to the body as Schmeling backed to the ropes. Joe picked off two of Max's right hands as he forced the German into a corner. Max crossed a hard right to the chin and complained after being hit on the belt line by Joe's left. The negro seemed to have more snap in his blows as he drove hard to the body at close range. Schmeling missed a right cross but ducked Joe's right swung harmlessly around his neck. They slugged with both fists along the ropes. Louis swung a hard left to the head and looked much better at the bell. It was the negro's round.

ROUND EIGHT: Joe looked a bit more confident as he came out of his corner, swung a left to the body and then exchanged long lefts to the head. Max fired a right hand to the head that jarred Joe again while the crowd let loose a terrific uproar. The negro cuffed the German about the head but Max kept his chin well guarded. Schmeling again connected with his right as he backed into a corner under Joe's two-fisted efforts. Joe ducked another right but punched back with both hands. Max's left eye was partly closed but the German otherwise appeared to be in good shape. Schmeling complained and winced in pain after he took another low left hook. This happened just before the bell and automatically gave Schmeling the round.

ROUND NINE: Joe blinked his left eye and tried to wipe away the fog that seemed to come over him again. Schmeling crossed his right hand effectively after a short sparring session in midring. The negro's left cheek was badly swollen from the punishment he had absorbed. Schmeling lashed his right again to the chin and then moved quickly out of range. Max was taking no chances of being unexpectedly bombed. The German rocked Louis with a beautiful right hand to the face and failed even to draw a counter punch. Louis worked his left spasmodically but there was no steam in his right hand as he tried hard to force Schmeling back. Joe was groggy at the bell. Schmeling's round.

ROUND TEN: Louis backed away as Schmeling came two-thirds of the way across the ring to force the fight. Joe's left landed inches below the waist line. Schmeling smashed a right to the head and forced Louis to the ropes with a two-fisted attack. At close range Louis took heavy punishment but twice countered with hard rights to the German's head. Max sparred for an opening and clinched after shooting his right to the chin. Schmeling grinned as he brushed aside Louis' uppercuts. After a sparring session in midring, Schmeling again shot his right to the head and rolled with Joe's counter punch. Joe walked slowly to his corner, his head down at the bell. It was Schmeling's round.

ROUND ELEVEN: Schmeling met the negro in midring but let Joe do the leading. Louis tried hard to find an opening in Max's crouching defense. The German laughed as he took a right to the head. Max was bobbing and weaving in a manner that had Joe befuddled. They clinched as Joe dug a right left to the ribs. Louis kept both hands working but took a brisk cuffing around the chin just before the bell. Schmeling's round.

ROUND TWELVE: Schmeling half circled the negro and crossed his right to the head without a return. Max lunged in again but took a terrific left to the ribs which he claimed was in full territory. Max backed off but the referee ordered them to continue. The German backed to the ropes under Joe's two-fisted attack but was unhurt and quickly had Louis on the ropes. The German battered Joe with smashing rights to the head and the negro was staggering. Louis went down in one corner from a right to the chin. The final punch barely connected but Louis went down in a heap shook his head, rolled over on one side and was counted out after two minutes, and 39 seconds of the round.

McQuaid Hurls One-hit Ball As Nats Win

Behind the one-hit pitching of "Lefty" McQuaid, the All-Stars blanked the Anchors in an Industrial League game at the Victoria Park last evening 4-0. By their win the All-Stars kept pace with the rampaging Tip Tops. The runs came in the second and sixth innings.

McQuaid was robbed of a shut out game by a hit from the bat of Henry Woodridge who came through with a double in the fifth frame. The All-Star pitcher was in rare form, however, and had 12 strike-outs allowing but one walk. The infielders backed up the south-paw's performance with an all-right display. Woodridge, on the opposing mound retired nine batters via the strike-out route, allowing four hits.

A large crowd of fans witnessed the game, evidence of the increasing interest being taken in a league that is producing a good brand of ball.

Tip Tops and All-Stars will range in a weekend fixture.

German Veteran Floors Negro In 12th For Count

Max Schmeling Brings An Abrupt, Unexpected Halt To Louis' Unbeaten Professional Career

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Writer)
(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, June 19.—Bruised, battered and bewildered for the first time in his professional career, 22-year-old Joe Louis crumpled tonight and was knocked out by the veteran who didn't have a chance, Max Schmeling of Germany.

There was dynamite and drama inside the roped arena under sombre black skies, while a crowd estimated at 63,000 looked on in alternate amazement and admiration, but Louis furnished neither as he toppled to the floor, a badly-whipped young negro, and was counted out in the 12th round of a 15-round match.

Cool Confidence

Fighting with cool confidence from start to finish, and firing a right-hand that seldom missed its target, Schmeling completely upset expectations, the predictions of just about 100 per cent of the ring-siders, and Louis.

The German veteran floored the negro for a short count in the fourth round, battered him unmercifully from there on and finished his spectacular victory near the end of the 12th.

Louis, his eyes blinking, his face swollen and his efforts futile, virtually collapsed in that final round after taking two terrific smashes to the head. Staggering along the ropes, he was caught by another long right, a punch that barely connected, and crumpled to the floor. The negro, shaking his head slowly, rolled to his side and heard the count of "ten" for the first time in his fight career.

Blasted to Defeat

The Brown Bomber, who had swept all before him in a meteoric two-year rise to the top of the fistie world, who had been compared to the prize ring's all-time greats and rated invincible among press-day fighters, was blasted to defeat in an upset that staggered the fight critics. Schmeling, 30-year-old veteran and one-time heavyweight champion, wasn't supposed to have a chance. They said he was "washed up" and no match for the dynamic young negro.

But the only explosion tonight was set off by the smashing power of the German's right hand that Schmeling gained a fistic triumph comparable to Jimmie Braddock's upset victory for the championship just a year ago over Max Baer.

Thus, as a consequence of the ring's two most startling form reversals in heavyweight annals, Schmeling won the right to fight Braddock for the title and to regain the throne. The German and the Jersey Irishman probably will fight in the Yankee Stadium this September.

Crowd Roars Acclaim

While the crowd roared and leaped to its collective feet, Louis had spun from the force of the blow and sank to the floor. On his brown face was a look of complete bewilderment.

They had told him this couldn't happen but it had, and he didn't know what to do about it. He was hurt and dazed but instead of taking the count that greater experience would have dictated, Joe leaped back to his feet and waded right back into more trouble.

There was no official count for this fourth round knockdown, but the fog was the beginning of the end. They said afterward that the Bomber had sprained the thumb of both hands, in the same round, but the fact was that the negro boy was so badly shocked he could not again completely regain either his poise or stride.

From the fourth to the 12th round, with a few exceptions, Louis was a mark for Schmeling's right and bereft himself of the power and punch that had carried him through an unbeaten professional career, until tonight.

Schmeling took no chances of having the tide turned against him. In a hurry, but obviously in complete command, Max bobbed and weaved, crouched and clinched between sudden, righthand wallops that jolted Joe to his heels.

Once, in the seventh, it looked as though the fog around the negro was clearing. He punched with more earnestness and effect, but faintly so to win the round, but Max took everything and his rival had without the slightest sign of folding up.
