NEW HOMES FOR THE ESKIMOS

OTTAWA — The Northern Affairs department is well into a program of low-rental housing for wage-earning Eskimos, particularly those employed on DEW radar line sites. These frame houses, fully equipped with the latest electrical appliances, have been erected for Eskimos at Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island. A recent survey showed that bad housing—igloos, tents and shacks—was largely responsible for the fact that 2 per cent of all Eskimos born are dead within a year, chiefly from respiratory ailments.

Among The

The world has waited a long time for the turnips to achieve an increased prestige and a well merited recognition of good taste in wearing apparel. In its new dress the turnip is protected from contamination by other turnips or other fruit and vegetables of greater or lesser degree. True the turnip in its new dress and this of course is true of well dressed females in general will be more expensive to support and little, if any more nourishing. But why count the cost in an age when the emphasis is on the form and apparel rather than on the content. In the latest creation (reportedly from Paris) the turnip is 5c a pound in the city store, a marked up grading from 1/2c or slightly better per pound which the honest grower receives. The moral of this is that fine feathers make fine birds and very expensive ones too.

ISLAND PLOUGHMAN
That Islanders are capable of excelling in many different walks of life was again demonstrated last week when a young ploughman from Cornwall placed third in Canadian competition and earned the right to represent Canada at the international ploughing match in Ireland next year. While match ploughing may not compete with world championship hockey or baseball in drama or excitement, nevertheless those who win have the same urge to excel as is the case with those who climb Mt. Everest, push back frontiers and are members of that very select group of people who are satisfied with nothing less than perfection.

MEMBERSHIP
While complete returns are not yet in those which have already been received at the Federation office prove conclusively that the new approach to membership in the organization has met with an excellent response on the part of Island farmers. Returns from Dairy plants so far indicate that membership should be more than double that of last year. This means two things, first an organization worthy of greater recognition and secondly one much better financed and capable of doing more effective work. However, this does not mean that there can be any relaxation in efforts for strengthening and developing much greater interest and support on the part of its members and those who are not yet supporters. The farmers of the province are to be congratulated on their response to the campaign for a stronger and better farm organization.

BUTTER PRODUCTION
During the week ending October 4, Prince Edward Island made almost 160,000 pounds of butter an increase of roughly 20,000 pounds over the same week last year. The volume of production and the farmers' income from livestock will depend largely upon how much feed he can produce or upon the capital which he can make available to buy feed.

CONTRADICTION
Between 1951 and 1957 an economic contradiction developed in the Dairy business. Milk prices went up and cow prices went down. In effect the farmer would have a better return from the dollar invested in a cow in 1957 and was the case in 1951. Cow prices tend to be higher in Ontario and the West than in the case in the Maritimes and Quebec. Ontario has the highest price cows and New Brunswick the lowest. During the months of June, July and August Dairy correspondents reported an average price for pure bred cows sold in Prince Edward Island of $191.00

Peace Hopes Run High In Lebanon

BEIRUT (AP)—Hopes of peace ran high Wednesday night in this little nation that has known little quiet for five months. With the formation of a coalition cabinet agreeable to warring Christian and Moslem factions, dissidents began tearing down their street barricades. Shops and businesses reopened, some for the first time since May when rebels opposed to former president Camille Chamoun launched their uprising.

U.S. Board Hikes Stock Margin Level

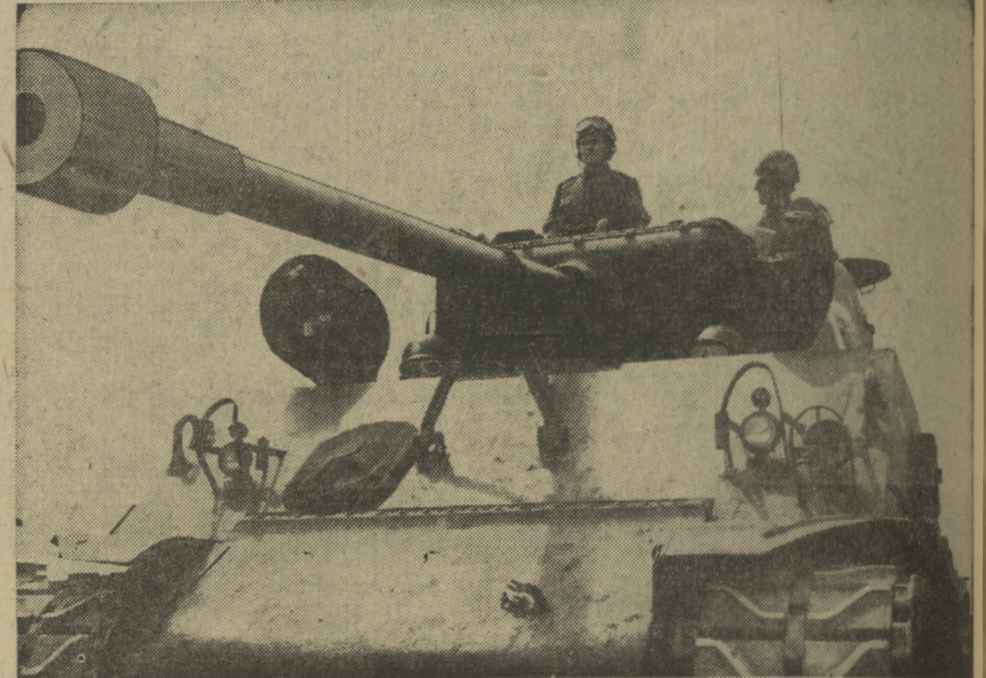

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board Wednesday ordered margin requirements on purchases of stocks raised to 90 per cent, effective today. This is the second increase in margin requirements since the U.S. economy began recovering from the recession. Margins were raised to 70 per cent from 50 Aug. 5.

means that purchasers of stocks can borrow the remaining 10 per cent of the market price of the securities they buy. They can borrow the remaining 10 per cent. Margins normally are raised to discourage expansion of credit in the stock market. Such credit was at a record high of $4,300,000,000 at the end of September. At the end of July, before the last boom which preceded the 1929 crash, the $4,300,000,000 is a record since loans were compiled for the first time during the 1930s.
