Burmah in a Bad Way.

(Rangoon Despatch to the London Daily News.)

The plot begins to thicken. Troubles which may soon lead to complications indirectly affecting British policy toward Upper Burmah are brewing. The outbreak of the Shan Tsaubwahs, or chiefs, was no mere flash in the pan, but was a determined, and, up to the present, successful attempt to throw off their yoke of allegiance to the Avan Monarch. In Mandalay the one topic of interest is the Shan outbreak, and the thinking energies of the King and his Ministers are directed to the means by which these turbulent and contumacious chief are to be subdued. Theebaw is firmly resolved to bring them once more into subjection, but the amount of success that will attend his endeavors is questionable, the Shans possessing an unbounded supply of the sinews of war, a commodity of which his supply is indeed very limited, and is likely to remain so as long as the British Government strictly forbid the importation of arms and ammunition into his territory. The Shans can now boast of a very respectable stand of arms, while the supply can be kept up through Siam, from which country very serviceable percussion markets can be purchased in any quantity at rates varying from 15 to 20 rupees each. The plunder taken from the Yan Mingyee consisted of 12 field pieces, 45 war elephants, and over 2,000 muskets, not to speak of those which the Burmese soldiers parted with in exchange for a few baskets of rice. If a struggle must ensue, it will be long and severe. The Shans will not will not willingly place their necks under the yoke again, but will fight for their newly won independence as long as they have any strength.

Milk and Butter Preservatives.

A high German authority in dairy matters, Dr. DeKleuze, of Munich, says that the preserving compounds so widely advertised are nearly always composed of varying proportions of bicarbonate of soda, sometimes mixed with common salt, boracic acid, borax, mixtures of borax with common salt, salicylic acid, and of late a mixture containing half of boracic acid and half of sulphate of potassium. Bicarbonate of soda has been in use a long time, and is still largely used. It acts by neuteriizing the lactic acid which is formed in the milk, but its action is not satisfactoay, as it is liable to give the milk a sopy taste. Salicylic acid is also unsatisfactory as well as expensive. Boracic acid is a powerful antiseptic, and preferable to borax.

For dairy use Dr. DeKleuze finds the above mentioned mixture of boracic acid and sulphate of potassium superior to all other preservatives and perfectly harmless as well as cheap. It can be obtained at any druggist. Sixty grains to a gallon of milk or a pound of butter is sufficient to prevent souring or rancidity.—Scientific American.

Stockings divided so as to separate each toe as a glove does the fingers are now being introduced, and an eminent medical authority recommends them, as they are likely to promote cleanliness, prevent troublesome soft corns, and abolish foot deformity.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION, and all diseases arising from youthful indiscretions are speedily and radically removed by that wonderful remedy known as Mack's Magnetic Medicine, an advertisement of which appears in another column. Sold in Charlottetown by Apothecaaies Hall Co. June 16, 2 wks., wky, 2i.

LORNE HIGHLAND WHISKY

ANALYTICAL SANITARY INSTITUTION

54, Holborn-viaduct, E C., London, Aug. 8, '79

REPORT on the LORNE HIGHLAND WHISKEY:

"We have visited the bottling stores of Greenlees Brothers, and have selected from the vats, samples of their Lorne Highland Whisky, and have subjected them to careful examination and analysis. The samples were very fragrant, mellow, and of pleasant flavor, and possessed all the characteristics of pure and well-matured Scotch Whisky of the first quality."
