SUNSHINE MISSION BAND

The monthly meeting of Sunshine Mission Band of Breadalbane United Church met at the home of Mrs. Angus Gillis on March 1st at 3 p.m. Devotions were led by Mrs. Gillis in the absence of the president, and call to worship was followed by Scripture reading, Mark 6:34-48 verses, by Velma. Lord's Prayer in unison and hymn 613 closed the devotions. Roll call was answered by 14 members and collection amounted to 71c. Members were reminded to have dues all in by the next meeting. Allan, Florence, Arlene and Velma had charge of devotions. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. H. Woodside. Meeting closed with Misspah Benediction, and a delicious treat of ice cream and cake, by Mrs. Gillis and Audrey, was very much enjoyed by all. A vote of thanks was extended to the hostess by Velma, seconded by Annie, for a most enjoyable afternoon.

Two Can Sing

by James M. Cain CHAPTER THREE Part Three

The next night, while she was packing for the trip back, she said we were going to the Adirondacks. "This is no place for the children, and neither is the city. They'll die if the heat keeps up." "Yes, they ought to be out of town. You going to take a cottage or what?" "No cottage. We'll stay at a hotel. We'll let Nils and Christine take a month off, and really have a good time." "And look out for the kids yourself?" "Sure; why not?"

I stayed home and learned two more roles. I got a letter from Doris, after she had been up there a week, saying Lorens was there, too. I gritted my teeth and hung on. She came home, and around the end of September Cecil went away. She was booked for a fall tour and wouldn't be back until November. I was surprised how I missed her and how the music wasn't much fun without her. Then, right after that, Doris went away again. She was to sing in Wilkes-Barre. That was a phony, of course, and all it amounted to was that she had friends there who belonged to some kind of tony breakfast club, and they had got her invited to sing there. The day after she left I got a telegram from Cecil, dated Rochester:

just a gag, anyway on my end of it. But this brought me face to face with it: Did I mean it enough to get up before people and sing, or not? I stood there looking at it, and then I thought, well, why not? I called the airport, found they had a plane leaving around noon, and made a reservation. Then I sent a wire to Doris telling her I had been called out of town on business, and another one to Cecil telling her I'd be there. She met me at the airport, kissed me, and bundled me into a car she had waiting. "It was sweet of you to come. My, but I'm glad to see you!" "Me too. But what happened? I didn't even know you had a tenor." "Oh, you have to have an assistant artist to give a little variety. So I let the music bureau sell me a tenor. He was to good. He was awful in Albany, and he got the bird last night in Buffalo, so when he turned up this morning with a cold I got terribly alarmed for his precious throat and sent him home. That's all!" "What's 'the bird'?" "Something you'll never forget, if you ever hear it." "Suppose they give me 'the bird'?" "I expected her to laugh and say something about my wonderful voice, and how they would never give me the bird. She didn't. She looked me all over, and said, "That I'll have to get somebody else." "Yeah!" "They can give you the bird." "Hey! Let's talk about some thing pleasant." "It's a tough racket." "Maybe I better go home." To be continued
