Ward Six

Councillor O'Neill blamed this lack of decision on the part of the Water Commissioners as one reason why capital expenditures were being "held up" by his street committee.

Another factor contributing to this delay the chairman of the street committee said was the government's failure to announce the route of the Trans-Canada Highway would take through the city.

Both the provincial and federal governments will have to make some decision and tell us who is going to pay, he added.

CAN ACCOMMODATE TCH

The street committee chairman pointed out that Elm Avenue was wide enough to accommodate the passage of TCH, but in order to provide parking the area between the curb and sidewalk would have to be paved.

Since there was considerable objection to removing the trees from this street, it would be necessary to pave around them, he said.

The Mayor suggested that Councillor O'Neill's committee take up the matter with the provincial government and determine what the TCH would cost the city "in dollars and cents."

Later by resolution Council approved construction of an additional 125 feet to the existing storm sewer on Grafton Street East, at an approximate cost of $1,000.

This would provide an additional catch-basin in this area where considerable "runoff" collects each spring, Councillor O'Neill noted.

Councillor O'Neill informed the Council that the Warren Paving Company intended to resurface Elm Avenue this year.

The Paving Company would run a twenty-foot strip from Euston Street to the City boundary, he noted, adding that this was one of the streets still under Company guarantee.

As all such warranties expire this year it was suggested by the Mayor that all streets coming under such guarantee be examined at once.

He appointed the City Recorder K. M. Martin, Engineer Messervy, and Councillor O'Neill to look after this matter.

Councillor Baker asked that any paving project contemplated for Elm Avenue be held up during the tourist season.

All patching work was now completed and the crews laid off the chairman of streets noted.

The new zoning regulations recommended by the Town Planning Committee and applicable only to Ward Six and a designated portion of Ward Five were tabled during the meeting by the senior city representative on the Committee, Councillor A. J. Haslam.

These were later incorporated into an amendment to the present zoning by-laws, read a first time, moved into committee, and left there for further study by Council.

QUEBEC (CP)—French-Canadian author Roger Lemelin said Tuesday night television has increased the influence of modern day writers. Mr. Lemelin told the annual conference of the Canadian Library Association that in the past many authors reached only a small intellectual section of the population. Television carried the works of today's authors to a far larger group.

Civic Union Takes Case To Gov't Body Today

The Civic Employees Union, Local 501, today will seek assistance from the Premier and the Department of Labour in an effort to arrive at a working agreement with the Charlottetown City Council.

John F. MacMillan, representative of the National Union of Public Employees in the Atlantic Provinces said last night "After discussing the interpretation and reasons given by City Recorder K. M. Martin regarding the delay in signing the agreement, we feel that this matter is of sufficient urgent importance to warrant it being considered at a top level meeting."

"We have therefore instructed our solicitor, Charles R. McQuaid to arrange a meeting with the Premier and Attorney General along with Labour officials of the Provincial Government today."

Continuing Mr. MacMillan said in reference to the wage agreement, "we were quite willing to forgo our demands for hours of work and wage rates until such time as the reasons for judgment in the Summerside case had been made known."

"However due to Mr. Martin's interpretation of seniority and union shop we cannot delay this matter further."

At the suggestion of the Mayor, Recorder Martin agreed to meet with the existing Council-Union committee and draft a new agreement that would preclude the possibility of infringing the interpretation expected from the Supreme Court.

The proposed agreement was tabled at the Council meeting by the chairman of the joint committee, Councillor F. G. O'Neill.

The annual meeting of the Provincial Auxiliary of the Protestant Orphanage was held in the Orphanage Thursday, June 19th. The President, Mrs. H. S. Henderson, presided over the meeting.

The reports presented showed a year of great achievement. The net receipts were $14,517.93, the highest in the history of the Auxiliary. A large amount of clothing and gifts of all kinds were forwarded to the children, while picnics and treats were happy features.

Mr. E. MacNutt expressed the sincere appreciation of the Trustee Board for the magnificent work carried on by the Auxiliary.

Fitting reference was made to the passing on of two true friends of the Children, Mrs. W. W. MacLaren, Georgetown and Mrs. Ed. Taylor, Sydney. They gave their time willingly and their work was always outstanding.

A highlight of the meeting was the very lovely musical entertainment presented by the Children under the direction of Mrs. Lea-Morgan.

A resolution of thanks for delicious luncheon was extended to the Matron, Mrs. Wright, to the Staff and to all assisting.

Opposition Has Objection To Thinning Ranks OTTAWA (CP)—Fresh opposition objections to stretching their thin Commons ranks even thinner between the Commons chamber and House committee meetings precipitated a lively 45-minute debate Thursday.

Works Minister Green, government House leader, called the four former Liberal cabinet ministers "these four horsemen of the apocalypse" who don't trust other Liberal MPs to staff committee meetings. The CCF members, he said, were "the professional whiners of the House."

J. W. Pickersgill, former Liberal immigration minister, accused the Progressive Conservatives of a failure of memory as to their position when in opposition. Frank Howard (CCF—Skeena) said Mr. Green had merely proven he had been "completely insincere" when he was in opposition.

All the name-calling grew out of debate on a motion by C. A. Cuthers (PC—York North), chair man of the banking and commerce committee, to empower the 50-member committee to meet while the Commons is in session and to reduce its stipulated quorum to 10 members from 15.

Eventually the big Conservative majority carried the motion on a vote of 169 to 52, after a debate that dredged up a lot of recent history.

Opposition leader Pearson, head of the 10-member Liberal group in the 265-seat Commons, said his party wants to be cooperative and constructive as possible and realizes that there may be occasions later requiring committees to meet when the Commons is sitting. But no such need has been shown yet.

Tables Letters Sent Premiers

OTTAWA (CP)—Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton has tabled in the Commons letters sent the provincial premiers last February with details of the government's $75,000,000 roads-to-resources program to be spread over five years.

The tabling was requested by William M. Benidickson (L—Kenora-Rainy River).

The government program was made public in February.

It offers each province $1,500,000 annually—or a total $7,500,000 in the five-year period—for building approved access roads to resources. The government's share of such roads would be 50 per cent.

Particular interest would be paid in the western provinces to roads serving ultimately as links for resources development in the north country.
