Three Day Workshop Opens In Ch'town For Island Nurses

A three-day workshop for those closely associated with nursing education opened yesterday morning at the Charlottetown Hospital Nurses' Residence.

Guided by Miss Glenna Rowsell, Canadian Nurses Association, Ottawa, director of the school improvement program, the conference is being attended by 23 delegates, representing the Charlottetown, Prince County, and Prince Edward Island Hospitals, the Health Centre in Summerside, and the department of health, Charlottetown.

The program for the workshop consists mainly of group discussions, open discussions, and lectures given by Miss Alma Reid, director, School of Nursing, McMaster University, Hamilton, Ont., who is consultant for the conference.

Purpose of the workshop, which is sponsored by the Canadian Nurses' Association, is "to consider some of the essential principles in developing objectives in basic nursing education programs".

The Charlottetown conference is one of several scheduled for different regions of Canada before January.

South Rustico Man Ordered To Trial On Rustling Charge

Charles William MacQuarrie, South Rustico, was committed for trial last night at the preliminary hearing on a charge of theft of a steer. Magistrate James B. Johnston presided.

The charge was laid as the result of a red Shorthorn steer missing from the property of Cyrus Earl MacNeill, Milton, being found on MacQuarrie's farm.

MacQuarrie was remanded until the next sitting of the Supreme Court for trial. Bail was set at $2,000 with two sureties of $1,000 each.

Alan K. Scales acted for the crown while John P. Nicholson was counsel for the defence.

Mr. Nicholson asked the court before proceedings got underway, if it were possible for the crown witnesses to wait outside the courtroom until they were called to testify. He said there was a chance that they would be influenced by the testimony heard. His request was granted.

Witnesses called for the Crown were Cpl. E. F. Elliot, Cnst. D. R. MacLeod and Cnst. J. Brooks all of the Charlottetown detachment RCMP, Cyrus MacNeill and Mrs. MacNeill.

Evidence given by the RCMP officers indicated that the steer in question, a red Shorthorn about 15 months old, had been in Mr. MacQuarrie's barn on the night of July 22, 1963. The animal was identified by the white markings — a flash along its front and three white dots under the left eye.

Cnst. MacLeod testified that he originally stopped MacQuarrie because he was driving a truck with only one headlight. He questioned the accused about cattle because he had been told that MacQuarrie was one of several men suspected in some instances of cattle theft.

STEER RETURNED

Mr. MacNeill said that the steer had been in his field on the evening of July 22, but was not there early the next morning. Later in the week MacQuarrie brought the animal back to him, he said.

Defence Counsel Nicholson felt that the RCMP officers had not given the accused fair warning that anything he said could be used as evidence and he said that althought the police did give the standard warning, it was usually too late and not in its entirety.

Magistrate Johnston said that in his opinion there was enough evidence against the accused to warrant his committal for trial.

Another charge against MacQuarrie of theft of cattle, a Shorthorn heifer from the farm of Irving Leard, North Winsloe, will go before a preliminary hearing Thursday at 7.30 p.m.

School Accommodation Is Taxed In Ch'town

A five per cent increase in the enrolment of students over last year has resulted in serious overcrowding in three schools, Charlottetown superintendent of schools, Dr. Kenneth Parker said yesterday.

He said 3,666 students enrolled yesterday in all city schools, an increase of 158 over last year. "As a result," he said, "Birchwood High School, St. Jean's Elementary and Spring Park School are seriously overcrowded and some re-organization of classes at all three schools will be necessary."

Enrolment in all city schools showed an increase over last year, with the exception of Queen Charlotte High School as many students who normally would attend this school will be going to the new regional high school facilities in the Provincial Vocational Institute.

Enrolment figures for city schools, with the 1962 figures in brackets are: Birchwood High School 765 (720), Queen Charlotte High School 588 (648), Rochford Square 390 (376), St. Jean's 800 (742), Prince Street 452 (410), West Kent 318 (310), and Spring Park 353 (302).

It is expected that 30 to 40 more children will enroll by the end of the month.

Cloudier And Cooler Weather Last Month

August 1963, while very much like August, 1962 from a meteorological point of view, was actually a colder and cloudier month all around.

Those who survived summer of 1962 vowed they'd never see a nastier August. But good old Prince Edward Island came through again.

It was colder this year, with the mean temperature set at 62.4 degrees, 1.4 degrees lower than last year's, and three degrees less than the all-time average for August, 65.4 degrees.

"The evening temperatures were unusually low this year," comments Warren Burns, Experimental Farm weather observer. Mr. Burns reports that there was ground frost on August 28, with the temperatures at 28 degrees.

And the sun shone even less in August '63 than in the same month in '62. This year it struggled out from behind the clouds for 197.9 hours. Last year it appeared in August for 199.6 hours. The long time average, reports Mr. Burns, is 229.9 hours.

There was slightly more rain in August '62 than this year — 5.94 inches as compared to 5.88 inches — but it darkened fewer days. Rain fell on 13 days then, but in this month just past, it dampened 17 days, eleven of them after August 18.

August ended, literally with a bang, as thunder and lightning hit Charlottetown. Rainfall on the 31st amounted to .95 inches. This was not a monthly record, however, as 1.18 inches fell on the 24th.
